

BELL 'PHONE IN FIGHT OVER LAW

Insists that 1911 Physical Connection Law Is Unconstitutional

JANESVILLE MAN COMPLAINS

Petitions that Local Line
Be Connected with Lines of Wisconsin Telephone Company

MADISON, Wis., April 29.—That the Wisconsin Telephone company regards as unconstitutional the 1911 Wisconsin law requiring physical connection of two telephone companies when a patron demands a connection with another line, is the stand taken by the Wisconsin company in its answer to a complaint filed with the state railroad commission by E. D. McGowan of Janesville. McGowan petitioned the commission for an order directing physical connection be made between the Rock County Telephone company and the Wisconsin Telephone company. The commission will hear the arguments sometime in June.

Call Law Illegal

In protesting against the investigation demanded in McGowan's petition, the Wisconsin Telephone company, by Miller, Mack & Fairchild, its attorneys, contends that McGowan has no authority to present such a petition and that the physical connection law conflicts with both the state and federal constitutions in that the order asked for would deny it equal protection of the laws and the right of trial by jury, and would deprive it of property without due process of law and without just compensation. The answer sets forth that the Wisconsin Telephone company's lines are operated in conjunction with the American Telephone and Telegraph company, engaged in interstate commerce, and that an order requiring physical connection with the Rock county lines will interfere with and disturb interstate commerce.

No Lack of Convenience

The company denies that the petition, McGowan, is unable readily and conveniently to use the toll lines of the Bell company at Janesville because of the lack of physical connection between the two telephone systems. It admits that it has refused to grant demands for such connection and that it has not made any arrangements therefor. It says that public convenience and necessity do not require it, that it cannot be readily made and would result, if made, in irreparable injury to the owners and users, and in "substantial detriment to the service furnished by both companies." Such connection, it adds, would not greatly extend the use of the telephone systems or of great advantage either to the community or subscribers, but that it would result in great advantage to the Rock County Telephone company at serious cost and detriment to the Wisconsin Telephone company.

HULL MARKET BILL ORDERED ENGROSSED

Speaker Predicts Saving of 25 Per Cent in Event Measure Becomes a Law

PASS THE MUNICIPAL BANK BILL

Measure to Let Superior and Milwaukee Have Own Banks Is Put Through

MADISON, Wis., April 29.—A saving to the consumer of from 25 to 30 per cent in the cost of market products is predicted by Speaker Hull in the event his direct marketing bill, which was ordered engrossed in the assembly last night, becomes law. No opposition arose when the bill came up for engrossment. By its provisions the names of consumers in the cities are to be filed with the state industrial commission, by whom they are sent to producers in the rural districts, direct marketing thus being established, and middlemen eliminated. The sum of $2,000 is appropriated to enable the industrial commission to carry out the provisions of the act.

Vetoed Bossard Bill

Governor McGowan vetoed Senator Bossard's bill authorizing any duly incorporated cemetery association to acquire ground by condemnation. The Rosa joint guardianship bill, which caused one of the stiffest fights in the assembly several weeks ago, and was reported into the senate by its judiciary committee for non-concurrence, was put over until May 8.

Under the spell of oratory by Don C. Hall, the actor-legislator, the assembly killed the bill empowering the industrial commission to censor and regulate moving picture shows.

A municipal national bank for cities of the first and second classes (Milwaukee and Superior only) is the end sought in a bill by Assemblyman Hinkel of Milwaukee, which was engrossed and then passed under suspension of the rules.

The senate refused to concur in the Frederick bill memorializing congress to negotiate an arbitration treaty with Great Britain; in the Sawyer bill making sixteen the maximum age at which persons may be committed to the industrial school; and in the McComb bill relating to prosecutions and punishment for embezzlement and larceny.

Revive Gannon Bill

Senator Bossard moved to reconsider the vote by which the senate indefinitely postponed the Gannon bill providing for a vice-mayor in commission-governed cities, and the bill was re-referred to the committee on state affairs.

The assembly concurred in a senate amendment to the Everett bill providing that the statute relating to property exempt from execution shall apply to persons contributing regularly to the support of dependents in a foreign country, and the bill now goes to the governor. Similar action was taken with the Holmes bill providing that foreign corporations shall file articles of incorporation with the secretary of state if they desire to hold real estate in Wisconsin, and with the Peavey bill creating the town of Kelly in Bayfield county. Both now go to the governor.

Bills Engrossed

Vint—Providing for the recall of members of any commission or board.

Whiteside—Appointing a special committee to investigate the state forest reserve and prohibiting further purchases of forest reserve lands until July 1, 1915.

Jenson—Providing that fines paid for violating game laws shall go to the counties where imposed.

Hinkel—Authorizing the city of Milwaukee to ratify and validate obligations before attempted to be incurred for child welfare supervisors.

Knee—Making adoption of the Dunn pocket ballot optional with election units.

Nye—Permitting printing for state institutions to be done in the city where located.

Estabrook—Requiring county board's consent for purchase of park lands in Milwaukee county.

Ringle—Increasing jurisdiction of Marathon county municipal court.

State affairs committee—Adding another clerk to adjutant general's office.

The following bills were killed:

Everett—Requiring delegates to national party conventions to abide by pre-election pledges and making the state stand the expense of sending them for state conventions.

ACTION BEGINS ON UNDERWOOD BILL

Cut Out Debate and Get Down to Business on the Tariff Measure

THE REPUBLICANS ARE HOPELESS

Go Through Motions of Fighting but Know that Democrats Are in the Saddle

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Deeds instead of words—legislative action in the place of "general debate"—was the tariff program in the house today. The bill was called up for consideration and amendment. The second reading was begun.

Underwood declared today that he contemplated no "sag" rule to choke off debate or to block proposed amendments. He said he would try out a policy of permitting the debate, limited to five minutes to each member on each paragraph to "run open." He intimated, however, that if dilatory tactics were adopted by the minority he would be forced to adopt some method to expedite passage of the administration measure.

Minority members frankly admitted today that in attempting to amend the bill they were merely "going through the motions." Underwood had to prevent amendment a resolution adopted by the democratic caucus, pledging all but a dozen democrats to defeat any amendment except such as may be proposed by the ways and means committee.

The opening tariff battle was scheduled on the first paragraph, making the measure effective on the day following its approval by President Wilson. Numerous amendments were proposed to this paragraph. The republicans proposed to postpone operation of the new tariff for months, upon the contention that business should have time to prepare itself for the drastic changes.

The fate of the Wilson-Underwood tariff bill will hinge on a conference arranged today by President Wilson. Thursday morning the president will meet in his office all of the southern and western senators, opposing the wool and sugar provisions of the bill.

At that time the objections which have been raised will be presented to the president by the senators.

Notice was served on the republicans of the house today that the democrats propose to dictate tariff revision and stand responsible for the results.

Majority Leader Underwood announced this ultimatum to the minority when the house began consideration of the Wilson-Underwood bill paragraph by paragraph.

"It is our business, we are responsible," said Underwood. "We do not propose to let you (the republicans) write this bill."

Underwood also explained for the first time that duties on raw manufacturing materials had either been left in the administration bill as in the present law, or raised because manufacturers are to be additionally taxed by the income tax.

tention; Sisson
Declines

L. H. Martin, president of the Martin Brothers company, Second and Main streets, was appointed fire and police commissioner by Mayor Ori J. Sorensen today to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of office of G. M. Woodward. Mr. Woodward has been a member of the fire and police commission since 1901 when he was appointed by Mayor Joseph Boschert to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Joseph Losey. Mr. Woodward declined to serve another term on the commission.

Mayor Sorensen announced today that the office was tendered Mr. Martin without his solicitation and was accepted. Mr. Martin is a well known and favorably known business man of the city, being interested in the Onalaska Woolen Mills, the State Bank of La Crosse and several other enterprises. He has been a resident of La Crosse for ten years coming here from Winona. When he came to this city he was a traveling salesman employed by a Dubuque clothing manufacturing house. He and a brother purchased the Mons Anderson clothing business and he has been engaged in active management of the company since that time.

Mr. Martin has never held public office before but he announced today that he will give the duties of his new office his undivided attention and will endeavor to serve the city to the best of his ability.

The office of fire and police commissioner was offered to Frank Sisson by Mayor Sorensen last week but Mr. Sisson declined to serve because of business reasons.

BRYAN FAILS TO ALTER DECISION

California Solons Are Unmoved by Speech of the Secretary of State

WILL PASS ALIEN LAND LAW

Believed Sure Commoner
Will Fail in His Mission to Pacific Coast

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 29.—There are many indications that Secretary of State W. J. Bryan will fail in the mission on which he was sent here by President Wilson.

Leaders of the California senate and assembly today declared that, so far, there had been no developments which would cause them to change their earlier opinions regarding the necessity of passing an anti-alien land owning bill. While Bryan may succeed in amending the wording of the pending bill, its intent to exclude the Japanese will probably remain unchanged.

Talk in vain.

Senator Newton Thompson, progressive leader and author of a drastic bill proposed as a substitute for the pending measure, said today: "Nothing Secretary Bryan has said changed the situation in my view, or in the view of other members of the legislature with whom I have talked. I believe the exclusion bill will be passed."

Assemblyman L. D. Bohnett, progressive leader of the lower house, took the same view.

Wilson Frames Answer

WASHINGTON, April 29.—From 7 until 10 o'clock this morning, President Wilson and John Bassett Moore, counselor of the state department, who is acting secretary of state, conferred over the California-Japanese situation. Two lengthy telegrams had been received during the night from Secretary of State Bryan at Sacramento, setting forth in great detail the exact situation as he had found it, and these were considered by the president and acting Secretary Moore. The latter is an expert on international law and he advised the president in framing the answer which was sent by telegram to Bryan.

The contents of his telegram were withheld by the president. It is understood that it answered every objection which was raised by the California legislators in their conference with the secretary of state yesterday. The telegram also explained just what will be a violation of the existing treaty with Japan.

WILL NOT CONFLICT WITH STATE LAWS

Federal Income Tax and State Income Taxes to Be in Harmony

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Adoption by Colorado of a state income tax and income tax laws of several other states will not conflict with the federal statute proposed in the Wilson-Underwood bill. This was the opinion expressed today by Representative Hull of Tennessee who drew the provision in the pending tariff bill.

"All of the states are at liberty to adopt income tax laws without interfering with the federal law," said Hull. "Several already have such laws. They might be construed, with the federal law, as 'double taxation,' but it is not a question of double taxation. The legal question is whether the taxes are just or not."

"The government has a liquor tax law—the internal revenue statute. The states also have liquor revenue laws, up and down the line, such as excise taxes, state and county and city retail and wholesale licenses, all of which do not conflict with the federal law."

Hull said that states which now have or have had income laws include Wisconsin, North Carolina, West Virginia, Massachusetts and Oklahoma.

BOYCOTT STORY ROUSES FURSTMAN

Health Commissioner Denies that He Is "Perniciously Active" Against Milk Dealers

DEALERS SIGN AGREEMENTS

Says Majority of Dairymen Co-operate with Department in the Crusade Against Disease

Vigorous denial that he is "perniciously active" against the milk dealers of the county was made by Dr. J. M. Furstman, health commissioner of La Crosse, in answer to a complaint said to have been made by a prominent dairymen of French Island yesterday. Dr. Furstman's ire was aroused by a story that the milk dealers of the county were quietly organizing and planning to boycott the city because of his "pernicious activity."

"In the first place, I want to announce," said Dr. Furstman, "that the health department has never assumed an arbitrary attitude toward any milk dealer and we have asked nothing from them that we have not had the right to ask. In every case we have been as lenient as is possible and safeguard the public health. We have given every milk dealer in the county ample time to clean up and in nearly every instance we have secured the promise that where necessary the cleanup would follow immediately."

Sign Agreement

"When a milkman applies for a license to sell milk and cream in the city of La Crosse he is required to sign an agreement to obey the state law and city ordinances and to submit to the regulation of the health department. If he fails to carry out his agreement his license may be forfeited by his own agreement. Every milkman selling milk or cream in the city has signed this agreement." Dr. Furstman scouted the possibility of a boycott against the city asserting that the milkmen selling milk in La Crosse are getting a better price for their product than almost any city or town in the state. "They retail milk at seven cents a quart," he said, "and if they sell it to the creameries they will get about twelve cents a gallon. They will think this over before declaring war against the city. Besides the supply of milk is much larger than the retail demand and many of the dealers are using the surplus for feeding purposes."

"I would like to know what they want me to do? Shall I submit to the demand to allow them to keep their barns and cows in insanitary condition, or shall I try to conserve the health and lives of the children of this city? I consider the life of one baby worth more than the profit on all the milk sold in the county."

Co-operate With Department

Dr. Furstman hastened to add that a majority of the dairymen of the county operate clean dairies and do everything in their power to aid the department in its work. "I have found but very few kickers," he said. "In nearly every instance they have been more than willing to help us. They realize that the benefit is just as much for them as the consumer. I do not believe the proposed boycott would find much support among the milk dealers."

The following agreement signed by dairymen selling milk or cream in the city was given out by Dr. Furstman together with the statement that it is his belief that the citizens of this city expect him to see that it is carried out:

Application of for a certificate to sell milk and cream in the city of La Crosse.

I hereby make application for a license to sell milk and cream in the city of La Crosse, subject to the ordinance or ordinances of the city of La Crosse and subject to such rules and regulations as may be prescribed.

I agree to observe strictly the provisions of any ordinance or ordinances of the said city relating to the sale of milk and cream, and particularly as follows:

I agree to sell milk from tuberculin tested cattle only.

I agree that my cows shall be milked in the cleanest possible manner and that their flanks and udders shall be washed before milking.

I agree to remove the milk from stables immediately after milking for the purpose of straining and cooling.

I agree to so arrange my stables that they may be well lighted, ventilated and drained and the floors kept clean, allowing no manure to accumulate thereon or be piled up against the stables on the outside.

I agree to notify the health officer in case of any contagion in my household.

I have read the above rules and agree to the provisions thereof and also agree that my certificate for the sale of milk and cream may be revoked by the health officer at any time for non-compliance with the same.

May Embroil All Europe in

VIENNA, April 29.—Following a two-hour conference with Emperor Francis Joseph tonight Count Von Berchtold, Austria-Hungarian foreign minister stated semi-officially that Austria-Hungary would deliver a twenty-four hour ultimatum to Montenegro early tomorrow morning. King Nicholas will be commanded to remove his troops from Scutari and give up within one day. If the Montenegrins have not evacuated by Thursday morning, Austria-Hungary will immediately begin moving troops across the frontier and formally declare a state of war between the dual monarchy and the littlest kingdom.

LONDON, April 29.—At the urgent request of Sir Edward Grey, British secretary of state for foreign affairs, the ambassadors assembled hurriedly at the foreign office this afternoon after having adjourned until Thursday. Their unscheduled meeting was caused by Austria-Hungary's formal announcement today that she would proceed singly against Montenegro and force that nation to obey the will of the powers and give up Scutari.

It was said that Italy has made a strong protest in Vienna against Austria-Hungary acting alone against King Nicholas, and that the Italian foreign office was making a strong effort to persuade Montenegro to give up Scutari peaceably.

BERLIN, April 29.—The National Gazette, in an evidently inspired editorial this afternoon urges Austria-Hungary to march simultaneously upon Belgrade and Scutari. From a semi-official source it was learned that Germany approves the course taken by Austria-Hungary and the kaiser does not believe that Russia will interfere.

LONDON, April 29.—Austria-Hungary, unwilling to wait further for the powers to act, today formally announced immediate independent action against Montenegro to force the evacuation of Scutari, according to a dispatch this afternoon to the Daily Mail, from its Vienna correspondent.

Gravity is Admitted

VIENNA, April 29.—No effort was made today to disguise the gravity of the war situation. Shares dropped several points on the bourse and there was little or no trading. The aged emperor, Francis Joseph, was in almost constant consultation with his ministers, with generals and with the Grand Duke Franz Ferdinand, heir to the dual throne. Soldiers were moving everywhere throughout the monarchy and business is sadly crippled.

The optimists still hope that Austria-Hungary will not get into actual conflict with Montenegro, but the emperor, who always has stood for peace, now says that war seems likely and asserts that Europe has forced war upon him. That the government is making preparations for real war cannot be doubted, and the movements of the Montenegrins give no backing to the hope that they will peacefully evacuate Scutari.

Daniilo Defiant

Reports from the Balkans are most alarming. When Crown Prince Daniilo and his men marched out of Scutari, it was thought by some this indicated that King Nicholas was getting ready to submit to the powers, but today it was apparent that troops were marching to the heights surrounding Cetinje. They will soon be within striking distance of Antivari, where the Austrians will land, if they decide to invade Montenegro. The troops also will be in a position to bombard Cattaro, an Austrian city and dispatches said that King Nicholas declared he would bombard the town immediately if Austria-Hungarian troops set foot on the soil of his country.

While the Viennese "jingo" have no doubt of their country's ability easily to vanquish Montenegro, there is grave uneasiness because of the likelihood that the conflict almost in-

DENIES BOARD THE RIGHT TO FIX FARE

Milwaukee Street Car Company Fights Power of the Railroad Commission in Supreme Court

MADISON, Wis., April 29.—(Special.)—Before the supreme court today the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company by its attorneys challenged the power of the state to regulate its rates of fare. The attorney general's office denied that the state has lost its power so to do. The question presented in this case is one of vast public importance, involving as it does a consideration of the alleged contractual relations of street car companies and the cities they serve.

The state was represented before the court by Deputy Attorney General Walter Drew, and the company by Miller, Mack & Fairchild of Milwaukee and Sullivan & Cromwell of New York.

Under its franchise ordinance the company has been giving six tickets for 25 cents. The state railroad commission, acting under a law of 1905 and amendments, ordered it to reduce the rates by giving thirteen tickets for 50 cents, after making an exhaustive investigation into the reasonableness of the rate. The company told the court today that its franchise ordinance is irrevocable and irrevocable, that the ordinance provisions with respect to rates of fare constitute contracts, "inviolable as against legislative impairment under provisions of state and federal constitutions, fixing the rates of fare which the company may lawfully charge." It therefore denied that either the commission or the state has authority to step in and order reduced fares. Such action, it is said, would amount to a taking of property contrary to the constitutional rules.

The Real Secret of Rejuvenating the Face

(From The Clubwoman.)

She holds the true secret of facial rejuvenation who has learned how to remove the dead skin particles as fast as they appear. It's a secret anyone may possess. The aged, faded or discolored surface skin may be gradually absorbed, in an entirely safe and rational manner, by the nightly application of ordinary mercurized wax. Within a week or two the underlying skin, youthful and beautiful to behold, has taken the place of the discarded cuticle. So little of the old skin is absorbed each day there's no inconvenience at all, and no one suspects you are putting anything on your face. The mercurized wax, procurable at any drug store (an ounce is sufficient), is supplied like cold cream. In the morning it is erased with soap and water. It's the best thing known for freckles, blackheads, pimples, moth patches, liver spots and fine surface wrinkles.

For the deeper wrinkles an excellent recipe is: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½ pt. witch hazel. Bathing the face in the solution produces quick and wonderful results.

Konop has been backing Gustave Keller, chairman of the county committee and national treasurer of the Catholic Order of Foresters. All Boyle would give out is that the appointment rests with the postmaster general, but it is believed he was assured of the office while at Madison. Boyle is a member of the state central committee.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, then left to age and carefully filtered will turn gray, streaked and faded their beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching, and falling hair.

Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss. Some druggists make their own, but it isn't nearly so nice as "Wyeth's." While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur no one can tell, because it does it so naturally; so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Do this tonight and by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, after another application or two it will be restored to its natural color and be even more glossy, soft and luxuriant than ever.

Local druggists say they are selling lots of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur." It surely helps folks appear years younger. O. T. Erhart, agent.

DENIES Y. W. C. A. TOO HIGH-PRICED

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 29.—Denial that Y. W. C. A. rates are prohibitive and that proper attention is not given to lone girls in great cities was made today by Miss Lucia Brader, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., commenting on a criticism of the association made by Miss Virginia Brooks, West Hamond reformer, in a serial article in a Chicago newspaper.

"It is true," said Miss Brader, "that we have rooms for transient guests costing from $1.50 to $2 a day, but it is also true that we have rooms as low as fifty cents, and if a penniless girl needs a room she gets it for nothing."

PROPOSES NATIONAL INHERITANCE TAX

The United States is trying to catch up to Wisconsin. Following up the income tax bill proposed by the democrats, Senator Wesley L. Jones of Washington has offered in the senate a bill to tax inheritances.

Senator Jones' bill provides for a graduate inheritance tax on all estates save that bequeaths to the immediate family of the testator are to be exempt to the amount of $25,000 and are to have the benefit of a lower rate. Senator Jones' schedule of rates provides for a tax of one per cent for estates under $5,000, two per cent from $5,000 to $50,000, five per cent from $50,000 to $250,000, 10 per cent from $250,000, and so on up to the assessment of 40 per cent on estates from $7,000,000 to $15,000,000 and 50 per cent on estates in excess of the latter amount.

Senator Jones' theory is identical with the idea which has been pursued in the proposed exemption from tax of all incomes under $4,000; namely, that the moderately well-to-do and the wealthy are able to pay and therefore they should be made to pay an additional share of the cost of government. It is a theory which has been put into practice in Canada in regard to the inheritance tax and used to a certain extent in Great Britain and European nations in the income tax, although the exemption in the countries across the seas applies to incomes very much below the amount of $4,000 which is proposed for this country.

One feature of the Jones proposal may strike a popular chord; it would be a potent factor in the prevention of the continuation and growth of large fortunes such as are held by the Astor estate, J. P. Morgan, Rockefeller and others of the type. Many thinking people regard the perpetuation of these tremendous incomes with the added increment which will come with years as a real menace. To them the Jones' idea may appeal as a remedy.

FINE SUMMARY OF NEWS FOR WOMEN

Under the heading, "In The World of Women," The Tribune is publishing daily items of news of peculiar interest to women, each week's aggregate constituting a summary of that class of news. Especially is this news service made a feature in the Church Page each Saturday. The substantial happenings in Woman's realm are treated, and the doings of women who are leaders in thought and action are chronicled. The Tribune selected this service in the belief that it is the most practical to be had in that it enables the busy women to follow the things that concern her sex with a minimum expenditure of time. We believe that any woman who will spend the fifteen minutes a week required to read this feature can keep herself well informed along this line.

RIGHTLY SPANKED FOR HIS JINGO SPEECH

That not a member of the national house of representatives cheered the speech in which Representative Sisson of Mississippi talked loosely of war with Japan is a fine testimonial to the fitness of the congressman.

Sisson made a speech that was indeed untimely, a cheap jingoism calculated to stir up feeling in Japan, and without the slightest compensation in the way of desirable effect. To say that we must stand upon our rights against Japan is not to tell an untruth, but it is to put a chip on the shoulder of the nation. We are not inviting war. Japan has made no threat against us. That nation has merely protested against state legislation which she deems prejudicial to her interests. That a government official answered Japan's civil objection with loud and belligerent talk of war is a disgrace. The brood of folly has a brilliant member in Mr. Sisson, and should a contest at arms result from the present controversy the innocent bystander may justly regard the Mississippi as a piece of contributory negligence. His associates squelched him, so should the entire American people.

FRIEDMAN MERCENARY EVEN IF GREAT

Dr. Friedman has fully established the mercenary character of the propaganda he is employing to place his tuberculosis treatment before the public. He has sold it to a syndicate.

True, the doctor says he has made sure that the treatment shall be given free to the poverty stricken. Further, it must be admitted that in order to bring it swiftly within reach of sufferers in all parts of the nation, the treatment had to be capitalized for the building of institutes and their equipment. But the thing that shows the doctor's hand is the fact that he takes $125,000 in cash and $1,800,000 in stock in the syndicate.

Discoverers of vaccination for smallpox and anti-toxin for diphtheria and typhoid were not so exploited by their discoveries, and the scientists who refused to enrich themselves by the discovery of these great treatments will stand out in history in a light much more favorable than that in which Friedman, should his treatment prove a success, will stand.

Some nations have not yet recognized the new Mexican government. When the rebels get through with it, perhaps nobody will be able to recognize it.

The pet pig of the New York police force has been disposed of. Nothing must be permitted to remain in the department that can squeal.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

The Trolling Children
We never see the big blue sky
From out some country lane,
We never watch the clouds sail by Above the waving grain.
We never hear at close of day
The birds grow quiet in sleep,
We never run, we never play—
We only toil and weep.

The dark, cold night has hardly fled
Ere we are set to work,
With weary fingers, aching head—
But, ah! we dare not shirk!
"Work fast! Work fast!" our parents cry.
And, though our tears flow free,
We choke them back, for if we cry
Our task we cannot see.

We are so young, the day's so long,
Yet there's no time to smile,
Or make believe, or sing a song—
And, oh, to sleep a while!
But, no, we do not dare to pause,
They beat us if we do—
Oh, tell us, are there, then, no laws
For little children, too?

We only ask a little play,
A little youth and zest,
A little time for fun each day,
A little sleep and rest,
We're always hungry, often cold,
Oh, let us stop, we pray!
It cannot be that God's been told
How long we work each day.
—William Wallace Whitlock, in New York Times.

Discretion
"I say, Tom, lend me another ten, will you?"
"Heavens! Why don't you go to work and earn money?"
"Don't dare to, my boy. People would think the governor had disinherited me and that would ruin my credit."—Boston Transcript.

A Slow-Going Insect
On most of the English railways there are regulations which permit patrons, on payment of a stipulated fare, to take with them certain pet animals or birds. A short time ago a maiden lady appeared at one of the country stations, bringing with her a whole menagerie. She had a dog, a cat, a rabbit, a squirrel, a parrot, and a small turtle. The dog and the parrot were allowed transportation under the rules, but, in order that the passenger might take all her pets, the guard proceeded to classify them as follows:

"Cats," said he, "is dogs, rabbits is dogs, squirrels in cages is parrots; but this 'ere tortoise—"
He stopped and scratched his head, staring at the creature in perplexity. Finally an idea came to him. "This 'ere tortoise," he resumed, "'e is a hinseck, and hinsecks travel free!"—Judge.

Applied Advice
"I want to buy one of those 'Do It Now' cards."
"Sorry," said the clerk, "but we're out of those cards. We'll have some printed next week."
"You told me that last week."
At this point the proprietor came forward.

"Print some immediately," he ordered, "and tack up about forty of 'em around here."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Precocious George
"What's the idea, George?" inquired Mr. Washington. "Why do you chop down this cheery tree? Have you anything against cherry trees?"
"No, sir."
"Maybe you are in favor of deforestation?"
"No, sir."
"Doing this for a moving picture concern?"
"By no means."
"Then why chop down a tree?"
"I just thought of going on the stump," replied the future father of his country, and then Mr. Washington realized that George was a born statesman.—Kansas City Journal.

Rations Reduced
Sir Leopold McClintock, the Arctic explorer, was once giving an account of his experiences amid the ice fields of the north.
"We certainly would have traveled much farther," he explained, "had not our dogs given out at a critical time."
"But," exclaimed the lady, who had been listening very intently, "I thought the Eskimo dogs were perfectly tireless creatures."
Sir Leopold's face wore a whimsical gleam of expression as he replied:
"—er—speak in a culinary sense, miss."—San Francisco Argonaut.

"GOING SOME"

When it is a question of restoring the appetite, toning and strengthening the digestive system and keeping the bowels open,

HOSTETTER'S Stomach Bitters

will prove it is capable of "going some." You really should try a bottle today.

Is this your boy?
Is he too weak and sickly to join his companions in play, and are you helpless in spite of your utmost efforts to make him well?

What have you done toward building up his blood? Pure, red blood is what he needs most, if he is to become active and strong. It is the lack of it that causes his pallor, listlessness, poor appetite, lack of ambition, sleeplessness and shortness of breath.

Have you given him Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People? They are the remedy every growing boy or girl needs to build up the blood and bring health, strength, a good color, a hearty appetite and strong nerves.

Mrs. John Blake, whose address is R. F. D. No. 2, Verona, N. Y., says: "We had Howard treated by a doctor for several weeks but he became no better. He had scarcely any blood, was thin, weak and badly run down. We felt that something had to be done quickly and turned to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They started to build up his blood at once. His color became healthy, he grew stronger and in a few weeks was as well as ever."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are valuable in all diseases where the blood is at fault, as in chlorosis, rheumatism, after-effects of the grip and fevers, headaches and all run-down conditions.

An instructive booklet, "Building Up the Blood" will be sent free upon request.

Get the pills from your druggist at 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50 or from the

The Just and The Unjust

Her eyes grew wide with terror, and she swayed as if about to fall, but her father put out a sun-burnt hand for her support.

"We must go back," he said, mastering himself at sight of her suffering. "We have missed him here, he's gone home, that is all—it means nothing."

They drove in silence through the streets. Pallid, fearful, and speechless in her suffering, Elizabeth leaned back in her seat. The hope that had sustained her was lost in the realization of defeat. There was nothing beyond; this was failure, complete and final; the very end of effort! Suddenly her father's big hand closed about the small one which rested in her lap.

"You must not give up; I tell you it will be all right!" he insisted.

"He is avoiding us!" she cried chokingly. "Oh, what can we do when he will not even see us?"

"Yes, he will. We have been unfortunate, that is all."

"Wretchedly unfortunate!" she moaned.

They had reached their destination, and this time slowly and uncertainly they ascended the steps. With his hand upon the bell, the general hesitated for an instant; so much was at stake! Then a bell sounded in some distant part of the house, and after a brief interval the door was opened to them.

"I am sorry, sir, but the governor has not returned."

The general thrust a bill into the man's hand, saying:

"The moment he comes in, see that he gets my card."

Again there was delay. General Herbert, consumed by impatience, crossed and recrossed the room. Elizabeth stood by the window, one hand parting the heavy curtains. It was already late afternoon. The day had been wasted, and the hours that remained to them were perilously few. But more than the thought of North's death, the death itself filled her mind with unexpressed imaginings. The power to control her thoughts was lost, and her terror took her where they would, until North's very death struggles became a blinding horror. Somewhere in the silent house, a door opened and closed.

"At last!" said the general, under his breath.

But it was only the governor's secretary who entered the room. He halted in the doorway and glanced from father to daughter. There was no mistaking the look in his face.

"How much longer are we to be kept in doubt?" asked General Herbert, in a voice that indicated both his dread and his sense of insult.

"The governor deeply regrets that there should have been this delay," began the secretary.

"He is ready to see us now?" General Herbert interrupted.

"I regret—"

"What do you regret? Do you mean to tell me that he will not see us?" demanded the general.

"The governor has left town."

The angry color flamed into the old man's cheeks. His sorely tried patience was on the point of giving way, but a cry from the window recalled him.

"Where has he gone?"

"He left for the East at four o'clock," faltered the secretary, after a moment of wretched irresolution.

The general's face became white, as his anger yielded to a more powerful emotion.

"Impossible!" he cried.

"The North matter has been left in my hands," said the secretary haltingly.

The general's hope revived as he heard this. He stepped to Elizabeth's side and rested his hand protectively on her shoulder.

"You have the governor's decision?" he asked.

"Yes," answered the secretary haltingly.

There was a moment's silence.

"What is it?" The general's voice was strained and unnatural.

"He regrets it, but he does not deem it proper for him to interfere with the decision of the court. He has had the most eminent legal advice in this case."

A choking inarticulate cry from Elizabeth interrupted him.

"My God!" cried her father, as Elizabeth's groping hands clung to him. He felt the shudder that wracked her slim body. "Be brave!" he whispered, slipping his arms about her.

"Oh, father—father—" she sobbed.

"We will go home," said the general.

Te looked up from the bowed head that rested against his shoulder, expecting to find the secretary still standing by the door, but that dapper young man had stolen from the room.

"Yes, take me home," said Elizabeth.

He led her from the house and the door closed behind them on their last hope. Both shared in the bitter consciousness of this. They had been brought face to face with the inexorable demands of life, they had been foredoomed to failure from the very beginning.

"Father?" she gasped.

"Yes, dear?" He spoke with infinite tenderness.

"Is there nothing more?"

"Nothing, but to go home."

Deeply as he felt for her, he knew that he realized only an infinitesimal part of her suffering.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

tirely cured of that disagreeable disease, rheumatism. Purchase 2 drams of iodide of potassium; one-half ounce of wine of colchicum; 4 drams of sodium salicylate; 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort; 1 oz. comp. essence cardiol; and 5 ozs. of syrup sarsaparilla. This has cured thousands and I am sure it will cure you.

"Anxious wife"—Give 10 to 15 drops of the following in water an hour before each meal and your child will soon be cured of bed-wetting: Comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; tincture cubeba, 1 dram; tincture rhus-aromatic, 2 drams.

"La Rue" writes: "For many years I have suffered with stomach and bowel trouble which has been caused by a severe case of catarrh. My blood is also in poor condition. What can be done for me?"

Answer: If you follow the directions given below you will soon be well and strong again. Obtain the following from any well-stocked drug store and mix by shaking well, then take a teaspoonful four times daily: Syrup sarsaparilla comp. 4 ozs., comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz., fluid extract Buchu, 1 oz. Use in connection with the following local treatment: Get a 2-oz. package of antiseptic vilane powder and make a catarrh balm by mixing one ounce of lard or vaseline with a level teaspoonful of the powder and use in the nostrils daily. Also make a wash of one pint of warm water and one-half teaspoonful of Vilane powder and use two or three times a day until the nostrils are thoroughly cleansed and your trouble will soon be gone.

"Elsie M." writes: "I have such short, stringy, straggling hair and my scalp is full of dandruff. Please advise what to do."

Answer: The best advice I can offer is simple. Get at a well-stocked drug store a 4 oz. jar of plain yellow minoy, directions accompanying, and use it regularly. It promotes a healthy, vigorous, growth of hair and cures dandruff, itching scalp, lustreless hair and stops falling hair. If the hair is harsh and straggling it restores a soft, fluffy appearance, and brings back the intense natural color.

"Hazel" says: "I would certainly appreciate something that would increase my weight, and take away that languid feeling which I am subject to most of the time. My blood is weak and watery and my appetite is poor."

Answer: Your condition is very easily overcome if you will follow the directions given below. Ask your druggist for three-grain hypo-nuclease tablets and take according to the directions and your weight will increase. These tablets promote assimilation, absorption and aid digestion, transform the complexion and figure. They are prescribed by physicians and are perfectly harmless. They should be taken regularly for several months and you can depend upon gaining flesh and that languid feeling will vanish completely.

"D. E. G." writes: "My rheumatism is getting worse all the time. I am getting so stiff that it makes it very hard for me to get around."

Answer: Do not worry about your rheumatism as that can be very easily cured by using the following: Get at the drug store the ingredients named and mix thoroughly and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again at bed time and you will soon be en-

QUICKLY CURES THE WORST BACKACHE

Makes Kidney Troubles, Bladder Disorders, and Rheumatic Pains Vanish

It is no longer necessary for any one to suffer with backaching, kidney trouble, have disagreeable bladder and urinary disorders to contend with, or be tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and its heart-wrenching pains for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely relieves all such troubles.

Croxone is the most wonderful remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. It acts on the principle of cleaning out the poisons and removing the cause.

It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, like water in a sponge, neutralizes, dissolves, and makes the kidneys sift out and filter away, all the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys and urinary organs clean, strong, healthy, and well.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what you have used, the very principle of Croxone is such, that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it.

If you suffer with pains in your back, and sides, or have any signs of kidney, bladder troubles, or rheumatism, such as puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired, and run down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Croxone will quickly relieve you of your misery. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.

Four Former Inspectors Face Charges of Conspiracy in Court Today

NEW YORK, April 29.—After months of investigation of the police "system" of graft and vice protection District Attorney Whitman today called to trial four former inspectors, beginning the most important police prosecution ever seen in the courts of New York. NEW TRAIN ON THE BURLINGTON

Local Between La Crosse and Savanna; New Time Card on the Milwaukee

A new train will be run between La Crosse and Savanna, Ill., on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road commencing next Sunday.

The train will be a local and will leave Grand Crossing at 12:01 a. m. daily.

This train has been put on to make the local stops that former trains have formerly made. All trains between La Crosse and Savanna are being held up at different intervals on account of the extensive double track work that is being done all along the line.

A new time card has been issued on the Milwaukee, which is expected to affect the time of several trains now running.

Passenger train No. 5, that formerly arrived in La Crosse at 5:50, will arrive at 5:35. The new schedules will be in effect in about two days.

RETURN FROM LONG TRIP ON THE RIVER

Charles Stannard and R. Cole returned last night from their trip to the twin cities in their launch. The trip was made in six days. Four days were consumed in going up stream and two were taken to come back to La Crosse.

The men report a most favorable trip, with nothing to mar their pleasure. Three stops were made upstream, the men carrying provisions and tents and camping out each night.

Joseph Stockemer, Frank Osweiler and Edward Tracy, north side boat fans, stalled their motor boat on a sand bar in Black river Friday night, causing some difficulty in getting the boat to the shore. Just after leaving their boat house, their engine stalled on them, and they were compelled to drift while, trying to get it to run, and in this way they were run on the bar. Edward Tracy got out of the boat and finally managed to pull it to the ashore.

NOTED INVALID OF KENTUCKY

After Regaining Her Health Makes Few Interesting Statements for Publication

Lykins, Ky.—"For 20 years, I was a noted invalid," says Mrs. Martha Dingus of this place. "I believe I had every ailment that my sex is subject to.

We consulted numerous doctors, as well as traveled a great deal, thinking it would benefit my health, but all of this did me very little good.

Finally I was taken down with what I thought was heart trouble. I used all kinds of medicines, but got no better.

I then commenced taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and have been steadily improving ever since. Though now 46 years old, I am in better health than I have been in 20 years, and I give Cardui the credit for it. I feel it my duty to inform you what it has done for me."

No matter if your trouble has reached a critical stage, don't give up, before giving Cardui a trial.

You couldn't be in much worse condition than Mrs. Dingus, and yet she found relief in this medicine. Why not you?

Cardui is composed of purely vegetable ingredients, which act directly, in a remedial way, on the weakened womanly constitution.

In every community there are those who have been benefited by Cardui. Be one, yourself, in yours.

GIVE PIPES TO PUSH TOBACCO

American Tobacco Company Plans Campaign to Make Demand for Popular Smoke

D. J. Sullivan, formerly of Milwaukee and recently of New York City, is again in the Wisconsin market representing the American Tobacco company's smoking products and featuring Tuxedo tobacco in a new and modern method of reaching the consumer and creating further demand for this already famous high grade brand of smoking tobacco.

After trying out the new method in the east, Mr. Sullivan says that it has proved a great success with the dealers, as well as promoting the sale of Tuxedo by supplying every live and up-to-date dealer in the city with Sweet Phoenix Togo Cig Pipes to be given with the purchase of every 10-cent tin of Tuxedo to both the new and old friends of this brand.

"There is a reason for the wonderful and continued growth of Tuxedo tobacco because it is made from the choicest leaf of its kind and by its process of manufacture the bite has been entirely eliminated, making it most desirable for pipe or cigarette," says Mr. Sullivan. "This is substantiated by the testimonials world-wide fame and they all agree that a pipe of Tuxedo is a good tonic during or after a hard day of nervous strain."

"The pipe of tobacco, as we all know, when properly filled with Tuxedo, is a forerunner of peace of mind and good will as well as comfort in the family fireside circle."

RESCUERS SEE TEN OF FAMILIES DROWN

Mothers and Nine Children Slip from Roof Into the Flood With No Chance of Help

NATCHEZ, Miss., April 29.—While rescue parties looked on in horror, two frantic mothers with nine little children, marooned on the top of a house in the flooded interior, called out vain pleas for help and then plunged to their death when their place of refuge toppled over in the swirling waters and vanished from sight.

The rescuers brought the word when they returned to Natchez today with two boat loads of survivors. Their boats were so crowded that to have taken on the women and little children would have swamped them.

Nine parishes, reaching five miles inland, are under water and the Mississippi is pouring in through a mile wide crevasse at St. John. At Bemis, where the levees are still holding, two negroes were shot while trying to cut the embankment. It is thought they were working for planters on the other side of the stream.

JOHN BARLEYCORN HAS HIS INNING

SPARTA, Wis., April 29.—Saturday was field day for John Barleycorn at Wilton in this county if the justice court records of Monday can be believed. Joseph Joffers and son, John Joffers, are farmers and each is a posted man. They came to town on Saturday and during the day both were arrested on a charge of drunkenness. The cases were heard Monday morning and in the meantime a complaint had been made under the statute to inquire from what sources they obtained their liquor. These cases are pending.

Otto Goldbeck, a painter, was living up to the old traditions of his trade by getting drunk Saturday afternoon. He met Mike Englerth in a saloon and playfully or unconsciously or in some manner slapped him and made his nose bleed. Then Goldbeck went into another saloon and sat down in a chair and went to sleep. In the meantime Englerth had been stopping the nose bleed and getting mad. With a friend or two, he sought out Goldbeck in the other saloon and announced that he would not accept an apology but would return the compliment and proceeded to beat Goldbeck over the head with a chair. Adam Englerth, father of Mike, upon seeing his family's blood spilled, vowed to have solace for his wounded feeling, and with his son was in Sparta at five o'clock Monday morning seeking the district attorney and a warrant. An assault and battery charge was brought against Goldbeck and the officer send after him.

At Goldbeck's hearing he pleaded not guilty and the case was adjourned to May 9th. It is said that he will immediately cause a similar warrant to be issued because Mike with the bloody nose, beat him over the head with a chair.

Speaking of Wilton, Assemblyman Frederick of slot machine fame, has another nice handful for the saloon keepers of that village in the form of sworn testimony of competent witnesses regarding Sunday violation of the excise law by all of the bar keepers of the village, except Wm. Lanke. Names of the defendants and dates of the offenses are not public, but will be Tuesday as warrants have been issued for the arrest of these men, which will occur Tuesday.

Fire at Putnam Residence

Fire yesterday afternoon seriously damaged the residence of Jacob Putnam on South Myrtle street. The conflagration is said to have started from a bonfire and spread from the wood shed to the rear of the house. Much difficulty was experienced in saving from damage the residences on either side of the Putnam house, but no harm was done them except from the heat. The firemen, after an hour's work, had the fire out, although it seemed to be a difficult one to fight.

Sheriff Leo Vieth was a caller at Norwalk Monday morning.

Senator Howard Teasdale and Attorney Z. S. Rice were business visitors at Wilton Monday.

Miss Eva Moffat entertained a company of friends in honor of a guest from Minot, N. D., Friday evening, at bridge.

Misses Kathryn and Gertrude Maden attended the theater at La Crosse Monday evening.

"CASCARETS" MAKE YOU FEEL GREAT

A 10 cent box will keep your liver, tomach and bowels clean for months

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and poor breath—always trace them to torpid liver, delayed fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Salts, cathartic pills, oil and purgative waters force a passageway for a day or two—yes—but they don't take the poisons out and have no effect upon the liver or stomach.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels clean and regular for months.

"TOTNING LAG" PLANS GO FORWARD RAPIDLY

SPRING GROVE, Minn., April 29.—The national convention of "Totnings" called "Totning Lag," which will be held here in June, is a gathering of all former residents and their descendants who hail from a place in Norway called Toten. Toten differs from other localities in being the most level and greatest grain producing and on account of its easy access to the larger cities of Norway they haven't the individuality of dress, usages and dialect found in other parts where the people are isolated and mingle less with the outside world, thus acquiring peculiar usages, dress and speech.

The Magelsen family, composed mostly of ministers and doctors and well known throughout the United States, comes from Toten and it is hoped that many representatives of this noble family will come to Spring Grove during the lag and that the "Totnings" and others as well will have an opportunity to hear from them while here.

The dates for this great gathering are June 4, 5 and 6.

Wednesday, June 4th will be Governors Day, as John C. Gran, the president of the national organization, has received word that Governor Eberhart will be sure to be present on that day.

Thursday, June 5th, will probably be the La Crosse Day, as a good many La Crosse people seem to prefer that day.

Friday, June 6th, will most likely be the Caledonia Day. Caledonia has not said anything yet but it would be a fitting climax to a successful meet.

The "Totning Lag" advertising buttons are on sale at the different places of business and are having a brisk sale.

Recent advices from the different railroad companies signify there will be liberal rate reductions on all railroads.

A complimentary auto trip for the guests to Caledonia is planned for one of the days of the "lag."

Word has been received from Minneapolis "Totnings" that they will be here in special cars at least two hundred strong. Reports have also been received from La Crosse, Austin and Harmony "Totnings" that they are coming with strong delegations.

Secretary Clausen says he has inquiries every day about transportation and lodging.

Elmer and Edward Quandahl on Monday left for Montana where they intend to take claims.

Frank Ramsdell left for his home at Grantsburg, Wis., on Friday after a few days' visit with relatives and friends.

Ole Lee of Hamar, Norway, enroute for Kalispell, Mont., arrived here on Wednesday evening for a short visit with his brother, Olaf.

Erick Kroshang has disposed of his pool room and will take a well earned rest.

This Spring Tonic Great Health Aid

(From American Press)

At the first signs of warm weather, spring fever, poor appetites, pale, sallow, pimply faces and that tired, drowsy, overworked feeling remind us of the urgent need of taking preventive measures to ward off sickness and give us energy and good health. At this season of the year no one should neglect taking a good tonic to purify the blood and build up the body with strength and energy.

No better tonic can be had than the good old-fashioned one made at home at small cost by dissolving an ounce of karsene (which you can obtain at any drug store) in one-half pint alcohol, adding one-half cupful sugar and hot water to make a full quart.

A tablespoonful before each meal will do wonders for those who feel "all gone" after the strain of winter or who feel sick and yet don't know just what's the matter.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

I only have a limited number of bottles on hand of the celebrated INDIAN WA-HOO BITTERS.

After these are sold, none are to be had this season any more.

The Bitters has been successfully used by hundreds of our citizens in cases of Rheumatism, Blood Disorders, Stomach Troubles, Liver and Kidney Complaints, Female Weakness and Habitual Constipation. Call early before they are sold.

Parcel Post and Telephone orders for it, or anything you may want, will be promptly delivered.

DENY M'KIBBIN THE RIGHT TO PRACTICE

Supreme Court Rules for Bar Association on Petition to Revoke License

MADISON, Wis., April 29.—(Special.)—The Vernon County Bar association today won its fight in the Wisconsin supreme court to have the license of George W. McKibbin to practice law revoked. The decision reversed the ruling made by Circuit Judge E. C. Higbee in La Crosse at the November term of court last fall.

This proceeding was brought by the bar association to show cause why McKibbin's license to practice law in Wisconsin should not be revoked on the ground that it was "imprudently granted." McKibbin was licensed before the supreme court of Tennessee upon his graduation from the U. S. Grant university, and practiced two years in Tennessee. Then he removed to West Virginia and was admitted to the circuit court but not to the supreme court.

The Vernon County Bar association contended it was not enough to be licensed by the supreme court of Tennessee followed up by two years' practice in West Virginia; he should have been admitted by the West Virginia supreme court and have practiced two years in that state before being entitled to practice in Wisconsin. Not having practiced two years in the state where he last was located, his right to practice in Wisconsin was protested. The circuit judge at La Crosse last November denied the bar association's petition and the association appealed to the supreme court.

May Lose Office
Attorneys here expressed the opinion today that the district attorney of Vernon county cannot continue to hold that office under the supreme court's ruling. The courts say:

Not a Dishonor
"No moral turpitude attaches to the respondent. He can probably regain his position through the abundant facilities offered by the written law it is far better that he should be put to that inconvenience than a dangerous precedent should be made."

IS PROPER TO KILL SNAKE AND GOPHER

Band of Mercy Children Decide Poisonous Snakes and Gophers Should Be Exterminated

Is it wrong to kill snakes? Is it wrong to kill gophers?

These were the questions which occupied the first meeting of the Alert band of mercy, recently organized by the Humane society at the Hogan school, in order to teach the children kindness to animals. Both questions were debated at length by the children, and finally the following solutions were arrived at: It is right to kill poisonous snakes, because they are harmful; it is right to kill gophers because the country pays a bounty, thus proving they are harmful.

Yesterday's meeting was addressed by Miss Winnifred Salisbury, agent of the Humane society and Associated Charities. She sought to instill in her talk the necessity of being kind to birds, animals and human beings.

The Alert band, which was organized two weeks ago, has 143 members, all of whom are members of the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades at the school. The following officers were chosen yesterday: President, Harold Kennedy; vice president, Rachael Moore; secretary, Margaret Moore; treasurer, Leslie Hilton. The executive committee of the board consists of the teachers at the Hogan school. The band meets fortnightly.

MAN OF MYSTERY IN WILLING WINDOW

"Is he alive?" This question was asked a great many times by the crowds of people that watched a figure displaying clothing in the window of The Big Four clothing store.

The man of mystery will be in the window each afternoon and evening for three days.

A Blessing to Victims Of "Sore Foot" Agony

The following is said to be the surest and quickest cure known to science for all foot ailments: "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calcoide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for fully fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts." The effect is really wonderful. All soreness goes instantly; the feet feel delightful. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off. It gives immediate relief for sore bunions, sweaty, smelly and aching feet. A twenty-five cent box of Calcoide is said to be sufficient to cure the worst feet. It works through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Don't waste time on uncertain remedies. Any druggist has Calcoide compound in stock or he can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house.

MONTENEGRO AND AUSTRIA OPENLY ARE BELLIGERENT

evitably would draw in other nations. Russia, which is strongly Slavic, is holding aloof from the consultations of the ambassadors in London. Russia took no part in the international blockade of the Montenegrin coast and is said that Russia is secretly encouraging Montenegro to defy the powers. It is feared that in the event that any individual power, especially a member of the triple alliance, should attack King Nicholas, Russia might openly come to the aid of the little kingdom.

Would Embroider Kaiser

Such a move undoubtedly would bring Germany into the mix-up, because that nation long ago decreed that the czar should not gain a foothold on the Adriatic. What might happen then can only be conjectured.

These possibilities are being discussed by the alarmists, who say that Emperor Francis Joseph will be the Cat's paw of Europe if he proceeds alone against King Nicholas. On the other hand there is a large element of optimists who profess to believe that diplomatic negotiations will bring the difficulty to a peaceful solution.

KILLS KIDNAPPER WITH A HATCHET

Brother of Girl Seized Nearly Severs Man's Head with Single Blow

HE WAS A REJECTED SUITOR

Romance of Chicago's Little Italy Ends in Fierce Battle on the Street

CHICAGO, April 29.—Melodrama grasped "Little Italy" early today and in a bloody battle that followed an attempt at kidnapping by a rejected suitor, one man was killed and another is dying at a hospital.

The police are searching for Pasquella Forte, a young Italian, who with a hatchet nearly decapitated Ton Marasto, the rejected suitor, after Marasto had attempted a forced elopement with pretty Anna Forte, aged 19, No. 930 Polk street. Frank Alfano, 933 Polk street, an innocent spectator at the scene of thrills, is dying at a hospital with a bullet in his left breast.

Hid in Alley

From information gleaned by the police it appears that Marasto had a council of war with several young Italians who were his devoted companions. Early today he hid himself in an alley near the Forte home, armed with a revolver and prepared to accost Anna on her way to work and force her to marry him.

Pasquella Forte, mother of the young girl, heard Anna scream. Pasquella, Sr., seized a revolver and rushed to the front porch. She saw Anna struggling in the arms of Marasto, while several young Italians stood by and grinned.

The mother fired several shots. None of them struck the kidnaper, but Alfano, who was passing, went down with a bullet near his heart.

Hatchet is Weapon

Pasquella Forte, the girl's brother, who was at the breakfast table, rushed to his mother's assistance, brandishing a hatchet. He sprang at Marasto as the kidnaper turned to flee and with one blow almost severed his head from his body. Then before a crowd of excited Italians ventured forth from their doorways he fled, leaving the bloody hatchet across the breast of his victim.

Half an hour after the tragedy the police arrested Pasquella Forte. He proved to be a cousin of the murderer, bearing the same name and was released.

COP A BANDIT LEADER

POLICEMAN IN CHICAGO ALLEGED BY TWO THIEVES TO HAVE BEEN BRAINS OF GANG OF SEVEN

CHICAGO, April 29.—Charged with being the brains of a gang of seven robbers who terrorized Chicago during the winter, Policeman William H. Ohm, was to be arraigned in court today and to be confronted by two alleged members of the gang, who, according to the police made confessions implicating Ohm.

Ohm's suspension from the police force and the order putting him behind the bars in solitary confinement came at the conclusion of a dramatic scene at police headquarters. Confronted by Assistant Chief of Police Schuetter, the policeman made general denial.

Schuetter stepped forward, knife in hand. He snatched the badge from Ohm's breast, ordered him to give up his club and revolver, and with a few quick slashes cut every button from the policeman's coat.

NOTED ORCHESTRA TO GIVE CONCERT

Schildkret's Royal Hungarian Orchestra to Appear at Charities Chautauqua

Announcement of the addition of one more number to the program of the Associated Charities Chautauqua, to be held in La Crosse July 13 to 20, was made today. Harry N. Holbrook and A. C. Schmidt, who are arranging details, were in the city today, and they announced that Schildkret's Royal Hungarian orchestra had been secured for one day.

The orchestra is the same band of musicians brought over from Europe in 1893 by Mrs. Potter Palmer to play for the functions in Chicago at the time of the Columbian exposition. It is also the orchestra that discoursed music at the wedding of Alice Roosevelt and Nicholas Longworth in the White house. It is considered one of the best of the orchestral organizations now in the country.

Plans are being laid to make the Chautauqua arranged and supervised entirely by local persons an annual feature for the Associated Charities. The value of the scheme from a monetary standpoint lies in the fact that the profits remain in the city, and are not taken away by any lyceum course manager.

Arrangements today were made for selling the tickets. They will be distributed in blocks to various persons about the city whose names will be made public later, and can be purchased from them.

"The Sweetest Smoke in the World"

is Tuxedo in a "Corn Cob" pipe de luxe — the Togo pipe with a genuine Weichsel stem.

Remember the old corn cob pipe we used to smoke, how sweet and cool it was always? No other pipe has ever equalled the cob in its own sterling qualities—and the Togo is a corn cob pipe de luxe.

The Togo looks better—is made better—will last longer and gives the same sweet smoke as the old-time cob. The stem of Weichsel wood contains fragrant aromatic oils which are released when the smoke enters the stem, making a smoke which cannot be excelled in delicacy and sweetness.

Short Story

HIS FATHER'S CHOICE

By ELLA RANDALL PEARCE
Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Daniel Hollister, Junior was traveling leisurely across the country from San Francisco to New York, when, in Kansas City, a disquieting letter from home reached him. It was from his married sister, Celia. "Dan we're so worried about father. He's continuing his attentions to that girl we met on shipboard—you know, the one I told you about, who dances in public. She's living in the Algonquin, right around the corner, and she and father are together much of the time. Really, I think you ought to come home and break up such a foolish affair. You know how difficult father is to deal with; but he would always listen to you. He seems bewitched with this doll-faced girl."

"And a public dancer," added Dan with a slight curl of his clean sensitive upper lip. "I never knew father to be that kind of chump—but he always had a weakness for pretty faces. This looks like a mess, all right. Well, I'll have to rush to the rescue!"

As quickly as the running time of the next express train for the East would allow, Daniel, Jr., arrived in New York. His first call was on his sister, who lived next door to the old Hollister home which, in its brownstone solidity, offered a dignified contrast to the ornate cream-colored facade of the modern apartment house which had sprung up beside it.

"If I'm not glad to see you!" cried Celia. "Father? Oh, he's all right—only he seems to be hypnotized by that girl. Why, yes, I suppose some would call her pretty—but her hair and eyes don't match, and she dresses peculiarly, and she has such a dangerously artless manner."

"Humph! Dancer with bleached hair; bizarre clothes, and ingenuous pose," was Dan's mental tabulation. Celia rambled on until her caller decided that he had heard enough. "I'm going to drop in next door," he said. "It'll be a surprise; father doesn't know I'm here."

"Don't say you saw me first," warned Celia. "We must be very diplomatic Danny. If father should marry a girl like that—at his age!" Young Hollister felt very uneasy as he mounted the steps of his old home. Undoubtedly, his father was walking along dangerous paths, and the dignity of the family name was seriously threatened. Celia had said that she had even been refused the use of the Hollister electric coupe because Miss Fay Embree wanted it!

Mr. Hollister, senior, was not at home that evening, his son was told. Yes, he had dined at home, and gone away afterward, saying he would not return until late. Acting on impulse, after a time, Dan strolled around the Algonquin, a small hotel, the leading attraction of which was a charming little pergola supper room, where painted Italian scenes were framed between white fluted columns, and tiny lights in colored globes shone from an overarching lattice of leaves.

Little parties from the theatres nearby had come in, and the supper room was full. Dan stood a moment in the doorway, and then made his way to the end table that was set in a vine hung alcove. In the instant that he was shaking hands with the elderly man in evening dress, and looking over his shoulder at the feminine vision in pale blue, the young man's mind was made up. He had decided how he would outwit his father. He would not be disagreeable to this strange young girl—far from it!

"Well, what a surprise! Sit down; we're just beginning. Celia told you how you might find me here, I suppose."

The elder man chuckled and sent a sly glance at his fair companion. Young Daniel's eyes following caught the swift flush that warmed the small features of Miss Fay Embree. Seated in a softly lighted alcove, Dan found himself wondering why the violence of his displeasure seemed to be so rapidly ebbing. Perhaps it was because his father was so frankly glad to see him; so genial; at ease in his own position of host; or perhaps it was because Miss Embree appeared so artlessly pleased to have the younger member of the Hollister family sitting there.

Dan looked critically at her every chance he got. Her hair was remarkably flaxen and her eyes strikingly dark; but the unusual combination seemed to be the work of Nature. Her gown had some little quaint touches and she wore some odd jewelry, but the effect was harmonious. Her voice was very sweet and her manners refined. Dan wondered what sort of dancing performances she gave—and where. He would be at the theatre the next night!

Somehow it was the younger, not the elder, man who placed the maroon-edged evening cape over Miss Embree's shoulder's later.

"I just have to step out to the elevator, you know," she said, with a glance over her shoulder straight into Dan's eager eyes. "Something in that glance, demure though it was, made the young man's pulses thrill. It was so appealing—he wished he could think it honest. 'I'll make her like me—for father's sake!' he told himself; and his manner of saying farewell was tenderly impressive.

"Well, Danny," said the elder man, as they went homeward, "I see that you approve of my choice."

"Your choice," echoed Dan, in such a tone that his father coughed discreetly.

"Ah, I—I should say—well, Miss Embree and I have been pretty good friends. I hoped you would like her; and I should say that she has made

Every woman knows the luxury of having soft water at her command, especially for washing clothes, but Nature has denied this luxury to many, especially to those living in cities or in "hard water" countries.

However, every woman can have soft water in her home with little trouble and less expense. The sprinkling of Gold Dust washing powder in the water from your taps or well will make it as soft as the rain water that falls from the clouds.

a hit—a palpable hit—with you. I think she's the dearest little girl in the world."

"Decidedly frank!" reflected Dan, with a feeling of growing irritation. "There's both rather brazen, considering the game. Well, I can take a hand here, too!" Aloud he said, "I understand that Miss Embree's a dancer. Where does she appear?"

"Well, she danced at Mrs. Van de Water's this evening. Talk about the poetry of motion—you should have seen her in the 'Spring Song.'"

"Then she isn't on the stage?" "Why no; the little girl is a born dancer and after her parents died she went abroad to study classic dancing, because it's a fad and she can make a good living out of it. I've done all I could to help her—even lent her the coupe to save livery bills—and now that Mrs. Van de Water's taken her up, I guess she will stay in New York for the Winter anyway."

Dan saw Miss Embree the following day, and on several days after. His father did not seem to object to his company, and as for Miss Fay—well, the young man was kept in a whirl of mingled emotions. At times the part he had set out to play seemed to be surprisingly "true to life."

Then the dancer appeared at a social affair, and Dan watched her step and sway in her artistic interpretations. It was a revelation of youthful grace, sweet and virginal with a coaxing witchery that tugged at the young man's heart strings until they fairly ached.

The brilliant scene, the throng of figures, the watching faces—all these faded away. He was alone in a primeval forest, with that lovely alluring vision of springtime dancing over the green sward, through sunshine and shadow—dancing for him.

Suddenly he faced his father, and spoke under his breath, tensely, almost fiercely. "I'm going to take Miss Embree home tonight." His eyes were shining and his chin was set. "We are both young—do you understand?"

Two hours later Dan faced his father again. It was in the quiet Hollister library; the young man's face was aglow, though his voice faltered as he spoke.

"Father, I'm sorry I was so impetuous awhile ago, but—I was carried away. And—Fay loves me! Didn't you know? Can you blame me? But I should have had more consideration for you—you—"

The elder man had advanced and clasped his son's hand. "Danny, my boy, it's all right. It's just as I planned it! I knew she was the girl for you the moment I saw her—and I kept her for you. Nobody else had a chance, Danny!"

"Yes—thank you," murmured Dan, seeming to shrink in stature. "But you're a bit stubborn, Danny; and I was afraid if you knew what I had in mind—well, I was afraid father's choice wouldn't be—why, what's the matter?"

With a shout, Daniel, Jr., had collapsed into the depths of an armchair, and was laughing uproariously.

"I'm just thinking about Celia," he said, evasively, when he had managed to conquer his wild mirth. "Wait till I see her—tomorrow."

SPARTA OFFICIALS CONSULT BRADISH

SPARTA, a Wis., April 29.—The story that the plans of the street committee would require the bonding of the city for $25,000 for street improvements, was made under a misapprehension. The estimated total cost of the improvements planned is approximately $25,000 and the city would be bonded for about one-third of that amount, the remaining two-thirds, it is expected, will be paid by abutting property owners. Posed of that amount; the remaining two-thirds would exceed one-third of the total, for the reason that it is planned to improve some of the streets without assessing abutting property owners. Engineer Bradish of La Crosse was in the city the last of last week and the street committee expects his estimate as to the costs of their proposed improvements soon.

Bad Week for "Cullud Folks"

Last week seems to have been a bad week for colored men in our city. Early in the week Herbert Sanford, part Indian and part negro, former Carlisle student and at present a sign painter, spoke insultingly and offensively to "Slim," a long, lean, lank bus driver, at the Milwaukee depot. Slim knocked the dark complexioned artist down twice and was then induced to cease his pugilistic efforts by the pleas of the knoekee.

A search warrant was issued on Thursday evening and the residence of Sheridan Waldron, a colored barber, was searched for a bicycle that had turned up missing. Waldron took offense at this and seemed to feel that Roy McComber, who had lost a bicycle, was the person to blame.

Waldron walked into the white man's barber shop Friday morning and became quite abusive. McComber resented this and upon Waldron calling McComber a vile name, McComber promptly floored the colored man and gave him a severe beating. The two were called and both men were arrested and fined $5.00 and costs, the white man paying his fine and Waldron going to jail. Waldron's fine was later paid by a friend. The fist encounter of the bus driver and the painter did not attract the attention of the police. It is interesting to note that in each fight the white man licked, and it is possible that Sparta is developing a white hope or two.

Investigating Pool Rooms

City Attorney Z. S. Rice is directing the police in an investigation of the complaint to the effect that minors are permitted to play in pool and billiard halls of the city. Friday afternoon a bicycle belonging to Harvey Hoffman was missing and the boy reported it to the police. Upon questioning Hoffman, who is a minor, it developed that he was in a pool hall of the city at the time the wheel was taken. It is nearly two years since the authorities have found it necessary to give any attention to the manner in which billiard halls are conducted and during that time keepers may have grown somewhat careless. An Oak street ball alley and shooting gallery is said to be at least as great an offender as the billiard halls. There is an ordinance which forbids keepers of ball alleys or pool rooms allowing minors to play. Another complaint that is being investigated in connection with this one, is that boys are being given cigarette papers at some of these places, which is contrary to law. Some merchants complain that boys demand cigarette papers and upon being refused, refuse to take tobacco but go elsewhere and buy tobacco because cigarette papers are given away with each purchase. A new law which has just become effective forbids the sale of tobacco to any boy under sixteen years of age. This law is being persistently violated in the city and the police have plans on foot to bring this violation to an abrupt stop. The city attorney and the police are bound that the laws shall be enforced.

LEADER OF SOCIETY ADMITS BLACKMAIL

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 29.—Mrs. Maude E. Stewart, wife of a wealthy lumberman of Antigo, Wis., in the United States court on Monday pleaded guilty before Judge F. A. Geiger to a charge of using the mails with intent to blackmail Mrs. E. H. Van Ostrand, a prominent society woman of Antigo and was fined $250 and costs.

Testimony tended to show that Mrs. Stewart wrote a letter to Mrs. Van Ostrand declaring that if the plaintiff did not hand over $100 to Mrs. Stewart certain episodes connected with a trip made by Mrs. Van Ostrand to a convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution at Washington, would be aired which would have a tendency to oust Mrs. Van Ostrand from the position that she held in the society in Antigo.

A Staple Medicine for All Families

From Infancy to Old Age a Reliable Family Laxative is Most Needed—Try This One

It is inconceivable in this day of general intelligence that any family would be without a simple remedy for the minor ills of life, for often by giving such a remedy in time a serious disease can be frustrated and a life saved.

For example, if at the first sign of a cold a simple laxative-remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin were given the beginning of a serious lung affection or of a typhoid fever might be avoided. And also in headaches, nervousness, etc., a small dose of this remedy would relieve the congestion and replace distress with comfort. Mothers give it to tiny infants and little children, and grown people take it with equally good effect. Thousands of good American homes are never without it, among them the home of Dr. Geo. T. Hull, Prop. Hull Drug Co., Prue, Okla. Dr. Hull has for a number of years recommended Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in his practice and writes that "for stomach and bowel disorders, worms in children and a general laxative-remedy it has no equal." Syrup Pepsin saves the health of the family, and it saves doctor's bills. It is a guaranteed cure for any form of stomach, liver and bowel trouble, constipation, indigestion, biliousness, gas on the stomach, headaches, drowsiness after eating, etc. Have no hesitancy about giving it to any member of the family, however, young or old, for it contains nothing injurious to the youngest person. A bottle can be obtained at any nearby drug store for fifty cents or one dollar. The latter size is more economical and is bought by those who have already convinced themselves of its merits. Syrup Pepsin users learn to discard pills, salts, cathartics and purgatives generally as they are too great a shock to any average system. If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address by postal mail to—Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

THE LAND of Opportunity for La Crosse County people is not away off under the Rainbow, but closer at home, in Northern Wisconsin. The profit in farming is largely in the increase of value of the farm. You buy when cheap and you hold till it becomes valuable. Lands are cheap in Oneida County, but are steadily increasing in price. At the same time these lands are as fertile as the best La Crosse County lands. There is no trouble to prove it. This argument is not used to crowd over you but to induce you to buy some of our lands. The fare to Rhinelander is about $4.25 each way. Why not slip up here and see what we have to offer. Chicago Grain Review CHICAGO, April 29.—War news from Europe was the dominant factor in the grain market today and on the report that Austria had determined to fight was fresh buying that caused a rally after the grain list had started lower. Both wheat months had recovered of 1/4c during the morning and corn and oats followed upward. Expectation of larger receipts gave the corn market a bearish tone at the start but both months recovered and at noon were firm on yesterday's closing prices.

Oats started lower but buying pressure forced May up 1/4c and at noon July was at yesterday's closing level. Provisions were firm and slightly higher. Offerings were small. Wheat and corn sagged in the afternoon, wheat dropping 1/4c and

BASEBALL SEASON TO OPEN SUNDAY

Doubleheader Planned to Get New City League Officially Under Way

LEAGUE IS NEAR DISRUPTION

Compromise Settles Weight Case which Threatens to Kill Infant Organization

The baseball season of the new City league will open next Sunday afternoon at league park with a double header to give it a flying start. This was the decision made at a meeting of the board of directors and officers of the league held in the La Crosse club yesterday afternoon.

The first game Sunday will open at 2 o'clock. It will be the two north side teams—Summits and Nelsons—pitted against each other. The second game will be the Athletics and Clothiers.

Weight Case Problem
Dispute over the Weight case threatened for a time yesterday afternoon to disrupt the league and put organized ball in La Crosse into the realm of "might have been." The Clothiers, represented by Director Nic Bartl, insisted that they be allowed to play Charles Weight, crack shortstop. The by-laws bar Charlie because he finished last season with a club in the Nebraska state league, and is therefore a professional.

All the other directors were for standing by the by-laws, and when they named their position Bartl delivered an ultimatum.

"Either we get Weight or we don't play in the league," said the Clothiers' representative.

It looked for a time like "the new league was to be stillborn, but under the pacification of John A. Elliott and John Miller, expert soothers of practical experience with scrapping directorates, the war was finally settled by arbitration.

May Yet Get Charlie

The Clothiers agreed to do without Weight at first, until enough games have been played to let the team's chances develop. If it looks strong enough to make a good race, they will do without Charlie. If weakness turns up in the infield, Weight may be allowed a place by the rest of the directors.

Various other matters of business were taken up at the meeting and decided, including the appointment of a schedule committee.

BROCK LICKS O'KEEFE

AKRON, Ohio, April 29.—Matt Brock of Cleveland today finds himself in line for a chance at the featherweight crown, so ably worn by his fellow townsman, Johnny Kilbane, as the result of his victory last night over Eddie O'Keefe, crack Philadelphia scrapper. GLYMER RESCUES GAME FOR CUBS

Two-bagger in the Eighth Saves Game Already Won and Lost Once

CHICAGO, April 29.—A two base hit by Otis Clymer off Babe Adams in the eighth insured the defeat of the Pirates, 8 to 5, after Toney had beaten them once and tossed the game away later. With Cheney back at his old job of tinkering up a doubtful combat in the ninth round, the Pirates collapsed. There were tallies galore in the eighth. After holding the Pirates to five scattered hits, Toney blew up and they lammed him for six cracks and three runs resulted. Hendrix, after passing three men in the Cubs' half was yanked and Adams went in. He was nicked for three hits and five runs came over. Score: R H E
Pittsburgh . . . 0020000030—5 11 2
Chicago . . . 1000002005—8 19 2
Batteries: Hendrix, Adams and Kelly; Toney, Cheney and Archer.

St. Louis 7; Cincinnati 5.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 29.—After the Reds had taken a three run lead in the first inning by slugging Sallee, St. Louis came back in their half and walloped Powell and Works for four runs. After that the Cardinals never were headed and won 7 to 5. Sallee tightened after the opening inning and thereafter had the Reds at his mercy. He also made a record at bat, getting three hits in four times up. Score: R H E
Cincinnati . . . 300010001—5 11 2
St. Louis . . . 410000002—7 11 2

DILLON HAS SHADE OVER BOB MOHA

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 29.—"Come back, Mavrouneen," sang the promoters' chorus when the boosters of the fight game in Milwaukee gathered at the station today to wish Jack Dillon Godspeed. The Indianapolis boy fought like a champion in his bout with Bob Moha and had a shade in every round, battling the cave man about the ring at well. Dillon may be matched with Moha again or with Billy Papke within a few weeks.

MRS. BAT AT RINGSIDE

BOSTON, April 29.—With Mrs. "Bat" rooting at the ringside, Bat Nelson will continue his "come back" act at the opening of the Atlas Athletic club here tonight, with Gilbert Gallant, a hard hitting local boy, as the obstacle. Local fans predict a setback for the pride of Hedgewick.

FEATHER TITLE AT STAKE IN CONTEST

Kilbane and Dundee Both Confident Over Big Battle This Evening

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 29.—What many expect to be the hardest fight of Featherweight Champion Johnny Kilbane's career will be staged at Uncle Tom McCarey's Vernon arena tonight when the Cleveland title holder clashes with Johnny Dundee in a twenty round battle. With both lads down to weight and in perfect condition, a terrific slam-bang bout is expected. Neither has done any real training work for two days, having finished that Sunday. Since then the boys have done enough work to keep at weight.

Dundee is supremely confident, and insists that he expects to be featherweight champion of the world before midnight. Not only that but he declares he will win by a knockout.

Zest was added to the affair today when Promoter McCarey promised the two boys that he would match the winner for a battle with Mexican Joe Rivers at Vernon on July 4.

INJUNCTION MAY HOLD BACK LEAGUE

AURORA, Ill., April 29.—An injunction suit to prevent the Wisconsin-Illinois league from opening its playing season tomorrow is the novel method Aurora club directors may employ to force settlement of its claims against the league. The league is charged with breaking its agreement with Aurora after the local club was voted out, in not protecting players of the local club. President Flannigan of the Aurora club charges that the league failed to pay him $1,000 for Aurora's franchise, after agreeing to do so. Flannigan had negotiations pending for the sale of five Aurora players, but before he could close the deal he was notified by Secretary Farrell of the national commission that all five men were free agents.

Watching The Scoreboard

Now look who's at the top of the National heap.

Three games dropped to Brooklyn, two ties and bad weather have put a crimp in the flying start the Giant rosters expected.

In the meantime Evers has been whipping up his Cubs and with three straight from the Pirates, there you are.

St. Louis and Cincinnati each got eleven hits and drew two errors apiece. Tinker used up four pitchers, but could not stop the Cardinals and dropped another game.

CLASH ON STEEL DUTIES IN HOUSE

Partisan Forces Drawn Up
Today to Thrash Out
Schedule C of the Tariff

NO AMENDMENTS PUT THROUGH

Republicans Fight Hard but
Are Unable to Change Single Word in
the Bill

.....
Coin Choice Retorts
WASHINGTON, April 30.—
Statesmen in the house forsook
the monotony of the tariff debate today to coin a few choice
new retorts.
Representative Murdock, the
progressive leader, started it,
dubbing Representative Payne
a "standpatter who is a stand-
still," and Representative
Moore of Pennsylvania, a
"standpatter with a rising infection."
"You're the house leader of the bumble-bee party," retorted Payne.
Representative Fordney of Michigan, assailed the democrats for "tearing down the tariff walls."
"When God Almighty blew
the breath of life into some
men He must have been bilious," the Michigan man declared.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Partisan divisions of the house were drawn in battle array today for the
first decisive clash over the tariff.
Schedule C, the iron and steel rates,
was the bone of contention. Undaunted by futile efforts yesterday
to amend the measure, the republicans today marshalled their forces
for an assault upon the proposed revision downward of duties on steel
manufactures.

Representative A. Mitchell Palmer
of Pennsylvania, democratic caucus
chairman, was the chief lieutenant
today of Majority Leader Underwood
in defense of the steel schedule. He is credited with having written that section of the bill.

A few paragraphs of the earthen
ware schedule remained to be disposed of when the house met, but it
was expected that these would be quickly approved.

The minority faced continued stone
wall opposition of the democrats
against the amendment of the bill.
Of the twenty-four pages so far finished the republicans have failed to amend a single word. Notwithstanding, they continued their attack of
ridicule and presented a flood of amendments.

Republican Leader Mann produced
the democratic steel bill of last session in an attempt to show that the majority, in the present bill are inconsistent and have abandoned all
previous declarations.

Republican leaders assailed the
proposed increase on ferro-mangan-

SPEND HONEYMOON ON TOMB'S STEPS

NEW YORK, April 30.—
"Waiting at the church" was changed to "waiting at the tomb" for little Mrs. Lewis Bauman, the bride of Policeman
Bauman, attached to an upper
west side station. All night long
Mrs. Bauman sat on the steps of Grant's tomb on Riverside
Drive, while her husband paced
up and down on his "fixed post"
half a block away.
The Baumans were married at 9 o'clock last night. The policeman took his bride to the station house, expecting his captain to give him a day or two off
for a honeymoon. Instead Captain Gray ordered Bauman to
take his post as usual from midnight until 8 o'clock this morning, as he had no man to spare
as a substitute. Mrs. Bauman
decided to go on vigil near her
young husband, so she camped
on the tomb's steps all night.

Commerce Board

FIVE NOTED ENGINEERS CHOSEN

Men Pre-eminent in Particular Lines to Carry Out La Follette
Idea

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The interstate commerce commission
announces today the appointment of the following engineers who will have direct charge of the physical valuation of railroads:

A. A. Thompson, now employed in valuation work by the California state commission and formerly employed in like work by the Texas state commission, who is "loaned"
by the California board.

Prof. W. D. Pence, chief engineer
Wisconsin railroad and tax commission, and who has for some time been engaged in the Badger state in-valuation work.

J. S. Worley of Kansas City, Mo., a consulting engineer in private practice, who had had experience in valuation work.

Howard M. Jones of Nashville, Tenn., consulting engineer in private practice, who is especially familiar with bridge engineering.

E. F. Wendt of Pittsburgh, Pa., president of the American Society of Civil Engineers, now in charge of engineering work of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad.

The commission announced that it was now seeking to perfect arrangements whereby an army engineer could be added to the board.

INDICT JOHNSON AGAIN

CHICAGO, April 30.—The seventh
indictment, charging Jack Johnson,
negro pugilist, with violation of the Mann white slave act, was returned
by the federal grand jury today. Mr.
Johnson is charged with transport-
ing Belle Schreiber, a white girl,
from Pittsburgh to Chicago, for im-
moral purposes on one of his exhibition trips. This latest indictment is said to be based on evidence given by "Yank" Kenny, Johnson's former trainer.

FRENCH SNUB PEARY

PARIS, April 30.—Though Rear
Admiral Peary, discoverer of the north pole, has been in France since Monday the French Geographical society has ignored his presence. It was reported that the snub was administered because he submitted his
polar proofs to the Royal Geographical society of Great Britain and omitted to submit them to the French
organization.

WOULD TRACE LIQUOR BUYERS

TOPEKA, Kas., April 30.—Suit
was brought in the supreme court today by Attorney General J. S. Dawson against the Wells-Fargo, United States, American and Adams Express
companies to compel them to file
statements showing to whom shipments of liquor were made under the
law passed by the state last session
of the legislature, which went into effect today.

WOULD REPEAL TOLLS

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Repeal
of the "free tolls" given American
coastwise vessels in using the Panama canal is proposed in a bill introduced in the house today by Representative Britton (Dem., Ill.). He will also place coastwise vessels under control of the interstate commerce commission.

ILLNESS HALTS PROBE

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 30.—The serious illness at North Manchester, Ind., of the 70 years old mother of Superintendent of Schools S. L. Heet-er, today temporarily halted the probe by a citizens' committee on charges against Heeter.

MILITANT QUARTERS RAIDED BY POLICE

W. S. P. U. Main Offices in London Captured by
the British Authorities

WOMEN EJECTED—PLACE CLOSED

Suffragettes Unceremoni-
ously Dumped Into the Street and Building
Closed

LONDON, April 30.—Evidently
"fighting fire with fire," Home Secretary McKenna turned "militant"
today and Scotland Yard raided the Women's Social and Political union
headquarters in King's Way, hot bed
of suffragette militancy.

Superintendent Quinn of the Yard,
himself led the spectacular raid, witnessed by thousands, and all books,
documents, and literature of the union
were confiscated. Suffragettes
who objected too strenuously were promptly arrested and jailed.

Raid Newcastle Quarters

About the same time the suffra-
gettes of Newcastle-on-Tyne discovered that their local women's Social
and Political union headquarters had
been forcibly entered early in the
day and smashed as completely as
though militants had done the job.

Windows, doors and desks were
smashed and typewriters put out of
commission, so that it looked like anti-suffragettes had done the mischief,
but when the women discovered that
their books and papers were missing,
they charged the police with making
the raid.

All of the women were forced from
the London building and warned not
to try to come back. They were told
they would be arrested if they did
so. A cordon of uniformed officers
surrounded the headquarters and
when the detectives had finished
their search, Supt. Quinn locked the offices and left plain clothes men on guard within and without.

Strip All Furniture

As soon as the union headquarters
were cleared of the suffragettes the
police began stripping the building
of all its furniture, indicating that
the home office intends permanently
to break up the organization. Arthur Marshall, counsel for Mrs. Emmelie Pankhurst, said that the police even forbade the men to remove
their personal belongings and were preparing to confiscate everything in
the rooms.

Seven of the suffragettes were arrested and taken to Bow street. They are: Miss Annie Kenney, chief of staff to Mrs. Pankhurst and "Gen."
Mrs. Flora Drummond, who already
are under arrest and awaiting trial
for conspiracy and malicious destruction. Miss Kerr, acting secretary of the union, Miss Lake, business manager of the union's publication, Miss Lennox and Miss Barrett, assistant
editors of the publication and Mrs.
Saunders, financial secretary of the union.

The raid on the union headquarters was ordered by the home office,
upon evidence gathered by women
detectives of Scotland Yard who
posed as suffragettes and got themselves into the inner circle of the organization. With General Mrs.
Drummond as judge advocate and the cabinet as jury women the suffragettes recently court martialed
Mrs. Mary Ford, a New York militant for "treason" but apparently
their vigilance was too late, for Mrs.
Ford was not among the sleuths who
betrayed the union secrets.

Armed with light of search warrant, the detectives searched the
headquarters thoroughly, even going
through the hand bags of women
who were not arrested. They seized
a lot of correspondence, including
letters alleged to incriminate many militants in matters for which they can be prosecuted.

Haul Down Flag

The crowning indignity came when
officers hauled down the W. S. P. U.
flag from the standard on top of the
building and confiscated it.

The men from the yard did their
work thoroughly, and the headquarters soon were completely denuded.
It was evident from the way they went about it that Home Secretary McKenna is determined to stamp out
the Women's Social and Political union.
The secretary has been in consultation with the king recently and
it is rumored that the government
from now on will take the most
drastic action that British laws allow to put down militancy.

A. H. Bodkin, the prosecutor, announced to the court that the government is determined to put down violence on the part of the suffragettes.
He said that any suffragette addressing a public meeting anywhere would
be arrested and jailed, and that the police would prosecute any person
purchasing militant literature, or contributing to W. S. P. U. funds.

Suppress Paper

The police seized proof sheets and several galley of type set up for tomorrow's issue of the Suffragette, the union's publication. They forbade
the further publication of the newspaper, and declared that anybody
printing the literature of the union,
as well as purchasing it, and subscribing to suffragette funds, would
be prosecuted.

A ROOSTER'S CROW GETS PARTY PULLED

CHICAGO, April 30.—Seven
neophytes, under process of initiation into the "goats club," an organization that includes a number of prominent automobile
men, wound up in a police station early today because a rooster, hidden under an automobile
seat, indiscreetly crowed.

A cocking main was to end the initiation ceremonies. Neophytes entered autos and were proceeding slowly by two police-
men conversing, on a corner,
when the rooster crowed.
"Chicken thieves," shouted
the copper, and he led a raid.
All but seven escaped. They
were released on bail.

WILL ASK PARDON FOR YTTRE SLAYER

Sisters of John Peterson in La Crosse Taking First
Steps to Get Him
Released

ALLEGED THAT HE WAS INSANE

Assert He Murdered Bride
in Fit of Insanity to
Which He Was Subject

A movement to obtain the pardon
of John Peterson of Retreat, Wis.,
who is now serving a life sentence
in Waupun for the murder of Mrs.
Ella Yttre, wife of Sever Yttre of Victory, Wis., in La Crosse September 26, 1912, was started in La Crosse yesterday. The attempt to procure a pardon is being made by
two sisters of the slayer who came here from their home in Seattle,
Wash., for that purpose.

Interview Officials

Miss Peterson, the younger sister,
and the other, a widow, spent the
entire day interviewing county officials
and attorneys attempting to interest
them in their case. They maintain
that although their brother is guilty
of the crime, he was insane when he committed it. They said that they could prove that he has been insane
at times for several years. After engaging Morris & Hartwell as their attorneys they left for Retreat, where
they will attempt to obtain corroborative evidence that their brother is insane. As both Mr. Morris and Mr.
Hartwell are out of town today the particulars of the case could not be learned.

Shortly after their arrival in La Crosse yesterday the sisters held conferences with former Sheriff Chris Burns and Undersheriff Louis Omer-
berg, who were in office at the time
of Peterson's arrest. They sought
information in regard to Peterson's
actions while in the county jail here.
It is probable that the matter will be taken up with the governor through
the attorneys engaged by the sisters.

History of Murder

John Peterson shot and killed Mrs.
Ella Yttre during fair week last year.
Immediately after he attempted to
end his own life by sending a bullet
through his head. He was taken to the hospital and after a month of treatment he recovered. He was arranged in circuit court on a charge of murder and pleaded guilty. He made no defense nor employed an attorney. He admitted that he had contemplated the crime for some time because the woman had refused to reciprocate his love. He was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge E. C. Higbee and was taken to Waupun immediately to begin his atonement. He said he was satisfied
to spend the rest of his life in prison
and expressed deep penitence for his
act.

Victim on Honeymoon

More than usual interest was aroused in the case because of the
fact that his victim had been married to his rival, Sever Yttre, only
the day before the murder. Mr. and Mrs. Yttre were in La Crosse on their honeymoon attending the Interstate fair.

Peterson is said to be failing in health as a result of his confinement
and it is the wish of his sisters to
have him transferred from the prison to an insane asylum or sanitarium. They do not believe he will live if a pardon is not granted.

BRYAN FAILS TO MODIFY MEASURE

California Solons Unmoved
by His Plea Against
the Alien Land
Law

EVEN DEMOCRATS REJECT ADVICE

Moose, Republicans and Democrats Determined
to Pass the
Bill

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 30.—
Practically acknowledging the failure of his efforts to modify the anti-alien land owning bill now pending
in the legislature, Secretary of State
Bryan today is enroute to San Francisco for a brief visit.

That the secretary of state had
been defeated in his effort was evident immediately after last night's session of the two houses, when Bryan, in a conversation with a knot
of assemblymen, said: "The president has done his duty as he saw it
and my task is practically ended."

Change Phrases Only

The statement came after a new
bill, drawn by Attorney General
Webb at the request of Governor
Johnson, had been submitted to Bryan
and after the legislators had practically declared they would debate
this measure Thursday and pass it.
It reiterates California's right to exclude any aliens and has exactly the same intent as the former bill, but
is more carefully phrased.

The former bill provides that
"aliens ineligible to citizenship cannot acquire land;" the new bill
merely substitutes the words "aliens
eligible to citizenship can acquire land." This is nothing but an inverse statement of the same determination.

Final action on the bill was postponed until Thursday because of Bryan's absence in San Francisco today, but progressive leaders make no
secret of their determination to pass
it.

In this connection it develops that
the democratic members sprung a sensation on Secretary Bryan at last night's executive session when they
said flatly that they were just as determined to exclude Japanese as republicans were. Assemblyman W.
C. Walla, who is secretary of the state democratic committee, told Bryan frankly that the "democrats
are unalterably pledged to anti-alien
land owning legislation," and are determined to vote for such a bill,
even if our votes mean that brown
feet shall trample California's soil
to back up Japan's demands."

Up to Washington

The general feeling here is that it is now up to Washington.
Secretary Bryan refuses to comment on the new Webb bill and it is
not known whether the national administration will regard it as discriminate and violative of existing treaties with Japan. The temper of the legislators is such, however,
that they will probably pass the measure
anyway.

Secretary Bryan will return here
from San Francisco tomorrow morning and will remain until the alien
situation is settled.

Governor Johnson declares the conferences with Bryan are over and
that the time has come to pass a law.
He said: "I think the majority of
the legislators feel I certainly do
myself—that no sufficient reason
has been presented to cause California to recall any completed legislation. It may be safely asserted that American treaty obligations will be scrupulously observed and the Japanese will not be singled out by any act."

Japan to Wait

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Japan
will make no further diplomatic representations to this government regarding its attitude on the California
alien land laws, until the bill has been formally made a statute. This information was given to the United Press today by a Japanese who is in
the best position to know.

Japan's attitude today, as it has
been throughout the negotiations on
the California legislation, is a most conciliatory one, he said, and at no
time have any diplomatic utterances
been made to the state department,
that might be construed as an "ultimatum." The Japanese government deeply regret the published accounts of the "jingo" meetings that are being held in Japan, and more deeply
regret the recent speech of Representative Sisson of Mississippi on the floor of the house, in which he advocated war, rather than any submission to what he said was Japan's "arrogant claims."

Until he received a detailed report
from Secretary of State Bryan regarding the outcome of his mission
to California, President Wilson will
withhold any statement of the administration's attitude toward the
amended land owning legislation
which is to be passed at Sacramen-
to.

Doubt Over New Law

Opinion is widely divided among
those close to the administration, regarding the success or failure of the Bryan mission. The change in phraseology of the pending bill
which is to be passed so that it defines what classes of aliens may own
and lease land has complicated the general situation. Whether the new

BURY DISCOVERER OF EGG SANDWICH

CHICAGO, April 30.—Faculty members of the University of Chicago and some of the "old boys" who munched doughnuts at her little shop thirty years ago were mourners at the funeral of Mary Ann Ingham who
"discovered" the egg sandwich.
Mrs. Ingham came to Chicago
shortly after the big fire. She sold pies and cookies to students of the old Chicago university and when the name was changed to the University of Chicago and John Rockefeller's
million flowed in for new buildings, "Mary Ann" followed.
The students called the little old
woman "Mother Mary Ann."
"I have never eaten raisin
pies that equal those that Mother
Mary Ann made," said Dean
Linn of the junior college today.

EUROPEAN AFFAIRS ARE MORE CLEAR

Montenegrin Situation Relieved by Austria Backing Down on Her Threat

ONLY A CLUB FOR THE POWERS

Threat to Invade the Tiny
Kingdom Made to Force
Concerted Action

LONDON, April 30.—The Montenegrin situation was believed in diplomatic circles to be somewhat clar-ified today, by Austria-Hungary's announcement that the dual monarchy
would not proceed against King
Nicholas.

When Austria-Hungary yesterday
allowed a semi-official statement to
go forth that she would declare war
against the little kingdom if Scutari
were not evacuated within twenty-four hours after today, it was a diplomatic move to urge the powers to quicker action. Austria-Hungary believed that by threatening action that
might involve other nations, the
powers might be persuaded to take immediate collective steps to coerce
the defiant King Nicholas.

To Force Action

The inflammatory editorials yesterday in the German and Viennese
newspapers diplomats say were inspired by the two governments to enforce united action.

Dispatches from Paris, Berlin and Vienna say that the bourses had a firmer tone than yesterday and that apparently confidence had been restored. Nevertheless the movement
of Austrian troops toward the frontier continues and thousands of men
are under arms, ready for instant action.

The report that Austria-Hungary
had recalled her minister at Cetinje
apparently was without foundation.

Austrian Diplomat Remains

CETTINJE, April 30.—The Montenegrin foreign office today made a semi-official statement that the report that Austria-Hungary had withdrawn her minister to Montenegro is premature. It was said that the envoy, Baron Giesel Von Gieslingen is still here.

EXPLAINS STATEMENT

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Attorney General McReynolds threw light
today on his statement in the supreme court a few days ago when he said that in granting an extension
until January 1 for the completion
of the plan for the dissolution of the Union and Southern Pacific merger,
the litigation might be avoided. When asked what he meant, he said:
"It will give the Southern Pacific
time to get rid of its Central Pacific
holdings, and thus remove a
real obstacle to carrying out the court's decree."

FALLS TO DEATH

CHICAGO, April 30.—Workers on
the new Conway building, a sky
scraper being erected in the Loop
district here, were horrified today
when John Wagner, 45, a riveter,
lost his balance and fell from the nineteenth story. His mangled body was found on the girders of the fourth floor. During its descent his body shot through the center of a group of ironworkers setting a girder
on the eleventh floor.

ture one at a time, A. J. Hoyt, a machineist, saved the lives of his wife, Mrs. W. H. Collins and her son John, six, when fire broke out in the Hoyt
home early today.

WHEEL BANDIT TAKEN

MILWAUKEE, April 30.—After a search of more than a week, Milwaukee's bicycle bandit, has been captured. Adolph Schweitzer, 23, arrested today, is said by the police to have confessed.

Step into This Car and you will know Real Comfort

Interior of the Cross Country body

THERE is something rare and inviting about the comfort of the Cross Country that once it is experienced you will never quite forget. You enter through wide doors—20½ inches—that open fully, stepping easily from a running board that is clear.

The broad, carpet-covered foot rest in the tonneau is in just the right position for thorough relaxation. You sink down into the deep upholstery and lean back to find the pitch just right for perfect ease. The steady, deliberate action of the springs gives to one that pleasurable sense of modulated motion undisturbed by any jar. The forward seats are just the right height and the steering pillar may be adjusted at any angle to suit the comfort of the operator.

The hands rest comfortably on the steering wheel and the foot accelerator is so conveniently located and shaped that pressure may be applied with any part of the foot, always avoiding a cramped position.

You must experience the feel of the Cross Country wheel. It's a delight. It turns without a single vibrating jar. Your arms don't tire, your legs don't cramp.

To drive this car is exhilarating. Press the button with your foot. With hardly an audible sound the motor starts. A single movement of the lever—you touch the throttle and it's away.

Drive the car for ten minutes and you will grin in spite of yourself through rare delight.

A beautiful four-color reproduction of the Cross Country, from an oil painting by R. Philip Brainerd, is ready for mailing. See the Cross Country by all means, at any Jeffery branch or dealer's display room, but send for the picture anyway.

Normal Dramatic Society to Stage "She Stoops to Conquer" Next Week

"She Stoops to Conquer," written by Oliver Goldsmith, is the play which the Buskin club of the normal school will present next week on the normal stage. This is one of the greatest of the eighteenth century comedies and abounds in humor and sparkling wit. The story of the play is in itself an interesting tale. Oliver Goldsmith wrote at a period when the father's word was law and "She Stoops to Conquer" embodies much of the old sentimentalism of the age. In order to obtain the love of a young man, the heroine becomes a bar maid, on account of the man's constantly flirting with that class of femininity.

Under the direction of Prof. D. O. Coate of the English department the Buskin Dramatic club has furnished a creditable cast and the public is urged to support this excellent effort in theatricals in the normal school.

The normal school brass band of thirty pieces will give its second open air concert tomorrow evening at 6:45 o'clock on the normal campus. Under the direction of President Fasset A. Cotton the following program will be rendered:

Joyce's 71st Regiment March.
Overture, "Golden Days," Mackie Beyer.

Largo, G. F. Handel.
Waltz, "Jolly Fellows," Vollstedt.
Jennie Polka, Waltz, Beyer.
March, "Battleship North Dakota," Mockie Beyer.

BILL IS MOVE IN FIGHT

MEASURE INTRODUCED WOULD MAKE OFFICE OF INSURANCE COMMISSIONER ELECTIVE BY LEGISLATURE

MADISON, Wis., April 30.—Another twist was taken in the McGovern-Ekern fight when a bill was introduced by the senate committee on corporations, of which Senator Bossard is chairman, and which provides:

1. The commissioner of insurance shall be chosen by the legislature by joint ballot upon the taking effect of this act, and every six years thereafter. Such commissioner shall hold office for six years and until his successor is appointed and qualified. Any vacancy shall be filled by the legislature for the unexpired term, and during recess of the legislature shall be filled by the governor until the vacancy is filled by the legislature.

2. No person shall be eligible to the office of commissioner of insurance who shall not be known to possess a knowledge of the subject of insurance and skill in matters pertaining thereto, nor who shall have any interest in any insurance company, association or fraternal benefit society, other than as a policyholder or a member of such company, association or society insured therein.

HOLD-UPS LEAVE MAN NEAR DEATH

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 30.—The latest holdup mystery for the police to solve is the possible fatal beating and robbing of a man supposed to be John Wyrenovic, 35 years old, 268 First avenue, whose unconscious body was found at Canal street and Muskego avenue, at midnight on Monday.

A policeman stumbled over Wyrenovic's body as it lay in a puddle in the lot. The injured man's pockets had been turned inside out and everything of value taken. He was taken to Emergency hospital where it was found that his skull was fractured near the base. A club or iron pipe had been used.

Some Turns.
Mrs. Willis—Is your husband of a literary turn of mind? Mrs. Willis—Yes. Whenever an idea turns up he turns it over in his mind, turns it out as a story, turns it in to an editor, who turns it around and turns it down.—Puck.

RICH FARMER TAKES TO DRINK

The drink habit grows on one. Very few drinkers realize this in the early years of their drinking. They will all tell you that "they can take a drink or let it alone," but they cannot. One drink creates a desire for another, and so on, when soon the habit is formed, when they must have drink.

This well-to-do farmer said that there was nothing to do but go to Minneapolis and take the Austin cure. He would only be in Minneapolis three days. At the end of the third day he was a new man, entirely free from the curse of drink. He had drank heavily for ten years, and he had kept on drinking to keep from becoming nervous and "going all to pieces," as he expressed it. He drank a quart of whiskey during the day and another half pint on going to bed, so he said.

The La Crosse Austin Sanitarium, 905 Main street, gives the same three day Austin treatment as is given at Minneapolis and in other cities.

YESTERDAY'S WORK IN THE LEGISLATURE

MADISON, Wis., April 30.—Nearly half the members of the assembly present last night took part in the debate on a bill requiring payment semi-monthly, or oftener, of wages to employees, and it finally was ordered engrossed by a vote of 55 to 30. The controversy settled on an amendment by Axel Johnson proposing to exempt employers of four persons or less. This referred to farmers, and the city members protested against what they called class legislation. Despite the many objections made to the amendment, it was adopted by the large vote of 71 to 16.

The bill was then ordered engrossed by a voice vote. The assembly split on a bill providing for one day's rest in seven. An amendment by Assemblyman Hansen exempting operators of railroad trains was adopted after a hard fight, by a vote of 46 to 40.

By a close vote Senator Scott's bill creating the "Wisconsin state board of accountancy" for the examination and licensing of public accountants was ordered to third reading by the assembly.

Passage was voted for the bills prescribing strict regulation of the sale of cocaine, and they now go to the governor. Assemblyman Hawn's bill imposing upon the state industrial commission the duty of enforcing the laws on excise, sale of cigarettes, etc., was killed.

Final passage was voted for the following bills among others: Conway—Providing for the naming of an attorney for the nearest of kin in settling estates.

Monk—Providing for a local and state conference of health officers. Committee on education and public welfare (senate)—Empowering cities to employ obstetrical and visiting nurses.

Senate committee on corporations—Bringing district electrical telegraph and telephone corporations under the public utility law. (Refers to the A. D. T. company).

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop druging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what you need—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and easily, should have a copy. WASHINGTON INVESTED BY ANOTHER COXEY ARMY

What is the attraction in public office that causes thousands of able bodied men in this country to make a wild onslaught on Washington whenever a new administration takes the reins of government. President Wilson, by declining to see job hunters, has conserved his own time and energy for larger affairs, but he also, has doubled the troubles of his cabinet. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, besieged by the hungry throng, has been forced to leave his office by stealth and take refuge in a small hotel.

The fact that we have such a Coxey's army of place-seekers is small comfort to the nation at large. Public office that is filled by appointment lacks the security which is the attractive feature of the places under the classified civil service. The salaries paid are not large. The work, however, in some cases is easy.

Is an "easy" job the accepted ideal? It would be discreditable to the great body of self-supporting, independent Americans if this were true. But it isn't. Most live men like positions that call for initiative, daring, original thought, that have the stimulus of difficulty, of obstacles to be overcome, of knotty problems to be met.

The truth is that there are no worth while jobs, in or out of the government service, that are really easy. Uncle Sam, because he is not so careful about the details of his work as he should be, has numerous places where petty men can drone away their lives doing petty work, but when it comes to the big tasks he is as strict as the average employer.

It would be well if the office-seekers understand once and for all that the only way to a fat salary is by being able to do the work better than the other fellow can do it. Not only that, but he must be able to do it more decisively, more quickly and more easily, so that his energy is not frittered away in the minor details. If a man has these qualifications, however, the chances are that he sticks to private business and is not bothering government officials.

THOUGHTS UPON OPENING OF A NEW BANKING HOME

As we saw the impressive opening of the new home of the State Bank of La Crosse Monday, we were impressed by something more beautiful than the exquisite furniture and attractive interior, than the clean-smiling officials and employees, the congratulating visitors and the glorious flowers. Back of this we saw a great, world-dominating principle. We saw that this institution stood for all the blessings that flow from wholesome wealth well applied. It seemed to us that there was an imaginary stairway leading into the bank, and beginning at the bottom the steps in this stairway were named Honesty, Thrift, Competence, Independence, Success, Education, Enlightenment, Charity, Christianity.

"Save and teach all you are interested in to save; thus pave the way for moral and material success."

Thus spoke Thomas Jefferson, and Thomas knew, for Thomas saved, and none doubts that Thomas Jefferson was "a material success." Just how the little savings mean much was sensed by Disraeli when he said:

"The great secret of success in life is to be ready when our opportunity comes."

That is it—just having the nest egg of capital when the investment of your lifetime presents itself, when the golden chance arrives. And in the case of most men in this democratic age it is the little accumulations squeezed out between modest earnings and the high cost of living that furnish the start. They bring more than the bright prospect of your big chance, they bring independence and security. Benjamin Franklin is one of the philosophers who understood that, for Franklin said:

"Save a little of thy income and thy hide-bound pocket will soon begin to thrive and thou wilt never cry again with an empty stomach; neither will creditors insult thee, nor want oppress, nor hunger bite—nor wilt nakedness freeze thee. The whole hemisphere will shine brighter, and pleasure spring up in every corner of thy heart."

Samuel Smiles says that "thrift began with civilization . . . long before money was made," and Wayland evidently believes that thrift is better than daring enterprise, for he observes:

"Wealth is not always acquired, as many suppose, by fortunate speculations and splendid enterprises, but by the daily practice of industry and frugality and economy. He who relies upon these means will rarely be found destitute, and he who relies upon any other will generally become bankrupt."

This is the practical side of economy, but we do not value it in the mere sense of having—just having. Money is but an instrument of better things than money-getting. Rightly employed it means more than enjoyment. For instance it means travel, and travel is enjoyable, but travel is valuable for more than the pleasure in it—travel means cultivation. Money means education; it means right opportunities for the children and better men and women in the future; it means better brains capable of better lives and better-appreciated and better-lived religion. Money is the key to the full, wholesome life. But beware! The key will unlock another door—the door of the down-grade valley of self and death. We must employ honest money to unlock the right door.

La Crosse is known as a "banking center," and it does indeed enjoy fine facilities for a city of its class. It has five banks, ranging from those of modest capital to big and powerful institutions. They are in the hands of wise and manly men, a coterie of whom to be proud. They appeal to us daily by their example, by the suggestion their own success affords that saving means success. Some of us, at forty, realize that had we used them more as depositors we should have less use for them as borrowers. If this paper could instill into the up-coming generation in La Crosse the vital wisdom of thrift it would feel that the years of labor its upbuilding has involved had been amply compensated.

Eggs are only three cents a dozen in China. Any egg dealer in the United States would tell us the eggs were either poor quality or weren't from sanitary hens.

Abdul Hamid, ex-sultan of Turkey, says civilization is all wrong. It all depends on the point of view. Civilization thinks that Abdul Hamid is all wrong.

The Wellesley girls who say they will not marry men who earn less than $5,000 a year will never become wives of foreign noblemen anyhow.

Did you ever notice the expression on a man's face when a homely woman sits down beside him in a street car?

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

No Authority

A gentleman was sorely out of patience by some blunder of his new groom.

"Look here," he cried in his anger. "I won't have things done in this way! Do you think I'm a fool?" "Sure, sorr," said the groom, "O! can't say, sorr. O! only came here yesterday."—Tit-Bits.

At Least, the Yolks

"When visiting a certain town in Massachusetts," says a Bostonian, "I was told of an extraordinary incident wherein the main figure, an economical housewife, exhibited, under trying circumstances, a trait so characteristic of New England women."

"It seems that an elderly lady of the place had by mistake taken a quantity of poison—mercurial poison, the antidote for which, as everybody knows, comprises the whites of eggs."

"When this antidote was being administered, the order for which the unfortunate lady had overheard, she managed to murmur, although almost unconscious:

"Mary! Mary! Save the yolks for the pudding!"—Harper's Magazine.

A Task Ahead

"Mamma, what would you do if that big vase in the parlor should be broken?" said Tommy.

"I should thrash whoever did it," said Mrs. Banks, gazing severely at her little son.

"Well, then, you'd better begin to get up your muscle," said Tommy, gleefully, "cos father's broken it."

He Was Truthful

A lawyer had a horse that always balked when he attempted to cross a certain bridge leading out of the village. No amount of whipping or urging would induce him to cross it, so he advertised him for sale. "To be sold for no other reason than that the owner would like to leave town."

—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Agile Locomotives

"What are the passengers looking out of the window for?" asked a nervous lady passenger on the train as the conductor came through.

"We ran over a cat, madam," said the conductor.

"Was the cat on the track?" she next asked.

"Oh, no, ma'am," assured the conductor. "The locomotive chased her up the alley."—What to Eat.

Solicitors

The door bell rang, and the mother, who was not dressed, sent her little girl to entertain the visitor in the interim—or parlor. It was a lady book agent. The little girl sought to engage her in conversation.

"How is your boy?" she asked.

"Why," replied the lady, "I haven't any little boy."

"No little boy? Well—how is your little girl?"

"But I have no little girl, either."

"Well," persisted the child, nonplussed, "what are yours?"—Everybody's Magazine.

The Working Man's Friend In Time of Sickness

I am a blacksmith by trade and would like to say a word to all who have to work hard and suffer with their kidneys. I suffered for about ten years and was treated by a Waynesboro, Va., doctor. He said that I had Bright's disease and that he had done all he could for me. I read about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and as I could hardly do a day's work, was willing to try anything that would do me any good. After taking Swamp-Root a few days I felt so much better that I continued until I felt that I was cured and I was. I felt a new man. That was eight years ago and if I ever feel the least pain about my kidneys I just take a few doses of Swamp-Root and in a few days I am all right. I feel today that I am a well man and would say to all who suffer with their kidneys, take Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, for it has done more for me than all the doctors, and saved doctors' bills.

I can further say that about two years ago my son was sick in bed and was taking medicine from doctors and got worse all the time. I went in the night and got a fifty cent bottle of Swamp-Root and told him to lay aside all the doctors' medicines and take Swamp-Root. He took six bottles and I am glad to say that he is well today and has not had any trouble with his kidneys since. It was Swamp-Root that cured him. My son now thinks that there is no medicine that a doctor can give that can compare with Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

Very truly yours,
G. W. HARDING,
Covington, Va.

Personally appeared before me this 8th day of March, 1912, G. W. Harding, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that same is true in substance and in fact.

IN The WORLD OF WOMEN

The sixteenth annual congress of the Woman's Whist League will be held in Detroit, April 28th to May 1st. Mrs. Charles F. Bielman of Detroit, is president; Miss M. H. Campbell, New York, and Mrs. Walter H. Barney of Providence, R. I., vice presidents; Mrs. Charles L. Taylor, Pittsburg, recording secretary, and Mrs. George H. Reed, Jersey City, treasurer.

The lower house of the California legislature has passed a bill which has for its object the enfranchisement of women who have been deprived of citizenship by reason of having married aliens. These women found the passage of the suffrage bill still left them without a vote because, under the present law, the wife takes the citizenship of her alien husband and is disfranchised even though native born.

Sir John Lubbock, Born April Thirtieth, 1834.

I Corinthians 11, 14.

"Doth not even nature itself teach you?" Sir John Lubbock was among that company of men who have been at the same time men of business, jollities and science. He was distinguished in them all. He knew how to get much out of life and as he said, "The world would be both better and brighter if we would dwell on the duty of happiness as well as on the happiness of duty."

DYING MOTHER

YEARS FOR SON

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 30.—A dying mother's yearning for a long lost son has caused a renewal of the search for Albert Dusseau of Toledo, O.

The following letter was received by the Milwaukee police Tuesday afternoon:

"May God be good and help you find Albert for us. Mother is slowly dying. Her pitiful calling and crying for her first born is becoming almost unbearable. Her confidence in the return of my brother is still unbroken. He will come back to his old mother," she keeps saying. We in Wisconsin.

"CHARLES J. DUSSEAU."

Albert Dusseau is said to have left home two years ago.

CALL TARIFF MEET

CHICAGO, April 29.—The Illinois Manufacturers' association is today mailing out invitations to manufacturers and producers all over the country, calling them to a national tariff conference to be held in Washington, D. C., May 8. The object of the conference decided upon last night, is to frame an amendment to the pending tariff measure giving the president authority to remove articles from the free list.

$10,000 FIRE LOSS

MILWAUKEE, April 29.—Ten thousand dollars was the estimated damage done by fire that broke out early today in the plant of the Universal Machinery company here.

Gratitude

Not long ago, in a western market town, I chanced to observe an Irishman with a live turkey under his arm. The turkey was snawking and gobbling in a distressed way, a racket to which the Irishman did not at first pay any particular notice. Finally, however, the disturbance got on the Celt's nerves. Giving the bird a poke in the side, he exclaimed:

"Be quiet, you! What's the matter wid ye, anyhow. Why should ye want to walk whin I'm willing to carry ye?"—Harper's Magazine.

The Just and The Unjust

"I would deny you nothing," said her father fervently.

"Dismiss the carriage, and we will walk to the station; there is time?"

"Yes."

For a little while they walked on in silence, the girl's hands clasped about her father's arm.

"I can not understand it yet!" said Elizabeth at length, speaking in a fearful whisper. "It is incredible. Oh, can't you save him—can't you?"

The general did not trust himself to answer her.

"We have failed. Do you think it would have been different if Judge Belknap had not been called away?"

"And now we must go back to him? We were to have telegraphed him; we won't now, will we?"

"My poor, poor Elizabeth!" cried the general brokenly.

"How shall I ever tell him?"

"I will go alone," said the general.

"No, no—I must see him! You are sure we have time to catch our train—if we should miss it—and the thought gave her a sudden feverish energy."

"You need not hurry," her father assured her.

"But look at your watch!" she entreated.

"We have half an hour," he said.

"You can think of nothing more to do?" she asked, after another brief silence.

"Nothing, dear."

Little was said until they boarded the train, but in the drawing-room of the Pullman which her father had been able to secure, Elizabeth's restraint forsook her, and she abandoned herself to despair. Her father silently took his place at her side. Oppressed and preoccupied, the sting of defeat unmitigated, he was struggling with the problem of the future. The morrow with its hideous tragedy seemed both the end and the beginning. One thing was clear to him, they must go away from Idle Hour where North had been so much a part of Elizabeth's life.

Nothing had been added to this decision when at length the train pulled into Mount Hope.

"We are home, dear," he said gently.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR.

The Last Long Day.

A long day, the last of many long days he told himself, was ended, and John North stood by his window. Below in the yard into which he was looking, but within the black shadow cast by the jail, was the gallows. Though indistinguishable in the darkness, its shape was seared on his brain, for he had lived in close fellowship with all it emphasized. It was his gallows, it had grown to completion under his very eyes that it might destroy him in the last hour.

There had been for him a terrible fascination in the gaunt thing that gave out the odor of new wood; a thing men had made with their own hands; a clumsy device to inflict a brutal death; a left-over from barbarism which denied every claim of civilization and Christianity! Now, as the moon crept up from behind the distant hills, the black shadows retreated, and as he watched, timber by timber the gallows stood forth distinct in the soft clear light. In a few hours, unless the governor interfered, he would pass through the door directly below his window. He pictured the group of grave-faced nervous officials, he saw himself bound and blindfolded and helpless in their midst.

His fingers closed convulsively about the iron bars that guarded his window, but the feeling of horror that suddenly seized him was remote from self-pity. He was thinking of Elizabeth. What unspeakable wretchedness he had brought into her life, and he was still to bequeath her this squalid brutal death! It was the crowning shame and misery to the long months of doubt and fearful suspense.

Up from the earth came the scent of living, growing things. The leaves of the great maples in the court-house grounds rustled in the spring breeze, there was the soft incessant hum of insect life, and over all the white wonderful moonlight. But he had no part in this universal renewal—he was to die his purposeless unheroic death in the morning. For himself he could almost believe he no longer cared; he had fully accepted the idea. He had even taken his farewell of the few in Mount Hope who had held steadfast in their friendship, and there only remained for him to die decently; to meet the inevitable with whatever courage there was in his soul.

He heard Brockett's familiar step and suddenly, intent and listening, he faced the door; but the deputy came slowly down the corridor and as he entered the cell, paused and shook his head.

"No word yet, John," he said regretfully.

"Is the train in?" asked North.

"Yes, Conklin went down to meet it. He's just back; I guess they'll come on the ten-thirty."

North again turned listlessly toward the window.

"I wouldn't own myself beat yet, John!" said the deputy.

"I've gone down at every crisis! I didn't think the grand jury would indict me, I didn't think I would be convicted at the trial!" He made a weary gesture. "What right have I to think they will be able to influ-

A New Method of Baking Cakes

Mrs. Nevada Briggs, the baking expert, says:

"There is just one way to make your cakes rise high and evenly—give them time to rise before a crust is formed and the batter is stiffened by cooking."

"If using a gas, gasoline or oil stove, light your oven when you put the cake in and keep the flame low until the cake has doubled in bulk; then increase the heat until it is evenly browned and will respond to the pressure of the finger. If using a coal or wood range, leave the oven door open until the cake is in; then turn on the drafts and by the time the oven is at baking temperature, the cake will have raised sufficiently."

For rich, moist, feathery cakes Mrs. Briggs always recommends

KC BAKING POWDER

It is double acting and sustains the raise. You can open and close the oven door, turn the tin around in the oven or do anything else necessary, without any danger of making the cake fall.

Try your favorite cake next time with K C Baking Powder and see how much higher it will rise. Make it just as you always do, with the same quantity of baking powder. While K C is less expensive than the old fashioned baking powders, it has even greater leavening strength and it is guaranteed pure and healthful.

YOU NEED A TONIC

Pe-ru-na is One of the Original Spring Tonics of This Country. It Has Stood the Test of Time

In all countries where the four seasons are well defined, winter, spring, summer, autumn, most people find themselves in the spring of the year in need of a spring tonic. Some medicinal men laugh at this idea. Nevertheless it is a fact, based on the experience of millions of people every spring. The common experience of mankind cannot be "laughed out of court." A spring tonic is demanded.

The crisp, stimulating air of winter has given place to the languorous, enervating, soporific influences of spring atmosphere. A spring tonic is needed. No better one can be selected than Peruna.

The symptoms which indicate the need of a spring tonic are: First, sleep poorly. Second, always tired out. Third, very nervous. Fourth, sometimes have foolish fears. Fifth, confusion of the senses. Sixth, brown moving specks before the eyes. Seventh, subject to spells of prostration. Eighth, dark circles around the eyes. Ninth, system out of order generally. Tenth, food seems to give no strength.

One of the people who writes us of his experience with spring tonics is Mr. J. O. Doggett of Piedmont, South Carolina, P. O. box 88. He says: "I have tried many kinds of medicine that claim to do wonders as a spring

Once more he became aware of the incessant hum of the insect world, and the rustling of the great maples in the court-house grounds.

RUNAWAY BOYS ARE FOUND BY POLICEMAN

Two boys who gave their names as Fred Banes, 13, and Francis McDonald, 14, both from Minneapolis, were found wandering around the Burlington railroad yards late last night, by Patrolman Frank Groeschner.

What attracted the policeman to the boys, was that they were well dressed, but wore down cast faces.

When questioned they said that they had left Minneapolis a few days ago, with the intention of traveling to Chicago via the "side door pullman route" as they had little money. Between them they had $11.

There were taken to central police station, and will be held under their parents can be communicated with. They evidently have come from good homes.

CAUGHT ENTERING STORE AT NIGHT

Patrolman Groeschner Captures Man Crawling Over Transom at Knutson's Grocery

HAD GUNNY SACK IN HIS COAT

Says He Was Looking for Something to Eat when Questioned by the Police

Upon investigation of a dark, shadowy form, that he saw climbing over the transom of Knutson's Grocery store, on Kane and Gillette streets, this morning at 4:15, Patrolman Frank Groeschner discovered a man, with one leg inside the transom and the other outside. He evidently intended to rob the store. At Central station this morning the man gave his name as George Van Courtland, of 905 Nicollette avenue, Minneapolis.

Groeschner, who was walking his beat across the street approached the man with a drawn revolver, and a flash light, commanding him to come down to the sidewalk. He obeyed without the patrolman having to use any forcible means. Upon searching the man his coat was found to contain a gunny sack.

Van Courtland was taken to No. 4 police station and later taken to central station, where he is being held. The police are looking up the man's record in Minneapolis. He had no money when found. He said he was looking for something to eat when questioned by the police.

ALABAMA SUFFERS MILITANT ATTACK

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 30.—Suffragettes early today tore up the courts of the Billeby Tennis club and destroyed all the grass surrounding them with acid. "Votes for Women" was scrawled across the courts in white lime.

DYNAMITE KILLS TWO

LYONS, Ia., April 30.—An investigation is in progress today to determine how a stick of dynamite got into a bag of old rags at the paper mill of the Ford Manufacturing company here last night and exploded when it was being handled by workmen causing the death of two and injury of four.

Making Extra Trouble.

A traveler in a southern state reached a town one night where the only hotel had a single bathroom. Feeling tired and dusty after his trip the traveler summoned the porter and asked him to make ready the bath. "Laws, massa," exclaimed the negro, "you gemmen gimme lots of wuk. Here it is only Thursday and wanting a bath. Can't you wait until Saturday, like the other white folks?"

The Awakening.

"You're looking mighty sour; what's the matter? Honeymoon over?" "I guess so." "How'd that happen?" "Oh, we were drifting along down life's enchanted stream, like the poet tells about, and just as I was thinking I should like to drift on and on with her forever, she up and told me that she had got to have some money.—Houston Post.

American View.

"So you don't approve of those London suffragettes?" "I don't know much about them," replied Miss Cayenne; "but I can't help feeling that a woman who can't subdue a few men without the use of dynamite is something of a failure."—Washington Star.

Open the Door, Anyway.

"Many a time when a man thinks opportunity is knocking at his door, it is only the cat, wanting to get in." But he makes a big mistake if, on account of this suspicion, he does not open it.

Fish Unhurt by Frost.

During several months of each year some of the great rivers of Siberia are frozen solid to the bottom, but the fishes imprisoned in the ice maintain their vitality and resume their active life when the ice melts in the spring.

SWITCHMAN CAUGHT BETWEEN TWO CARS

Edward Giroux Badly Hurt When Pinched by Draw Bar; Hip Is Crushed

Edward Giroux, a switchman in the north side yards of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, is lying in the St. Francis hospital in a serious condition from an accident which occurred to him at 3:15 this morning, while coupling two coaches of a passenger train together.

When passenger train No. 101 arrived at the north side station this morning, a stub was made up to carry passengers to the south side. A coach had been switched from the passenger and Giroux stepped in to couple it to the end of the train, and as the two coaches came together, he was unexpectedly caught by a draw bar, having his hip crushed. Part of the bone was fractured, and the flesh was badly torn.

Upon hearing his cry, George Smith, foreman of the switch crew ran to his aid. Giroux was taken to the south side on the stub. Dr. F. Suiter was then called, and he was taken to the St. Francis hospital.

Reports from the hospital state that Giroux is in a very serious condition, but the exact extent of his injuries have not been determined.

LADIES' AID ENTERTAINED

Mrs. L. Holm, 1613 Berlin street and Mrs. P. Granum, 1524 Prospect street, entertained the Ladies' Aid society of the Norwegian Lutheran church in the church parlors this afternoon.

Live Longer Nowadays.

Life insurance folk say, says the New York Telegraph, that the expectation of life nowadays is well above seventy, and that persons nowadays are supposed to live at least until they are eighty, and if they reach that age should last until they are ninety, and so on, and about five out of every two hundred persons should walk the earth for a century.

Age.

It takes the fairest of the young, and touches each of them with change and loss. The skin, once so soft that even the lover was half fearful in touching it, stiffens its texture, and the transparent veil, through which soft lights and tender colors played, hides impenetrably those hoverings and vanishings of mood. The undulations of the cheek drop with care. All the gracious perfection is reduced.—Collier's Weekly.

Your Friends.

Treat your friends for what you know them to be. Regard no surfaces. Consider not what they did, but what they intended.—Thoreau.

Mrs. Mary Winthrop Turner and "Beautiful Doll."

The finest specimen at the recent exhibit of the French Bull Dog Club of America in New York city was "Beautiful Doll," a large white French bull belonging to Mrs. Mary Winthrop Turner, a New York society woman. At Shelter Island where Mrs. Turner has her kennels there has been much activity during the show days, for Mr. T. M. Turner is very much in sympathy with his beautiful young wife in her prize kennels.

Explaining the Explanation.

The chemico-physical explanation of the universe goes but a little way. These are the tools of the creative process, but they are not that process, nor its prime cause. Start the flame of life going, and the rest may be explained in terms of chemistry; start the human body developing, and physiological processes explain its growth; but why it becomes a man and not a monkey—what explains that?—John Burroughs, in the Atlantic.

No Use Trying.

Come to think of it, the man doesn't exist who can blow out an electric light.

UNVEIL STATUE OF THOMAS JEFFERSON

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 30.—One hundred and ten years ago today the treaty between the United States and France by which this country came into possession of the vast territory in the middle west, known as the Louisiana Purchase, was signed. In commemoration of that event, which gave to the United States a country larger than many of the great powers of Europe, and in memory of Thomas Jefferson, through whose efforts mainly, the purchase was made, federal and state officials gathered here today to witness the dedication of the half million dollar Jefferson Memorial and the unveiling of the Jefferson statue in Forest Park.

DOG SAVED TWO LIVES

PERFORMERS AT MAJESTIC SAVED FROM DEATH IN BURNING HOTEL BY FAITHFUL BULLDOG BUSTER

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Harrah, the two who the "straight" skating in the roller skating act at the Majestic last week, have a profound affection for a bulldog they carry with them constantly. The reason for their regard is that the dog saved them from death in a hotel fire in Los Angeles.

The Harrahs were in the St. George hotel in the coast city when it was destroyed by fire November 18. They were on the sixth floor, and knew nothing of the fire until awakened by a dog buster. They discovered that their escape was cut off by either elevator or stairs, and that the window was the only way out.

Six steps is a long jump, but the sight of landing net below encouraged the first Mr. Harrah carefully dropped his wife into the net, then he and Buster go, and finally leaped himself.

Both are slightly injured, and were placed on adjoining beds in the hospital. They were restless and unhappy over the disappearance of Buster, who would not be located after the fire. A few days later a fireman strolled to the hotel leading the bulldog, who had been found hanging about the burned hotel next day.

The dog leaped upon the bed of his master, king his hand and barking with joy and then flung across to Mrs. Harrah's cot, his stubby tail beside her to express his joy.

"Rich" then," says Mr. Harrah, "we beg to get better."

God's Designs.
I don't believe that the creator made man to leave him in an endless struggle with the intellectual miseries that surround us. I am ignorant of his designs, but I cannot cease to believe them because I cannot fathom them and I had rather mistrust my own capacity than his justice.—De Tocqueville.

Didn't Look Good to Her.
My five-year old niece went to a restaurant with me one day. I ordered some hash for both of us. When the waitress set it on the table my niece kept looking at it. I asked her why she didn't eat and she replied, "Auntie, I don't eat anything that looks like a puzzle to me."—Chicago Tribune.

No Excitement.
A young man was compelled by his father to turn farmer against his will. Nothing the profession, he went and engaged himself, leaving this written statement: "Farming is a most senses pursuit; a mere laboring in a city. You saw that you may reap, and you reap that you may sow! Notice ever comes of it."—Life.

Flowers From Germany.
Many ships 12,000,000 or 15,000,000 "pipes" or "crowns" of lilies of the valley to the United States every year. When these "pipes" are planted in they bloom and are then thrown away. German soil and the German climate seem especially favorable to their production.

DON'T SCOLD AN IRRITABLE CHILD

If tongue is coated, stomach sour, breath feverish, give "Syrup of Figs" to clean the bowels

Your child isn't naturally cross, irritable and peevish, Mother! Examine the tongue; if coated, it means the little ones' stomach is disordered, liver inactive and its thirty feet of bowels clogged with foul, decaying waste.

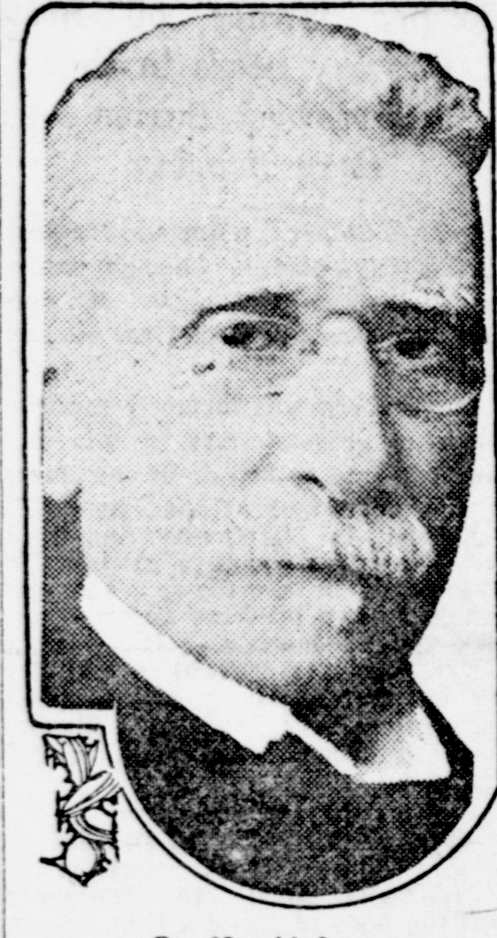

Every mother realizes after giving delicious "Syrup of Figs" that this is the ideal laxative and physic for children. Nothing else regulates the little one's tender stomach, liver and bowels so effectively, besides they dearly love its delightful fig taste.

For constipated bowels, sluggish liver, biliousness, or sour, disordered stomach, feverishness, diarrhoea, sore throat, bad breath or to break a cold, give one-half to a teaspoonful of "Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, sour bile, undigested food and constipated matter will gently move out and out of the system without griping or nausea and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful. Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

SAVES POPE PIUS X; GIVEN HIGH PRAISE

Dr. Marchiafava.

Now that Pope Pius X is out of danger, temporarily at least, Catholics are loud in their praise of Dr. Marchiafava, the pope's official physician. Dr. Marchiafava was constantly at the pontiff's bedside during the critical stages of the latter's illness, and it was due to his skill that the holy father's life was saved.

Fine Point.
"I thought that in the fifteen years of my practice of medicine," said a physician, "I had answered almost every possible foolish question, but a new one was sprung on me recently. A young man came in with an inflamed eye, for which I prescribed liniment—to be dropped into the eye three times a day. He left the surgery, but returned in a few minutes, poked his head in the door and asked: 'Shall I drop this in the eye before meals or after?'"

UNCLE JOE TURNS LOOSE WITH CLUB

Hits Democrats and Newspapers in Fiery Blue-flame Speech in Peoria

PEORIA, Ill., April 30.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon may be a lame duck, but so far he hasn't lost his "punch." Banquetters at a dinner given by the Peoria Transportation club quoted some of "Uncle Joe's" remarks today, carefully eliminating the phosphorescent atmosphere that hovered around them.

"Yes, I hope with all my hope and all the fiery energy there is in me that the democrats will make a good job of running the government," said the Danville sage, "but by — I don't expect them to."

Uncle Joe took a rap at the press with the statement: "See how we grab the morning papers. We look at the cartoons—yes, the cartoons. We read the glaring headlines which half the time are lies, and then we read the contradictory dispatches under them and the other half of the time they, too, are lies."

Speaking of former President Taft, he said: "If President Taft had been at the head of a great church and had been surrounded by circumstances and conditions as surrounded him in the last administration, the church would go flat broke and I never knew a more honest man in my life than President Taft."

New Thought Rare.

A new thought is a very rare thing, and it would be a magnificent creature to catch. The only things I can think of that one would really call "new thoughts" would be certain celebrated jokes, certain scientific discoveries and a few less frequent cases of a really original argument used in an old controversy.—G. K. Chesterton.

Which Has the Advantage?

It took the Almighty ages upon ages to evolve an animal that could fly, a bird, and it has taken ages and ages longer to evolve a human being that can fly; but if we, learning at last to fly, have not learned, also, more nobly to aspire and to live, the birds who have taken the short cut to aviation have the advantage over us.—John H. Finley, in the Atlantic.

U. S. CONSTITUTION WAS DRAFTED BY BIG INTERESTS

There is not a human throbbing in their deliberations.

Hamilton argued that one great advantage of encouraging manufacturing would be to better utilize the labor of "women, girls and CHILDREN OF A TENDER AGE."

The people, as "father" Gerry put it, was a "great beast," to be "restrained." They feared democracy, and for good reasons.

For example, they provided for the payment in full of the state and national debts, although the face value of the paper represented millions more than had ever been paid for it.

Then as soon as Washington was elected and Hamilton's "funding" scheme was established, forty of the men who drew that provision turned up at the United States treasury with quantities of soldiers' script and public securities which were promptly exchanged by Hamilton for government bonds. This script and paper had been bought by the fathers and their friends—the bankers and speculators—from the needy soldiers and holders at five, ten and twenty cents on the dollar! Some of them had actually been "tipped off," Beard declared, from the interior of the secret convention as to what would be done—and they bought right and left. The whole transaction netted a profit of at least $40,000,000 and was, the author laconically remarks, "the first really great achievement of nascent capitalism in the United States." Forty millions then would relatively equal two thousand millions now!

Rich Would Not Pay

The continental congress could not pay the soldiers and the national debt because taxes were then levied direct, in proportion to each man's wealth, and the rich refused to pay! That is the big secret why the old government failed.

The new government succeeded because the fathers abolished direct taxes, hated by the rich, and threw the burden of the support of the new government on the backs of the masses by means of tariff law!

Chief Justice Marshall used to claim from the supreme bench that the constitution was made for the benefit of "all" and ratified by all the people. Prof. Beard with his facts seems to prove that it was approved by LESS THAN ONE-SIXTH of the adult males of the period, and that it was "put over" by the wealthy classes in a high handed manner; large numbers of its supporters in the state conventions held public securities; that in many instances practices akin to modern bribery were used to whip into line delegates who had been pledged by the people to vote against it. In fact, that there was the hottest kind of a fight between the people and the business interests—and business won!

"The constitution was essentially an economic document

based on the conception that fundamental rights of private property are inferior to government and morally beyond the reach of popular majorities.

"It was not the creature of the whole people," as the jurists have said, but the work of a consolidated group whose interests knew no state boundaries and were truly nation-wide in their scope."

Whoever reads this book will understand, I think, why Wall street reverences the constitution. It was written by men of their own kind and that is why we have had a government of the people, by property and for property ever since!

ese, a product used in making high grade steel, from $2.50 to about $3.50 a ton.

Representative Moore said that the "steel trust" made its own product and that "independents" must import.

"The effect of this increase in rates," said Representative Mann, "is simply to add to the profits of the United States steel corporation and give them increased power in their fight against the independents."

Representative Miller, Minnesota, republican, charged that the provision placing iron ore on the free list was for the benefit of the Pennsylvania railroad, as the owner of the Pennsylvania Steel company, company, which imports Cuban ore.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Judge Burke handed down a decision today refusing the request of John Maynard Harlan that he be appointed "friend of the court" in the grand jury investigation of the $1,000,000 voting machine deal. Harlan's request was fought bitterly by State's Attorney Hoynes.

SALOON DIVORCE BILL DEFEATED

Measure Voted Down in Assembly Today by Vote of 48
to 39

MADISON, Wis., April 30.—The saloon divorce bill, ordered to engrossment in the assembly last week, was killed today when the motion to take the bill from the table was carried and the measure voted down, 48 to 39.

The breweries were called "the biggest monopoly in the world" and "the very root of the social evil in this state," by Assemblyman Manning of Milwaukee, in the debate. The house first adopted Hurlbut's amendment allowing a brewery to hold one license; this vote was 46 to 45. Anderson declared the amendment would not only vitiate the law but would be found unconstitutional. Manning said a divorce law has been adopted in Minnesota, Ohio and other states. "I submit that this bill is not harsh enough. It ought to contain a provision making the attorney general prosecute violations of the act."

He declared the brewers had a great advantage now in the Baker law and that more should not be conferred upon them.

"The saloon keepers are alone in the fight," he said. "They have no paid lobbyists here obstructing navigation in the lobbies of this capital and on the streets of Madison day and night. I am for this bill, gentlemen, not for any interest in the business itself but for my feelings of justice and my conviction that the breweries are gaining an all powerful monopoly in this state."

Assemblyman Hansen bore the burden of the opposition to the bill. The reversal of the vote of last week is a mystery that is causing considerable gossip.

County Highway Commissioner Hintgen Warns
the Automobilists to Take Other Road

Warning to automobilists and others who use the roads between La Crosse and West Salem to use the "Abbatior Road" instead of the "South Salem Road" because of the repair work which is now being done, was issued by County Highway Commissioner John Hintgen today. The north road is in good condition and should be used by travelers who do not wish to be inconvenienced.

There are several crews of men at work on the roads in the different parts of the county, twenty men and sixteen teams altogether. About sixteen miles of new macadam will be laid before next winter and twenty-two bridges will be constructed, besides four miles of extra grading. It is estimated that the total amount of road expenditures in La Crosse county during the year will be about $64,000.

There is one crew of men resurfacing the highway at Fish Creek, in the town of Bangor; one resurfacing the South Salem road at Neumeister's place and one at the William Wolfe place. Grading is being done in Farmington in West Coulee.

BALMER TO DRK FOR MINNEOTA 'U'

Aggie School Principal Appointed Chief (Seventeen Counties) Agricultural Education

Frank E. Balmer, principal of the La Crosse County Agricultural school at Onalaska, was yesterday chosen district supervisor of county agricultural agent service in Minnesota, according to announcement made by the board of university agents yesterday.

Mr. Balmer will have charge of agricultural agents in seventeen counties after his district is organized. His headquarters will be in Morris, Stephenson county, Ill.

The service of which Mr. Balmer is to take charge is organized jointly by the United States government and the University of Minnesota. The agricultural agents in each county take charge of agricultural education in their districts. In Minnesota all of the good sized high schools have agricultural courses as well as the familiar academic study. Mr. Balmer's work will be to oversee the conduct of a number of these courses.

Mr. Balmer took charge of the Onalaska school two years ago, succeeding A. A. Johnson, who resigned to accept another position. Mr. Balmer came here from the principalship of an agricultural school near Winona. His work has been a material factor in the status of the county school. Farmers have been brought into close touch with modern farming methods, by means of farmer's institutes and agricultural contests of all kinds which have planned and conducted to successful results. The school has won rapidly in scope of work attendance since Mr. Balmer took charge.

The identity of his successor has not been decided. Several applicants are after the position, it is said, but no choice has been announced.

Posey of the University of Wisconsin was appointed assistant professor of geology; Grace I. Willis of Milwaukee Downer college, instructor in food and cooking; and Chard Dietrichson, University of Wisconsin, instructor in chemistry.

EXTEND TIME IF BRIDGE IS CLOSED

The Railroad Commission Grants Time for Appeal Provided Rose Street Traffic Is Stopped

HIGBEE TO GO TO MADISON

Writes Commission That City Can Take No Action Until Next Council Meeting

The time for appealing from the state railroad commission's appointment of the expense of building the Rose street viaduct was extended at the city's request today by the commission providing the city orders the suspension of all traffic over the present Rose street bridge until the matter is settled. The extension of time was granted in a letter received by the city attorney today. Attorney J. E. Higbee at once wrote the commission, informing them that the city could not order the suspension of traffic for two weeks or before the next meeting of the common council.

The commission ordered the city and the Milwaukee Railroad company to build a viaduct over the Milwaukee tracks at Rose street last fall but reopened the matter at the city's request that the question of elevated tracks be considered as a substitute for the viaduct. The commission then ruled that it is not advisable to order the railroad company to elevate their tracks. The question then arose whether the order dated from the original order or from the time the ruling on elevated tracks was handed down. The question was raised because the council and mayor were not satisfied with the commission's apportionment of the expense among the city, railroad company and the street car company, and it was decided to appeal from the ruling to the courts. The commission informed the city today that the second ruling would be considered as the order thus allowing the city several weeks in which to appeal.

Attorney Higbee will hold a conference with the members and engineers of the railroad commission sometime this week in Madison.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

AT COONSKIN COVE

By JUNE GAHAN

Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

There were nine families in Coonskin Cove, in the Cumberland mountains, and there were fourteen children of an age to attend school, but there was no school, and neither were the parents teaching the children what little they could. Uncle Peter Saunders voiced the general sentiment toward the cause of education when he said:

"Hain't I seventy years old? Just answer me that."

"Yes, Uncle Peter."

"Hain't I helped make a hundred barrels of moonshine?"

"You have."

"Hain't I killed five barrels?"

"That's the number."

"And when the governor rode through here ten years ago wasn't I the only man he shook hands with?"

"You was."

"And can't I predict when it's going to be a cold winter?"

"You shorly can."

"Yes, I've did all that and a heap more, and yet I never went to skule a day in my life. I can't read nor write nor cipher, but would I be any greater man than I am if I could?"

"Mebbe not."

"Of co'se I wouldn't, I'd simply be a heap meaner. Don't talk to me about skules. We hain't got to have no spelling books around yere to This would be the way of it when coons."

Uncle Peter was the patriarch and the boss of Coonskin Cove. His word was law. His wisdom was not to be disputed. But there came a day when the railroad reached Coonskin Cove and ended his reign. The people went down to Bristol and other towns and saw and realized how the outside world lived, and they came home to say to Uncle Peter:

"We uns have got to have a skule."

"Dog-gone my cats, but what ails you?" he fumed.

"And got to have a skule teacher. They uns down to Nashville have passed a state law about it."

"Law? Law? Do you uns reckon I'm gwine to let any law come foolin' around Coonskin Cove?"

But those who had always obeyed him defied him now. They went ahead and built a log school house and rudely furnished it.

The teacher engaged was a Miss Betty Sloan, one of the towns of the lowlands. She was young and belonged to another world. It was more that she might study the mountain people in their homes than for any other reason that she took the place. She was almost a goddess to them. The only ones that hung back were Uncle Peter and a young man named Tom Hancock.

"I've knowed men who went to skule for years and years," Tom would say, "and yet when they grewed up they couldn't tell a contee from a bar'l of mud. They never trapped a fox or shot a wild cat. Jest went around tellin' how many miles it was to the sun, and which was the highest mountain in the hull world."

Uncle Peter wouldn't go to the school house nor speak to the teacher, but after a week young Hancock walked in and took a seat, as did most of the other adults. He intended to be "agin" the school to the very end, but after three days he found himself undergoing a change of heart. The pupils had clean faces—a thing never seen before.

Tom had never been a-courting. He had heard about people falling in love, but the feeling had never come to him. There was a "gal" up at Bear Point that he had exchanged words and smiles with. Some day he would go up there and say to the father:

"Are you uns a good shot?" would be asked.

"Best at Beaver Cove."

"Good at findin' bee-trees?"

"Found two last fall."

"Ma! Ma! Tilda! Tilda!" the father would call.

"Well, what you hollerin' about?"

"He uns has come for our Tilda. And what does Tilda say?"

Tilda would look off into the laurel thickets and tie her apron in knots and dig her bare toes into the soil.

"Do yo' reckon to consider, Tilda?" Tom would ask.

"Reckon I do."

"Then, ma, bring the broomstick and let 'em jump it," the father would say, and ten minutes later the groom would bear his bride away. This would be the way of it when

WANTS JOB FOR MEN

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Representative Stanley Bowdle today went on record as "agin" the appointment of women to lucrative federal jobs, particularly where the woman in question has a supporting husband. His statement called attention to the appointment by Secretary of the Interior Lane of Mrs. Rogers, as receiver of the land office at Leadville.

"This appointment of a woman, already a supported wife, to an office carrying a salary, which in the hands of a young man would allow him to marry a wife and rear children, is an injury to the integrity of the family on which civilization is based," Bowdle declared.

Blood Poison On The Run

Remarkable Remedy That Drives Every Particle of Poison Completely Out of Your Entire System.

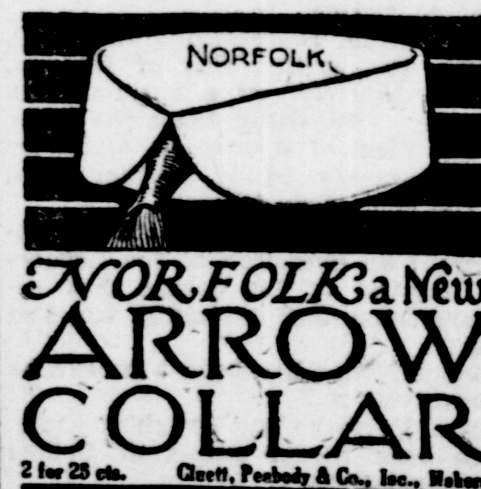

It is simply astonishing the way contagious germs scatter and leave your blood clean and pure.

Poison in the blood used to break out into the most unsightly sores, boils, abscesses and ulcers, but since the introduction of S. S. S. there is no more trouble. And even if it is only a slight attack it would eventually mean loss of hair, loose teeth, sore gums, mucous patches, copper blotches and the most intense degree of agony, if S. S. S. were not used. Of course some cases of Contagious Blood Poison do not exhibit the extreme superficial effect but the trouble is they are apt to do so in just a day. The eyesight fades, the hair falls out, the bones become ulcerated, a thousand and one fierce, unsightly symptoms ensue and then there can be no question as to the nature of the disease. It is very unfortunate that so many sufferers lose all nerve, all self control, and the first thing they do is to throw themselves into the clutches of those who take all their money, fill their veins and arteries with Mercury, Iodine of Potash, Arsenic or other mineral poisons and practically wreck their lives. S. S. S. will give your blood a complete bath, purify it, overcome the danger done by mineral drugs, soothe and strengthen your stomach and in every way restore you completely. Your blood will be rich, red and pure and will stand the most rigid blood test. Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store and begin to cure yourself at once. For a book on Blood Poison or for private advice, write to the Medical Dept., The Swift Specific Co., 146 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. This is one of the greatest private laboratories in the world.

TRY TO MULCT CITY

FORMER OFFICIAL OF CHICAGO
RAILWAY COMPANY SAYS
FOR 35 MILLIONS

CHICAGO, April 30.—Negotiations
in the big deal which contemplated
a merger of all surface and elevated
lines in Chicago and the construction
of subways ultimately to come into
the possession of the city, were at a standstill today, while only officials
discussed the charge that the railway lines had planned to mulct the

city out of $36,000,000 through the merger deal.

In a suit filed against Chicago surface and elevated railway officials
and promoters, J. B. Hogarth, former secretary and auditor of the Chicago
City Railway company, charged that
an attempt was being made to unload
on the city for $100,000,000 elevated
railway properties which cost the
merger promoters only $64,071,062.

The city council took cognizance
of this charge by adopting a resolution ordering negotiations halted
pending an investigation.

Hogarth is suing the companies involved in the elevated merger for
what he claims is his half share in

$5,000,000 in shares of the merged
companies set aside as promotional
fees.

Granted Insurance After Lung Trouble

As many cases of Lung Troubles
start with a cold or a cough, the best advice that can be given is to get rid
of the cold or cough as quickly as possible. Otherwise more serious troubles are likely to follow. If the medicines you are now taking do not bring relief, try Eckman's Alternative,
the remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles, which has stood the test of time. Investigate this case:

237 Dean St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
"Dear Sirs: About a year and a
half ago my health rapidly failed until at the end of six months my weight had fallen to 129 pounds. I was troubled with night sweats, a
severe cough and was very weak.
About this time I consulted a physician, who told me my lungs were affected. Not satisfied, I went to another doctor, who, after examining me, said that I was in the first stages of consumption. At this point I started to take Eckman's Alternative. The night sweats stopped almost immediately, my cough became looser and gradually disappeared. My weight is now 142 pounds and my physician
has pronounced me perfectly sound
—which, together with the fact that I have been accepted by two different
insurance companies for insurance,
makes me sure of my entire recovery by Eckman's Alternative."
(Affidavit) W. E. GEE.
(Above abbreviated; more on request.)

Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be
most efficacious in cases of severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system.
Does not contain narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. For sale by

PLAN A CONCERT AT TREMPPEALEAU

La Crosse High School Musicians and Dramatic Readers to Invade
Neighbor City

A number of young people of the
city mostly from the high school will give a concert at Trempealeau on Friday night of this week for the benefit of the Trempealeau high school. The concert will consist of vocal, piano and violin solos and duets and humorous and dramatic readings. The young people who have made up the concert company
have had much experience in their lines
of work and represent the best talent among the younger people in the city.

Miss Winnifred Forbes and Mr.
Harry Marshall, the vocal soloists,
have sung many times in the city and
were the hit of the high school vaudeville for the last two years with their songs and duets. Miss Forbes
is a soprano with a remarkably sweet
voice and she shows promise of becoming one of the leading singers of
the state. Mr. Marshall is one of the finest tenors in the city with a rich voice of remarkable range and
one that takes wherever he sings.

Mr. Glen Halik hardly needs to be again introduced to the many lovers
of good violin music in the surrounding territory. He has played for nearly every concert of note in the city and is always in demand. Mr.
Halik is a lover of the violin music
which gives him a better understanding and interpretation of his music.

Mr. John Bates is one of the most promising piano players in the state.
His touch and interpretation are
marvelous and combined with selection of music that always delights
his audiences he should become one
of the finest concert players in the west.

Miss Elsie Halik has been much in
the limelight of forensics at the high school and the success she has attained is shown by the fact that she
has won the girls' declamatory contest in the high school for the last
few years and has also represented
the school in two district contests.
Most of Miss Halik's work is with
humorous selections.

Mr. Will Wagner also of the high school, will do the dramatic reading.
He has successfully played heavy
roles in dramas and has always chosen dramatic selections for the high school contests.

On the whole the concert will be one of the best ever given by a similar company in Trempealeau or this part of the state.

Chicago Grain Review CHICAGO, April 30.—An opening break in the wheat market today was followed by a quick rally that sent prices ½c above yesterday's closing. Earlier Liverpool cables gave the market an easy undertone at the start but at 9½c for both months there was heavy buying that forced a quick recovery and advance.

Corn futures showed stubbornness in the face of bearish crop reports and after starting firm, the market advanced under considerable buying orders. The gain during the morning session, ranged from ¼ to ½c for each month.

Oats opened firm with corn and following the rally in the wheat pit and the advance in corn, options rose from ¾ to ½c.

His Patience Exhausted. A yeomanry squad was drilling, and, being out of practice, most of them were suffering from bruises caused by the unsteadiness of one another's movements. "I believe you have cut my head open," shouted a recruit to a nervous comrade, who had given him a serious knock. "Well," said the distracted sergeant-at-charge, "now is a good time to put something in it!"

Never Become Widows. Nepal has the earliest marriages in the world. There every girl is married in infancy. But, then, the bridegroom is not very terrible. She is married with elaborate ceremony to a bel fruit, which is then thrown into some sacred stream. The fate of the fruit being always unknown, every girl is thus spared the disgrace of becoming a widow, while at the same time a second husband is allowed her later on.

CHICAGO TO GET A. A. U. TITLE MEET

CHICAGO, April 30.—Chairman James E. Sullivan of the championship committee of the A. A. U., today wired officials of the big Olympic meet to be staged in Grant park June 28 to July 6, that while no final director had been made he was certain that the national championship events of the A. A. U. will be awarded to Chicago.

Following receipt of Sullivan's telegram, the directors of the Olympic games voted to change the name from the "American Olympic association" to the "International Athletic Championships association."

KILBANE SHADES JOHNNY DUNDEE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 30.—Though Johnny Dundee, little Italian boxer, was credited today with an amazing shiftiness in avoiding sleep producers, fight fans were almost a unit in declaring that Referee Eytan erred when he called last night's twenty round bout between Dundee and Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, a draw. It is probable that the two men will be rematched. The Cleveland was the aggressor all the way and seemed to have the better of it in every round. However, his punches failed to develop the steam claimed for them. Those that looked like knockouts were passed up by the little New Yorker whose clever footwork won him the admiration of the big crowd.

WILL REINSTATE TY COBB TODAY

CHICAGO, April 30.—Ty Cobb's formal application for reinstatement will be acted upon by the national commission in session here today. Before the meeting neither Chairman Garry Herrmann nor either of the league presidents would make a statement, but the reinstatement of Cobb is accepted as a matter of course. The only question is as to the former hold-out's punishment.

The most expensive thing in the world is getting even and it is hardly ever worth the price.

Don't believe all you hear. Lots of defaulting cashiers have never been Sunday school superintendents. Consistency is a jewel, but no girl wears it on her engagement finger.

Watching The Scoreboard

There may be a greater, harder fought pitchers' battle during the season than Rucker and Mathewson put up yesterday, but Matty and Nap will surely have to stage it.

The Giants did not get a hit until the eighth inning, when Murray singled to right. Shafer walked in the first and was the only Giant to reach first base until Murray landed there.

Mathewson was hit safely twice in the first inning and once in the second, but then settled and outlasted Rucker. In the eighth the bases were full against him, but he wiggled out safely.

When the Giant artillery opened in the thirteenth and six runs were driven in the crowd stood up in astonishment. Rucker knew he was through and asked to be taken out.

Though the Cincinnati Reds were parading in their clothes at home it didn't hurt the White Sox. They nosed out the Tigers with Cobb in the lineup. Cobb got one hit in four times up and two putouts.

The Reds can at least say that the White Sox' shoes pinched and the bats didn't fit. The Cubs would get mad at the sight of the Sox uniforms and play anyhow.

GRID SCHEDULE OUT

MADISON, Wis., April 30.—Coach Juneau of the University of Wisconsin today announced the completion of the Badger 1913 football schedule. Following the cancellation of the game with Northwestern October 25, the Michigan Aggies have been taken on for that date and this year's card is complete.

Partisan Forces Drawn Up
Today to Thrash Out
Schedule C of the Tariff

Republicans Fight Hard but
Are Unable to Change
Single Word in
the Bill

Coin Choice Retorts
WASHINGTON, April 30.—
Statements in the house forsook
the monotony of the tariff debate today to coin a few choice
new retorts.
Representative Murdock, the
progressive leader, started it,
dubbing Representative Payne
a "standpatter who is a stand-
still," and Representative
Moore of Pennsylvania, a
"standpatter with a rising infection."
"You're the house leader of
the bumble-bee party," retort-
ed Payne.
Representative Fordney of Michigan, assailed the democrats for "tearing down the tariff walls."
"When God Almighty blew
the breath of life into some
men He must have been bil-
ious," the Michigan man declared.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Partisan divisions of the house were drawn in battle array today for the
first decisive clash over the tariff.
Schedule C, the iron and steel rates,
was the bone of contention. Un-
daunted by futile efforts yesterday
to amend the measure, the republicans today marshalled their forces
for an assault upon the proposed revision downward of duties on steel
manufactures.
Representative A. Mitchell Palmer
of Pennsylvania, democratic caucus
chairman, was the chief lieutenant
today of Majority Leader Underwood
in defense of the steel schedule. He
is credited with having written that
section of the bill.

A few paragraphs of the earthen
ware schedule remained to be disposed of when the house met, but it
was expected that these would be
quickly approved.
The minority faced continued stone
wall opposition of the democrats
against the amendment of the bill.
Of the twenty-four pages so far finished the republicans have failed to
amend a single word. Notwithstanding, they continued their attack of
ridicule and presented a flood of
amendments.

Republican Leader Mann produced
the democratic steel bill of last session in an attempt to show that the
majority, in the present bill, are inconsistent and have abandoned all
previous declarations.
Republican leaders assailed the
proposed increase on ferro-mangan-

SPEND HONEYMOON ON TOMB'S STEPS

"Waiting at the church" was changed to "waiting at the tomb"
for little Mrs. Lewis
Bauman, the bride of Policeman
Bauman, attached to an upper
west side station. All night long
Mrs. Bauman sat on the steps of Grant's tomb of Riverside
Drive, while her husband paced
up and down on his "fixed post"
half a block away.
The Baumans were married at 9 o'clock last night. The policeman took his bride to the station house, expecting his captain to give him a day or two off
for a honeymoon. Instead Captain Gray ordered Bauman to
take his post as usual from mid-
night until 8 o'clock this morning, as he had no man to spare
as a substitute. Mrs. Bauman
decided to go on vigil near her
young husband, so she camped
on the tomb's steps all night.

gineer could be added to the board.
INDICT JOHNSON AGAIN
CHICAGO, April 30.—The seventh
indictment, charging Jack Johnson,
negro pugilist, with violation of the Mann white slave act, was returned
by the federal grand jury today. Mr.
Johnson is charged with transport-
ing Belle Schreiber, a white girl,
from Pittsburgh to Chicago, for im-
moral purposes on one of his exhibition trips. This latest indictment is
said to be based on evidence given by "Yank" Kenny, Johnson's former trainer.

FRENCH SUB PEARY

PARIS, April 30.—Though Rear
Admiral Peary, discoverer of the
north pole, has been in France since Monday the French Geographical society has ignored his presence. It was reported that the sub was administered because he submitted his
polar proofs to the Royal Geographical society of Great Britain and omitted to submit them to the French
organization.

son against the Wells-Fargo, United States, American and Adams Express
companies to compel them to file
statements showing to whom shipments of liquor were made under the
of the legislature, which went into effect today.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Repeal
of the "free tolls" given American
coastwise vessels in using the Panama canal is proposed in a bill introduced in the house today by Representative Britton (Dem., Ill.). He
will also place coastwise vessels under control of the interstate commerce commission.

W. S. P. U. Main Offices in London Captured by
the British Authorities

Suffragettes Unceremoni-
ously Dumped Into the Street and Building
Closed

LONDON, April 30.—Evidently
"fighting fire with fire," Home Secretary McKenna turned "militant"
today and Scotland Yard raided the Women's Social and Political union
headquarters in King's Way, hot bed
of suffragette militancy.

Superintendent Quinn of the Yard,
himself led the spectacular raid, wit-
nessed by thousands, and all books,
documents, and literature of the union
were confiscated. Suffragettes
who objected too strenuously were
promptly arrested and jailed.

Raid Newcastle Quarters
About the same time the suffra-
gettes of Newcastle-on-Tyne discovered that their local women's Social
and Political union headquarters had
been forcibly entered early in the
day and smashed as completely as
though militants had done the job.

Windows, doors and desks were
smashed and typewriters put out of
commission, so that it looked like anti-suffragettes had done the mischief,
but when the women discovered that
their books and papers were missing,
they charged the police with making
the raid.

All of the women were forced from
the London building and warned not
to try to come back. They were told
they would be arrested if they did
so. A cordon of uniformed officers
surrounded the headquarters and
when the detectives had finished
their search, Supt. Quinn locked the
offices and left plain clothes men on
guard within and without.

Strip All Furniture
As soon as the union headquarters
were cleared of the suffragettes the
police began stripping the building
of all its furniture, indicating that
the home office intends permanently
to break up the organization. Arthur Marshall, counsel for Mrs. Emma Line Pankhurst, said that the police
even forbade the men to remove
their personal belongings and were preparing to confiscate everything in
the rooms.

Seven of the suffragettes were arrested and taken to Bow street. They
are: Miss Annie Kenney, chief of
staff to Mrs. Pankhurst and "Gen."
Mrs. Flora Drummond, who already
are under arrest and awaiting trial
for conspiracy and malicious destruction; Miss Kerr, acting secretary of
the union; Miss Lake, business manager of the union's publication; Miss Lennox and Miss Barrett, assistant
editors of the publication and Mrs.
Saunders, financial secretary of the
union.

The raid on the union headquarters was ordered by the home office,
upon evidence gathered by women
detectives of Scotland Yard who
posed as suffragettes and got themselves into the inner circle of the organization. With General Mrs.
Drummond as jury women the suffragettes recently court married
Mrs. Mary Ford, a New York militant for "treason" but apparently
their vigilance was too late, for Mrs.
Ford was not among the sleuths who
betrayed the union secrets.

Armed with right of search warrant, the detectives searched the
headquarters thoroughly, even going
through the hand bags of women
who were not arrested. They seized
a lot of correspondence, including
letters alleged to incriminate many
militants, in matters for which they
can be prosecuted.

Haul Down Flag
The crowning indignity came when
officers hauled down the W. S. P. U.
flag from the standard on top of the
building and confiscated it.

The men from the yard did their
work thoroughly, and the headquarters soon were completely denuded.
It was evident from the way they went at it that Home Secretary Mc-Kenna is determined to stamp out
the Women's Social and Political union.
The secretary has been in consultation with the king recently and
it is rumored that the government
from now on will take the most
drastic action that British laws allow to put down militancy.

A. H. Bodkin, the prosecutor, announced to the court that the government is determined to put down violence on the part of the suffragettes.
He said that any suffragette addressing a public meeting anywhere would
be arrested and jailed, and that the
police would prosecute any person
purchasing militant literature, or subscribing to W. S. P. U. funds.

Suppress Paper
The police seized proof sheets and several galley's of type set up for tomorrow's issue of the Suffragette, the
union's publication. They forbade
the further publication of the news-
paper, and declared that anybody
printing the literature of the union,
as well as purchasing it, and sub-
scribing to suffragette funds, would
be prosecuted.

A ROOSTER'S CROW GETS PARTY PULLED

CHICAGO, April 30.—Seven
neophytes, under process of initiation into the "goats club," an organization of the "goats club," a number of prominent automobile
men, wound up in a police station early today because a roos-
ter, hidden under an automobile
seat, indiscreetly crowed.

A cooking maid was to end
the initiation ceremonies. Neophytes and sure enough "goats"
entered autos and were proceeding slowly by two police-
men conversing, on a corner,
when the rooster crowed.
"Chicken thieves," shouted
the copper, and he led a raid.
All but seven escaped. They
were released on bail.

Sisters of John Peterson in La Crosse Taking First
Steps to Get Him
Released

ALLEGED THAT HE WAS INSANE

Assert He Murdered Bride
in Fit of Insanity to
Which He Was Subject

A movement to obtain the pardon
of John Peterson of Retreat, Wis.,
who is now serving a life sentence
in Waupun for the murder of Mrs.
Ella Yttre, wife of Sever Yttre of Victory, Wis., in La Crosse September 26, 1912, was started in La Crosse yesterday. The attempt to procure a pardon is being made by
two sisters of the slayer who came
here from their home in Seattle,
Wash., for that purpose.

Interview Officials
Miss Peterson, the younger sister,
and the other, a widow, spent the
entire day interviewing county officials
and attorneys attempting to interest
them in their case. They maintain
that although their brother is guilty
of the crime, he was insane when he committed it. They said that they
could prove that he has been insane
at times for several years. After engaging Morris & Hartwell as their
attorneys they left for Retreat, where
they will attempt to obtain corrob-
orative evidence that their brother is
insane. As both Mr. Morris and Mr.
Hartwell are out of town today the
particulars of the case could not be
learned.

Shortly after their arrival in La Crosse yesterday the sisters held
conferences with former Sheriff Chris
Burns and Undersheriff Louis Omer-
berg, who were in office at the time
of Peterson's arrest. They sought
information in regard to Peterson's
actions while in the county jail here.
It is probable that the matter will be taken up with the governor through
the attorneys engaged by the sisters.

History of Murder
John Peterson shot and killed Mrs.
Ella Yttre during fair week last year.
Immediately after he attempted to
end his own life by sending a bullet
through his head. He was taken to
the hospital and after a month of
treatment he recovered. He was arraigned in circuit court on a charge
of murder and pleaded guilty. He
made no defense nor employed an attorney. He admitted that he had
contemplated the crime for some time because the woman had refused to reciprocate his love. He was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge E. C. Higbee and was taken
to Waupun immediately to begin his
atonement. He said he was satisfied
to spend the rest of his life in prison
and expressed deep penitence for his
act.

Victim on Honeymoon
More than usual interest was
aroused in the case because of the
fact that his victim had been married to his rival, Sever Yttre, only
the day before the murder. Mr. and Mrs. Yttre were in La Crosse on their honeymoon attending the Interstate
fair.

Peterson is said to be failing in
health as a result of his confinement
and it is the wish of his sisters to
have him transferred from the pris-
on to an insane asylum or sanitarium. They do not believe he will
live if a pardon is not granted.

BRYAN FAILS TO MODIFY MEASURE

California Solons Unmoved
by His Plea Against
the Alien Land
Law

EVEN DEMOCRATS REJECT ADVICE

Moose, Republicans and Democrats Determined
to Pass the Bill

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 30.—
Practically acknowledging the failure of his efforts to modify the an-tialien land owning bill now pending
in the legislature, Secretary of State
Bryan today is enroute to San Francisco for a brief visit.

That the secretary of state had
been defeated in his effort was evident immediately after last night's
session of the two houses, when
Bryan, in a conversation with a knot
of assemblymen, said: "The president has done his duty as he saw it
and my task is practically ended."

The statement came after a new
bill, drawn by Attorney General
Webb at the request of Governor
Johnson, had been submitted to Bryan and after the legislators had practically declared they would debate
this measure Thursday and pass it.
It reiterates California's right to ex-
clude any aliens and has exactly the
same intent as the former bill, but
is more carefully phrased.

The former bill provides that
"aliens ineligible to citizenship can-
not acquire land," the new bill
merely substitutes the words "aliens
eligible to citizenship can acquire
land." This is nothing but an inverse statement of the same determination.

Final action on the bill was postponed until Thursday, because of Bryan's absence in San Francisco to-
day, but progressive leaders make no
secret of their determination to pass
it.

In this connection it develops that
the democratic members sprung a
sensation on Secretary Bryan at last
night's executive session when they
said flatly that they were just as
determined to exclude Japanese as
republicans were. Assemblyman W.
C. Walla, who is secretary of the
state democratic committee, told Bryan frankly that the "democrats
are unalterably pledged to anti-alien
land owning legislation," and are determined to vote for such a bill,
"even if our votes mean that brown
feet shall trample California's soil
to back up Japan's demands."

Up to Washington
The general feeling here is that
it is now up to Washington.

Secretary Bryan refuses to comment on the new Webb bill and it is
not known whether the national administration will regard it as discriminatory and violative of existing treaties with Japan. The temper of the legislators is such, however, that they will probably pass the measure
anyway.

Secretary Bryan will return here
from San Francisco tomorrow morning and will remain until the alien
situation is settled.

Governor Johnson declares the
conferences with Bryan are over and
that the time has come to pass a law.
He said: "I think the majority of
the legislators feel—I certainly do
myself—that no sufficient reason
has been presented to cause California to recall any completed legislation. It may be safely asserted that American treaty obligations will be scrupulously observed and the Japanese will not be singled out by any
act."

Japan to Wait
WASHINGTON, April 30.—Japan
will make no further diplomatic representations to this government, regarding its attitude in the California
alien land laws, until the bill has been
formally made a statute. This information was given to the United Press today by a Japanese who is in
the best position to know.

Japan's attitude today, as it has
been throughout the negotiations on
the California legislation, is a most
conciliatory one, he said, and at no
time have any diplomatic utterances
been made to the state department,
that might be construed as an "ultimatum." The Japanese government regret the published accounts of the "jingo" meetings that are being held in Japan, and more deeply
regret the recent speech of Representative Sisson of Mississippi on the floor of the house, in which he advocated war, rather than any submission to what he said was Japan's "arrogant claims."

Until he received a detailed report
from Secretary of State Bryan regarding the outcome of his mission
to California, President Wilson will
withhold any statement of the administration's attitude toward the
amended land owning legislation
which is to be passed at Sacramen-
to.

Doubt Over New Law
Opinion is widely divided among
those close to the administration, regarding the success or failure of the Bryan mission. The change in phrasing of the pending bill
which is to be passed so that it de-
fines what classes of aliens may own
and lease land has complicated the general situation. Whether the new

BURY DISCOVERER OF EGG SANDWICH

CHICAGO, April 30.—Faculty members of the University of Chicago and some of the "old
boys" who munched doughnuts
at her little shop thirty years ago were mourners at the funeral of Mary Ann Ingham who
"discovered" the egg sandwich.
Mrs. Ingham came to Chicago
shortly after the big fire. She
sold pies and cookies to students of the old Chicago university and when the name was
changed to the University of Chicago and John Rockefeller's
millions flowed in for new
buildings, "Mary Ann" followed.
The students called the little old
woman "Mother Mary Ann."
"I have never eaten raisin
pies that equal those that Mother
Mary Ann made," said Dean
Linn of the junior college today.

EUROPEAN AFFAIRS ARE MORE CLEAR

Montenegrin Situation Re-
lieved by Austria Back-

ONLY A CLUB FOR THE POWERS

Threat to Invade the Tiny
Kingdom Made to Force
Concerted Ac-
tion

LONDON, April 30.—The Montenegrin situation was believed in diplomatic circles to be somewhat clar-ified today, by Austria-Hungary's announcement that the dual monarchy
would not proceed against King
Nicholas.

When Austria-Hungary yesterday
allowed a semi-official statement to
go forth that she would declare war
against the little kingdom if Soutari
were not evacuated within twenty-four hours after today, it was a diplomatic move to urge the powers to quicker action. Austria-Hungary believed that by threatening action that
might involve other nations, the
powers might be persuaded to take immediate collective steps to coerce
the defiant King Nicholas.

To Force Action
The inflammatory editorials yester-
day in the German and Viennese
newspapers diplomats say were inspired by the two governments to
enforce united action.

Dispatches from Paris, Berlin and Vienna say that the bourses had a
firmer tone than yesterday and that
apparently confidence had been restored. Nevertheless the movement
of Austrian troops toward the frontier continues and thousands of men
are under arms, ready for instant action.

The report that Austria-Hungary
had recalled her minister at Cetinje
apparently was without foundation.

Austrian Diplomat Remains
CETTINJE, April 30.—The Montenegrin foreign office today made a
semi-official statement that the report that Austria-Hungary has withdrawn her minister to Montenegro is premature. It was said that the embassy, Baron Giesel Von Gieslingen is still here.

EXPLAINS STATEMENT

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Attorney General McReynolds threw light
today on his statement in the supreme court a few days ago when he
said that in granting an extension
until January 1 for the completion
of the plan for the dissolution of the Union and Southern Pacific merger,
the litigation might be avoided. When
asked what he meant, he said:
"It will give the Southern Pacific
time to get rid of its Central Pacific
holdings, and thus remove a
real obstacle to carrying out the
court's decree."

FAILS TO DEATH

CHICAGO, April 30.—Workers on
the new Conway building, a sky
scraper being erected in the Loop
district here, were horrified today
when John Wagner, 45, a riveter,
lost his balance and fell from the tenth story. His mangled body
was found on the girders of the fourth floor. During its descent his
body shot through the center of a
group of ironworkers setting a girder
on the eleventh floor.

U. S. CONSTITUTION WAS DRAFTED BY THE BIG INTERESTS

CLEANED UP MILLIONS ON DEAL

Forced Adoption of Document Through Bribery and Kindred Methods

DESIGNED TO AID BIG BUSINESS

Class and Not Mass Were

of Our Liberties"

THEY MADE MILLIONS
The celebrated "fathers" who met in secret conclave at Philadelphia in 1787 and, without authority, framed the constitution of the United States actually represented a powerful group of business men, which by virtue of one clause alone, cleaned up $40,000,000 in profits through its adoption.

The "fathers" were personally and financially interested in the results of their labors. Forty out of the fifty-five members were in on this deal and some made as high as $100,000.

It was "ratified" by less than one-sixth of the adult males and its "adoption" secured by methods which would do credit to a modern political boss!

Though written in severe, historical phrases these are some of the startling declarations of a new book,
"An Economic Interpretation of the Constitution of the United States," by Dr. Charles A. Beard, associate professor of politics in Columbia university, and published today by the Macmillan company.

It is the most remarkable book
ever written about the constitution.
It literally annihilates the old time tradition that the constitution is a sort of sacred chair of liberty and justice written by unselfish patriots
gifted with less than divine wisdom.

This book is not written by a half-informed radical. The author is an eminent authority on American history and politics. He is conservative to a degree, but he has had the courage to reveal facts UNKNOWN OR IGNORED by any other authority to date. Every statement is backed by documentary evidence. The conclusions are as dispassionate as those of a scientist examining paleozoic bones.

The author has spent months
delving in records at the treasury department in Washington which have not seen the light or been examined by a human being since Washington's day, and
"excavated" with a vacuum cleaner.

He has ransacked thousands of old wills, scanned thousands of unpublished manuscripts in the congressional library, unearthed private letters, read hundreds of old newspapers, pamphlets and so on. The results are astounding.

For example, Prof. Beard has made a sort of Bradstreet's report upon the financial interests and standing of each of the 55 members of the constitutional convention.

This shows that in that conclave,
the PUBLIC SECURITY INTERESTS were represented by 40 men who held quantities of soldiers' script and public securities; the MONEY LENDERS
by 24 men engaged in that practice;
the LAND SPECULATORS by 14 men who held vast tracts of western lands; the MERCHANTS AND MAN-UFACTURERS by 11 men directly concerned and the SLAVE HOLD-ERS by 15 men who owned slaves.

Not a single man in the convention represented farmers, the small farmers, the working classes or the propertyless masses.

The actual political opinions of each member, given in a separate chapter, were based directly upon their economic interests and would delight the heart of a present day corporation.

Look After Business
They, Beard seems to show, coined the phrases used by Root, Taft, and Bailey today. To them constitution making and government were strictly business propositions. They took good care of themselves and their class—the

Step into This Car and you will know Real Comfort

Interior of the Cross Country body

THERE is something rare and inviting about the comfort of the Cross Country that once it is experienced you will never quite forget. You enter through wide doors—20½ inches—that open fully, stepping easily from a running board that is clear.

The broad, carpet-covered foot rest in the tonneau is in just the right position for thorough relaxation. You sink down into the deep upholstery and lean back to find the pitch just right for perfect ease. The steady, deliberate action of the springs gives to one that pleasurable sense of modulated motion undisturbed by any jar. The forward seats are just the right height and the steering pillar may be adjusted at any angle to suit the comfort of the operator.

The hands rest comfortably on the steering wheel and the foot accelerator is so conveniently located and shaped that pressure may be applied with any part of the foot, always avoiding a cramped position.

You must experience the feel of the Cross Country wheel. It's a delight. It turns without a single vibrating jar. Your arms don't tire, your legs don't cramp.

To drive this car is exhilarating. Press the button with your foot. With hardly an audible sound the motor starts. A single movement of the lever—you touch the throttle and it's away.

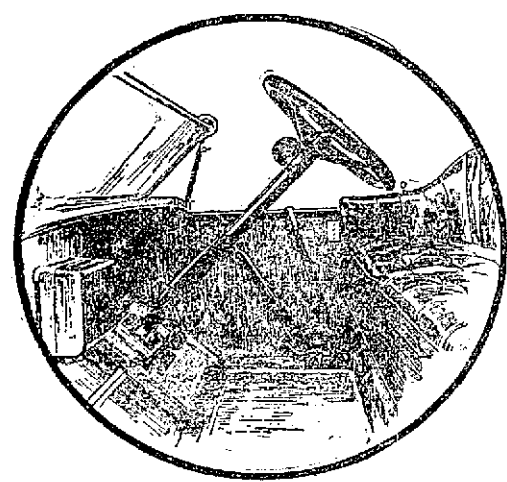

Drive the car for ten minutes and you will grin in spite of yourself through rare delight.

A beautiful four-color reproduction of the Cross Country, from an oil painting by R. Philip Brainard, is ready for mailing. See the Cross Country by all means, at any Jeffery branch or dealer's display room, but send for the picture anyway.

BUSKIN CLUB TO PRESENT A PLAY

Normal Dramatic Society
to Stage "She Stoops to Conquer" Next Week

"She Stoops to Conquer," written by Oliver Goldsmith, is the play which the Buskin club of the normal school will present next week on the normal stage. This is one of the greatest of the eighteenth century comedies and abounds in humor and sparkling wit. The story of the play is in itself an interesting tale. Oliver Goldsmith wrote at a period when the father's word was law and "She Stoops to Conquer" embodies much of the old sentimentalism of the age. In order to obtain the love of a young man, the heroine becomes a bar maid, on account of the man's constantly flirting with that class of femininity.

Under the direction of Prof. D. O. Coats of the English department the Buskin Dramatic club has furnished a creditable cast and the public is urged to support this excellent effort in theatricals in the normal school.

The normal school brass band of thirty pieces will give its second open air concert tomorrow evening at 6:45 o'clock on the normal campus. Under the direction of President Fasset A. Cotton the following program will be rendered:

Joyce's 71st Regiment March.
Overture, "Golden Days," Mackie Beyer.
Largo, G. F. Handel.
Waltz, "Jolly Fellows," Vollstedt.
Jennie Polka Waltz, Beyer.
March, "Battleship North Dakota," Mackie Beyer.

BILL IS MOVE IN FIGHT

MADISON, Wis., April 30.—Another twist was taken in the McGovern-Ekern fight when a bill was introduced by the senate committee on corporations, of which Senator Bossard is chairman, and which provides:

1. The commissioner of insurance shall be chosen by the legislature by joint ballot upon the taking effect of this act, and every six years thereafter. Such commissioner shall hold office for six years and until his successor is appointed and qualified. Any vacancy shall be filled by the legislature for the unexpired term, and during recess of the legislature shall be filled by the governor until the vacancy is filled by the legislature.

2. No person shall be eligible to the office of commissioner of insurance who shall not be known to possess a knowledge of the subject of insurance and skill in matters pertaining thereto, nor who shall have any interest in any insurance company, association or fraternal benefit society, other than as a policyholder or a member of such company, association or society insured therein.

HOLD-UPS LEAVE MAN NEAR DEATH

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 30.—The latest holdup mystery for the police to solve is the possible fatal beating and robbing of a man supposed to be John Wyrenovic, 35 years old, 268 First avenue, whose unconscious body was found at Canal street and Muskego avenue, at midnight on Monday.

A policeman stumbled over Wyrenovic's body as it lay in a puddle in the lot. The injured man's pockets had been turned inside out and everything of value taken.

He was taken to Emergency hospital where it was found that his skull was fractured near the base. A club or iron pipe had been used.

RICH FARMER TAKES TO DRINK

The drink habit grows on one. Very few drinkers realize this in the early years of their drinking. They will all tell you that "they can take a drink or let it alone," but they cannot. One drink creates a desire for another, and so on, when soon the habit is formed, when they must have drink.

This well-to-do farmer said that there was nothing to do but go to Minneapolis and take the Austin cure. He would only be in Minneapolis three days. At the end of the third day he was a new man, entirely free from the curse of drink. He had drunk heavily for ten years, and he had to keep on drinking to keep from becoming nervous and "going all to pieces," as he expressed it. He drank a quart of whiskey during the day and another half pint on going to bed, so he said.

The La Crosse Austin Sanitarium, 905 Main street, gives the same three day Austin treatment as is given at Minneapolis and in other cities.

$3.50 Recipe Free, For Weak Men.

Send Name and Address Today—You Can Have it Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excess, unnatural drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it. This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, rebuilding, STOUT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. J. A. B. Robinson, 4190 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

MADISON, Wis., April 30.—Nearly half the members of the assembly present last night took part in the debate on a bill requiring payment semi-monthly, or oftener, of wages to employees, and it finally was ordered engrossed by a vote of 55 to 30. The controversy settled on an amendment by Axel Johnson proposing to exempt employers of four persons or less. This referred to farmers, and the city members protested against what they called class legislation. Despite the many objections made to the amendment, it was adopted by the large vote of 71 to 16.

The bill was then ordered engrossed by a voice vote.

The assembly split on a bill providing for one day's rest in seven. An amendment by Assemblyman Hansen exempting operators of railroad trains was adopted after a hard fight, by a vote of 46 to 40.

By a close vote Senator Scott's bill creating the "Wisconsin state board of accountancy" for the examination and licensing of public accountants was ordered to third reading by the assembly.

Passage was voted for the bills prescribing strict regulation of the sale of cocaine, and they now go to the governor. Assemblyman Hawin's bill imposing upon the state industrial commission the duty of enforcing the laws on excise, sale of cigarettes, etc., was killed.

Final passage was voted for the following bills among others:

Conway—Providing for the naming of an attorney for the nearest of kin in settling estates.

Monk—Providing for a local and state conference of health officers.

Committee on education and public welfare (senate)—Empowering cities to employ obstetrical and visiting nurses.

Senate committee on corporations—Bringing district electrical telegraph and telephone corporations under the public utility law. (Refers to the A. D. T. company).

Daddy's Bedtime Story — Edna Wanted To Sell Her Baby Sister.

Edna Didn't Like the Baby.

DADDY smiled as he sat down to tell Jack and Evelyn their bedtime story.

"And what do you think they have got at Edna's house?" he began. "Another dog," ventured Jack, who knew of Edna's love of dogs.

"A new doll for Edna," guessed Evelyn.

"No," and daddy shook his head; "a little new sister; that's what Edna's got."

"One morning when awakened she heard the baby crying, and she said: 'What's that?' When her auntie, who was staying with them, came in to help her dress she told Edna about the new sister."

"After while, if you are very good, I will show you the sister," said auntie.

"After breakfast Edna put on her little coat and hat and went out into the yard to play with Fozzie, her dog."

"She had seen the little red faced mite which auntie said was her new sister. Edna didn't think much of the baby."

"She ain't no good of a sister," the little girl told her dog. "Don't want her in this house. She can't play with me."

"Edna wanted a little sister who could run about and play. She was not pleased when auntie told her it would be some time before little sister would be able to do that."

"Suddenly Edna had an idea. In the next house lived two maiden ladies of whom she was very fond. The house where they lived stood away back from the street among tall trees, and in summer there were flowers and fruit in the garden. It was a nice house in other ways. The maiden ladies had a canary bird, a friendly cat, a dog and a bowl of goldfish, but no little girl. They seemed fond of little girls too."

"Edna often pined them because they had no little girls to live with them and when she got cross with the folks at home would threaten to go and live with these neighbors."

"Very softly she stole out of the gate and trotted to the neighbors' gate. She pushed it open and went in. One of the nice maiden ladies was sitting in her dining room."

"Oh," exclaimed Edna; "won't you come down to my house and get a little girl for me? It's my little new sister, but she can't play, and I don't want her."

"The maiden lady laughed and said, 'But suppose you run home and ask your mother whether I may have baby sister.'"

"Edna hadn't thought of that, but she trotted home to ask. Of course you know what happened. Edna was scolded, and the maiden ladies won't get baby sister."

WASHINGTON INVESTED BY ANOTHER COXEY ARMY

What is the attraction in public office that causes thousands of able bodied men in this country to make a wild onslaught on Washington whenever a new administration takes the reins of government. President Wilson, by declining to see jobhunt-ers, has conserved his own time and energy for larger affairs, but he also, has doubled the troubles of his cabinet. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, besieged by the hungry throng, has been forced to leave his office by stealth and take refuge in a small hotel.

The fact that we have such a Coxey's army of place-seekers is small compliment to the nation at large.
Public office that is filled by appointment lacks the security which is the attractive feature of the places under the classified civil service. The salaries paid are not large. The work,
however, in some cases is easy.

Is an "easy" job the accepted ideal? It would be discreditable to the great body of self-supporting, independent Americans if this were true. But it isn't. Most live men like positions that call for initiative, daring, original thought, that have the stimulus of difficulty, of obstacles to be overcome, of knotty problems to be met.

The truth is that there are no worth while jobs, in or out of the government service, that are really easy. Uncle Sam, because he is not so careful about the details of his work as he should be, has numerous places where petty men can drone away their lives doing petty work,
but when it comes to the big tasks
he is as strict as the average employer.

It would be well if the office-seekers understand once and for all that the only way to a fat salary is by being able to do the work better than the other fellow can do it. Not only that, but he must be able to do it more decisively, more quickly and more easily, so that his energy is not frustrated away in the minor details.
If a man has these qualifications,

however, the chances are that he sticks to private business and is not bothering government officials.

THOUGHTS UPON OPENING OF A NEW BANKING HOME

As we saw the impressive opening of the new home of the State Bank of La Crosse Monday, we were impressed by something more beautiful than the exquisite furniture and attractive interior, than the clean, smiling officials and employees, the congratulating visitors and the glorious flowers. Back of this we saw a great, world-dominating principle.
We saw that this institution stood for all the blessings that flow from wholesome wealth well applied. It seemed to us that there was an imaginary stairway leading into the bank,
and beginning at the bottom the steps in this stairway were named Honesty, Thrift, Competence, Independence, Success, Education, Enlightenment, Charity, Christianity.

"Save and teach all you are interested in to save; thus pave the way
for moral and material success."

Thus spoke Thomas Jefferson, and Thomas knew, for Thomas saved, and none doubts that Thomas Jefferson was "a material success." Just how the little savings mean much was sensed by Disraeli when he said:

"The great secret of success in life
is to be ready when our opportunity comes."

That is it—just having the nest
egg of capital when the investment of your lifetime presents itself, when the golden chance arrives. And in the case of most men in this democratic age it is the little accumulations squeezed out between modest earnings and the high cost of living that furnish the start. They bring more than the bright prospect of your big chance, they bring independence and security. Benjamin Franklin is one of the philosophers who understood that, for Franklin said:

"Save a little of thy income and thy hide-bound pocket will soon begin to thrive and thou wilt never cry
again with an empty stomach, neither will creditors insult thee, nor wilt thou oppress, nor hunger bite, nor wilt thou be nakedness freeze thee. The whole hemisphere will shine brighter, and pleasure spring up in every corner of thy heart."

Samuel Smiles says that "thrift began with civilization." . . . long before money was made." and Wayland evidently believes that thrift is better than daring enterprise, for he observes:

"Wealth is not always acquired,
as many suppose, by fortunate speculations and splendid enterprises, but by the daily practice of industry and frugality and economy. He who relies upon these means will rarely be found destitute, and he who relies upon any other will generally be bankrupt."

This is the practical side of economy, but we do not value it in the mere sense of having—just having.
Money is but an instrument of better things than money-getting. Rightly employed it means more than enjoyment. For instance it means travel, and travel is enjoyable, but travel is valuable for more than the pleasure in it—travel means cultivation. Money means education; it means right opportunities for the children and better men and women in the future;
it means better brains capable of better lives and better-appreciated and better-lived religion. Money is the key to the full, wholesome life. But beware! The key will unlock another door—the door of the down-grade valley of self and death. We must employ honest money to unlock the right door.

La Crosse is known as a "banking center," and it does indeed enjoy fine facilities for a city of its class. It has five banks, ranging from those of modest capital to big and powerful institutions. They are in the hands of wise and manly men, a coterie of whom to be proud. They appeal to us daily by their example,
by the suggestion their own success
affords that saving means success.
Some of us, at forty, realize that had we used them more as depositors we should have less use for them as borrowers. If this paper could instill into the up-coming generation in La Crosse the vital wisdom of thrift it would feel that the years of labor its upbuilding has involved had been amply compensated.

Eggs are only three cents a dozen in China. Any egg dealer in the United States would tell us the eggs were either poor quality or weren't from sanitary hens.

Abdul Hamid, ex-sultan of Turkey, says civilization is all wrong. It all depends on the point of view. Civilization thinks that Abdul Hamid is all wrong.

The Wellesly girls who say they will not marry men who earn less than $5,000 a year will never have come wives of foreign noblemen anyhow.

Did you ever notice the expression
on a man's face when a homely woman sits down beside him in a street car?

Quips and Cranks
and Wanton Wiles

No Authority

A gentleman was sorely out of patience by some blunder of his new groom.
"Look here," he cried in his an-
ger. "I won't have things done in this way! Do you think I'm a fool?"
"Sure, sorr," said the groom, "O!
can't say, sorr, O! only came here yesterday."—Tilt-Bits.

At Least, the Yokes
"When visiting a certain town in Massachusetts," says a Bostonian,
"I was told of an extraordinary incident wherein the main figure, an economical housewife, exhibited, under trying circumstances, a trait so characteristic of New England women."

"It seems that an elderly lady of the place had by mistake taken a quantity of poison—mercurial poison,
the antidote for which, as everybody knows, comprises the whites of eggs."

"When this antidote was being administered, the order for which the unfortunate lady had overheard, she managed to murmur, although almost unconscious:

"Mary! Mary! Save the yokes for the pudding!"—Harper's Magazine.

A Task Ahead
"Mamma, what would you do if that big vase in the parlor should be broken?" said Tommy.

"I should thrash whoever did it,"
said Mrs. Banks, gazing severely at her little son.

"Well, then, you'd better begin to get up your muscle," said Tommy, gleefully, "cos father's broken it."

He Was Truthful

A lawyer had a horse that always balked when he attempted to cross
a certain bridge leading out of the village. No amount of whipping or urging would induce him to cross it,
so he advertised him for sale. "I be sold for no other reason than that the owner would like to leave town."
—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Agile Locomotives

"What are the passengers looking out of the window for?" asked a nervous lady passenger on the train
as the conductor came through.

"We ran over a cat, madam," said
the conductor.

"Was the cat on the track?" she next asked.

"Oh, no, ma'am," assured the conductor. "The locomotive chased her up the alley."—What to Eat.

Solicitors

The door bell rang, and the mother, who was not dressed, sent her little girl to entertain the visitor in the interim—or parlor. It was a lady book agent. The little girl sought to engage her in conversation.

"How is your boy?" she asked.

"Why," replied the lady, "I haven't any little boy."

"No little boy? Well—how is your little girl?"

"But I have no little girl, either."

"Well," persisted the child, nonplussed, "what are yours?"—Everybody's Magazine.

The Working Man's Friend
In Time of Sickness

I am a blacksmith by trade and would like to say a word to all who have to work hard and suffer with their kidneys. I suffered for about ten years and was treated by a Waynesboro, Va., doctor. He said that I had Bright's disease and that he had done all he could for me. I read about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and as I could hardly do a day's work, was willing to try anything that would do me any good. After taking Swamp-Root a few days I felt so much better that I continued until I felt that I was cured and I was altogether a new man. That was eight years ago and if I ever feel the least pain about my kidneys I just take a few doses of Swamp-Root and in a few days I am all right. I feel today that I am a well man and would say to all who suffer with their kidneys, take Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, for it has done more for me than all
the doctors, and saved doctors' bills.

I can further say that about two years ago my son was sick in bed and was taking medicine from doctors and got worse all the time. I went in the night and got a fifty-cent bottle of Swamp-Root and told him to lay aside all the doctors' medicines and take Swamp-Root. He took six bottles and I am glad to say that he is well today and has not had any trouble with his kidneys since. It was Swamp-Root that cured him. My son now thinks that there is no medicine that a doctor can give that can compare with Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

Very truly yours,

G. W. HARDING,

IN The WORLD
OF WOMEN

The sixteenth annual congress of the Woman's Whist League will be held in Detroit, April 28th to May 1st. Mrs. Charles F. Bielmann of Detroit, is president; Miss M. H. Campbell, New York, and Mrs. Walter H.
Barnay of Providence, R. I., vice presidents; Mrs. Charles L. Taylor, Pittsburgh, recording secretary, and Mrs. George H. Reed, Jersey City, treasurer.

The lower house of the California legislature has passed a bill which has for its object the enfranchise-ment of women who have been deprived of citizenship by reason of having married aliens. These women found the passage of the suffrage
bill still left them without a vote because, under the present law, the wife takes the citizenship of her alien husband and is disfranchised
even though native born.

Sir John Lubbock, Born April Thirteenth, 1834.

I, Corinthians 11, 14.

"Doth not even nature itself teach you."

Sir John Lubbock was among that company of men who have been at the same time men of business, politics and science. He was distinguished in them all. He knew how to get much out of life and as he said, "The world would be both better and brighter if we would dwell on the duty of happiness as well as on the happiness of duty."

YEARS FOR SON

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 30.
A dying mother's yearning for a long lost son has caused a renewal of the search for Albert Dusseau of Toledo, O.

The following letter was received by the Milwaukee police Tuesday afternoon:

"May God be good and help you find Albert for us. Mother is slowly dying. Her pitiful calling and crying for her first born is becoming almost unbearable. Her confidence in the return of my brother is still unbroken. 'He will come back to his old mother,' she keeps saying. We understand that he is somewhere in Wisconsin."

"CHARLES J. DUSSEAU."

Albert Dusseau is said to have left home two years ago.

Manufacturers' association is today
mailing out invitations to manufacturers and producers all over the country, calling them to a national tariff conference to be held in Washington, D. C., May 8. The object of the conference decided upon last night is to frame an amendment to the pending tariff measure giving the president authority to remove articles from the free list.

$10,000 FIRE LOSS

MILWAUKEE, April 29.—Ten thousand dollars was the estimated damage done by fire that broke out early today in the plant of the Universal Machinery company here.

Gratitude

Not long ago, in a western market
town, I chanced to observe an Irishman with a live turkey under his arm. The turkey was squawking and gobbling in a distressed way, a racket to which the Irishman did not at first pay any particular notice. Finally, however, the disturbance got on the Celt's nerves. Giving the bird a poke in the side, he exclaimed:

"Be quiet, you! What's the matter wid ye anyhow. Why should ye want to walk whin I'm willing to carry ye?"—Harper's Magazine.

The Just and
The Unjust

"I would deny you nothing," said
her father fervently.

"Dismiss the carriage, and we will walk to the station; there is time?"

"Yes."

For a little while they walked on in silence, the girl's hands
clapped about her father's arm.

"I can not understand it yet!"
said Elizabeth at length, speaking in a fearful whisper. "It is incredible. Oh, can't you save him—
can't you?"

The general did not trust himself to answer her.

"We have failed. Do you think it would have been different if Judge Belknap had not been called away?"

General Herbert shook his head.

"And now we must go back to him? We were to have telegraphed him; we won't now will we?"

"My poor, poor Elizabeth!" cried
the general brokenly.

"How shall I ever tell him."

"I will go alone," said the general.

"No, no—I must see him! You are sure we have time to catch our train—if we should miss it—" and the thought gave her a sudden feverish energy.

"You need not hurry," her father
assured her.

"But look at your watch!" she entreated.

"We have half an hour," he said.

"You can think of nothing more to do?" she asked, after another brief silence.

"Nothing, dear."

Little was said until they boarded
the train, but in the drawing-room of the Pullman which her father had been able to secure, Elizabeth's restraint forsook her, and she abandoned herself to despair. Her father silently took his place at her side. Oppressed and preoccupied, he was struggling with the problem of the future. The morrow with its hideous tragedy seemed both the end and the beginning. One thing was clear to him, they must go away from Idle Hour where North had been so much a part of Elizabeth's life.

Nothing had been added to this decision when at length the train pulled into Mount Hope.

"We are home, dear," he said
gently.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR.

The Last Long Day.

A long day, the last of many long days he told himself, was ended,
and John North stood by his window. Below in the yard into which he was looking, but within the black shadow cast by the jail, was the gallows. Though indistinguishable in the darkness, its shape was seared on his brain, for he had lived in close fellowship with all it emphasized. It was his gallows, it had grown to completion under his very eyes that it might destroy him in the last hour.

There had been for him a terrible fascination in the gaunt thing that gave out the odor of new wood; a thing men had made with their own hands; a clumsy device to inflict a brutal death; a left-over from harbarism which denied every claim of civilization and Christianity! Now, as the moon crept up from behind
the distant hills, the black shadows retreated, and as he watched, timber by timber the gallows stood forth distinct in the soft clear light.
In a few hours, unless the government interfered, he would pass through the door directly below his window. He pictured the group of grave-faced nervous officials, he saw himself bound and blindfolded
and helpless in their midst.

His fingers closed convulsively
about the iron bars that guarded
his window, but the feeling of horror that suddenly seized him was remote from self-pity. He was thinking of Elizabeth. What unspeakable wretchedness he had brought into her life, and he was still to hequeath her this squalid brutal death! It was the crowning shame and misery to the long months of doubt and fearful suspense.

Up from the earth came the scent of living, growing things. The leaves of the great maples in the court-house grounds rustled in the spring breeze, there was the soft,
incessant hum of insect life, and over all the white wonderful moonlight. But he had no part in this universal renewal—he was to die
his purposeless unheroic death in the morning. For himself he could almost believe he no longer cared;
he had fully accepted the idea. He had even taken his farewell of the few in Mount Hope who had held steadfast in their friendship, and there only remained for him to die,
decently, to meet the inevitable
with whatever courage there was in his soul.

He heard Brockett's familiar
step and suddenly, intent and listening, he faced the door; but the deputy came slowly down the corridor and as he entered the cell,
paused and shook his head.

"No word yet, John," he said regretfully.

"Is the train in?" asked North.

"Yes, Conklin went down to meet it. He's just back; I guess they'll come on the ten-thirty."

North again turned listlessly toward the window.

"I wouldn't own myself beat yet,
John," said the deputy.

"I've gone down at every crisis;
I didn't think the grand jury would indict me, I didn't think I would be convicted at the trial!" He made a weary gesture. "What right have I
to think they will be able to influ-

RUNAWAY BOYS ARE FOUND BY POLICEMAN

Two boys who gave their names as Fred Banos, 13, and Francis McDonald, 14, both from Minneapolis, were found wandering around the Burlington railroad yards late last night, by Patrolman Frank Groeschner.

What attracted the policeman to the boys, was that they were well dressed, but wore down cast faces. When questioned they said that they had left Minneapolis a few days ago, with the intention of traveling to Chicago via the "side door pullman route" as they had little money. Between them they had $11.

There were taken to central police station, and will be held under their parents can be communicated with. They evidently have come from good homes.

SWITCHMAN CAUGHT BETWEEN TWO CARS

Edward Giroux Badly Hurt When Pinched by Draw Bar; Hip Is Crushed

Edward Giroux, a switchman in the north side yards of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, is lying in the St. Francis hospital in a serious condition from an accident which occurred to him at 3:15 this morning, while coupling two coaches of a passenger train together.

When passenger train No. 101 arrived at the north side station this morning, a stub was made up to carry passengers to the south side. A coach had been switched from the passenger and Giroux stepped in to couple it to the end of the train, and as the two coaches came together, he was unexpectedly caught by a draw bar, having his hip crushed. Part of the bone was fractured, and the flesh was badly torn.

Upon hearing his cry, George Smith, foreman of the switch crew ran to his aid. Giroux was taken to the south side on the stub. Dr. F. Suiter was then called, and he was taken to the St. Francis hospital.

Reports from the hospital state that Giroux is in a very serious condition, but the exact extent of his injuries have not been determined.

LADIES' AID ENTERTAINED

Mrs. L. Holm, 1613 Berlin street and Mrs. P. Granum, 1524 Prospect street, entertained the Ladies' Aid society of the Norwegian Lutheran church in the church parlors this afternoon.

Live Longer Nowadays.

Life insurance folk say, says the New York Telegraph, that the expectation of life nowadays is well above seventy, and that persons nowadays are supposed to live at least until they are eighty, and if they reach that age should last until they are ninety, and so on, and about five out of every two hundred persons should walk the earth for a century.

Age.

It takes the fairest of the young, and touches each of them with change and loss. The skin, once so soft that even the lover was half fearful in touching it, stiffens its texture, and the transparent veil, through which soft lights and tender colors played, hides impregnably those hoverings and vanishings of mood. The undulations of the cheek drop with care. All the graceful perfection is reduced.—Collier's Weekly.

Your Friends.

Treat your friends for what you know them to be. Regard no surfaces. Consider not what they did, but what they intended.—Thoreau.

CAUGHT ENTERING STORE AT NIGHT

Patrolman Groeschner Captures Man Crawling Over Transom at Knutson's Grocery

HAD GUNNY SACK IN HIS COAT

Says He Was Looking for Something to Eat when Questioned by the Police

Upon investigation of a dark shadowy form, that he saw climbing over the transom of Knutson's Grocery store, on Kane and Gillette streets, this morning at 4:15, Patrolman Frank Groeschner discovered a man, with one leg inside the transom and the other outside. He evidently intended to rob the store. At Central station this morning the man gave his name as George Van Courtland, of 905 Nicolette avenue, Minneapolis.

Groeschner, who was walking his beat across the street approached the man with a drawn revolver, and a flash light, commanding him to come down to the sidewalk. He obeyed without the patrolman having to use any forcible means. Upon searching the man his coat was found to contain a gunny sack.

Van Courtland was taken to No. 4 police station and later taken to central station, where he is being held. The police are looking up the man's record in Minneapolis. He had no money when found. He said he was looking for something to eat when questioned by the police.

ALABAMA SUFFERS MILITANT ATTACK

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 30.—Suffragettes early today tore up the courts of the Billesby Tennis club and destroyed all the grass surrounding them with acid. "Votes for Women" was scrawled across the courts in white lime.

DYNAMITE KILLS TWO

LYONS, Ia., April 30.—An investigation is in progress today to determine how a stick of dynamite got into a bag of old rags at the paper mill of the Ford Manufacturing company here last night and exploded when it was being handled by workmen causing the death of two and injury of four.

Making Extra Trouble.

A traveler in a southern state reached a town one night where the only hotel had a single bathroom. Feeling tired and dusty after his trip the traveler summoned the porter and: "led him to make ready the bath. 'Laws, massa,' exclaimed the negro, 'you gentlemen gimme lots of wuk. Here it is only Thurs'day and wanting a bath. Can't you wait until Sat'day, like the other white folks?'"

The Awakening.

"You're looking mighty sour; what's the matter? Honeymoon over?" "I guess so." "How'd that happen?" "Oh, we were drifting along down life's enchanted stream, like the poet tells about, and just as I was thinking I should like to drift on and on with her forever, she up and told me that she had got to have some money.—Houston Post.

American View.

"So you don't approve of those London suffragettes?" "I don't know much about them," replied Miss Cayenne; "but I can't help feeling that a woman who can't subdue a few men without the use of dynamite is something of a failure."—Washington Star.

Open the Door, Anyway.

"Many a time when a man thinks opportunity is knocking at his door, it is only the cat, wanting to get in." But he makes a big mistake if, on account of this suspicion, he does not open it.

Mrs. Mary Winthrop Turner and "Beautiful Doll"

Explaining the Explanation.

The chemico-physical explanation of the universe goes but a little way. These are the tools of the creative process, but they are not that process, nor its prime cause. Start the flame of life going, and the rest may be explained in terms of chemistry; start the human body developing, and physiological processes explain its growth; but why it becomes a man and not a monkey—what explains that?—John Burroughs, in the Atlantic.

New Thought Rare.

A new thought is a very rare thing,
and it would be a magnificent creature to catch. The only things I can think of that one would really call
"new thoughts" would be certain cele-

of a really original argument used in an old controversy.—G. K. Chesterton.

There is not a human throbb in their deliberations. Hamilton argued that one great advantage of encouraging manufacturing would be to better utilize the labor of "women, girls and children of a TENDER AGE."

The people, as "father" Gerry put it, was a "great beast," to be "restrained." They feared democracy, and for good reasons.

For example, they provided for the payment in full of the state and national debts, although the face value of the paper represented millions more than had ever been paid for it.

Then as soon as Washington was elected and Hamilton's "funding" scheme was established, forty of the men who drew that provision turned up at the United States treasury with quantities of soldiers' scrip and public securities which were promptly exchanged by Hamilton for government bonds. This scrip and paper had been bought by the fathers and their friends—the bankers and speculators—from the needy soldiers and holders at five, ten and twenty cents on the dollar. Some of them had actually been "ripped off," Beard declared, from the interior of the secret convention as to what would be done—and they bought right and left. The whole transaction netted a profit of at least $40,000,000 and was, the author laconically remarks, "the first really great achievement of nascent capitalism in the United States." Forty millions then would relatively equal two thousand millions now!

Rich Would Not Pay
The continental congress could not pay the soldiers and the national debt because taxes were then levied direct, in proportion to each man's wealth, and the rich refused to pay! That is the big secret why the old government failed.

The new government succeeded because the fathers abolished direct taxes, hated by the rich, and threw the burden of the support of the new government on the backs of the masses by means of tariff law!

Chief Justice Marshall used to declaim from the supreme bench that the constitution was made for the benefit of "all" and ratified by all the people. Prof. Beard with his facts seems to prove that it was approved by LESS THAN ONE-SIXTH of the adult males of the period, and that it was "put over" by the wealthy classes in a high handed manner; large numbers of its supporters in the state conventions held public securities; that in many instances practices akin to modern bribery were used to whip into line delegates who had been pledged by the people to vote against it. In fact, that there was the hottest kind of a fight between the people and the business interests—and business won!

based on the conception that fundamental rights of private property are inferior to government and morally beyond the reach of popular majorities.

"It was not the creature of 'the whole people,' as the jurists have said, but the work of a consolidated group whose interests knew no state boundaries and were truly nation-wide in their scope."

Whoever reads this book will understand, I think, why Wall street reverences the constitution. It was written by men of their own kind and that is why we have had a government of the people, by property and for property ever since!

Representative Moore said that the "steel trust" made its own product and that "independents" must import.

"The effect of this increase in rates," said Representative Mann, "is simply to add to the profits of the United States steel corporation and give them increased power in their fight against the independents."

Representative Miller, Minnesota, republican, charged that the provision placing iron ore on the free list was for the benefit of the Pennsylvania railroad, as the owner of the Pennsylvania Steel company company, which imports Cuban ore.

Measure Voted Down in Assembly Today by
to 39

MADISON, Wis., April 30.—The saloon divorce bill, ordered to engrossment in the assembly last week, was killed today when the motion to take the bill from the table was carried and the measure voted down, 48 to 39.

The breweries were called "the biggest monopoly in the world" and "the very root of the social evil in this state," by Assemblyman Manning of Milwaukee, in the debate. The house first adopted Hurlbut's amendment allowing a brewery to hold one license; this vote was 46 to 45. Anderson declared the amendment would not only violate the law but would be found unconstitutional.

Manning said a divorce law has been adopted in Minnesota. Ohio and other states. "I submit that this bill is not harsh enough. It ought to contain a provision making the attorney general prosecute violations of the act."

He declared the brewers had a great advantage now in the Baker law and that more should not be conferred upon them.

"The saloon keepers are alone in the fight," he said. "They have no paid lobbyists here obstructing navigation in the lobbies of this capitol and on the streets of Madison day and night. I am for this bill, gentlemen, not for any interest in the business itself but for my feelings of justice and my conviction that the breweries are gaining an all powerful monopoly in this state."

Assemblyman Hansen bore the burden of the opposition to the bill. The reversal of the vote of last week is a mystery that is causing considerable gossip.

BALMER TO DRK FOR MINNEOTA 'U'

Aggie School Principal Appointed Chief Seventeen Counties Agricultural Education

Frank E. Balmer, Principal of the La Crosse County Agricultural school at Onalaska, was yesterday chosen district supervisor of the county agricultural agent service Minnesota, according to announcement made by the board of university agents yesterday.

Mr. Balmer will have charge of agricultural agents in seventeen counties after his district is organized. His headquarters will be in Morris, Stephenson county, Minn.

The service of which Mr. Balmer is to take charge is created jointly by the United States government and the University of Minnesota. The agricultural agents in each county take charge of agricultural education in their districts. In Minnesota all of the good sized high schools have agricultural courses as well as the familiar academic study. Mr. Balmer's work will be to oversee the conduct of a number of these courses.

Mr. Balmer took charge of the Onalaska school two years ago, succeeding A. A. Johnson, who resigned to accept another position. Mr. Balmer came here from the principalship of an agricultural school near Winona. His work has been a material factor in the success of the county school. Farmers have been brought into close touch with modern farming methods, by means of farmer's institutes and agricultural contests of all kinds which has planned and conducted to successful outcomes. The school has won rapidly in scope of work attendance since Mr. Balmer took charge.

The identity of his successor has not been decided. Several applicants are after the position, it said, but no choice has been announced.

In addition to the appointment of Mr. Balmer nineteen instructors were added to the faculty of a University of Minnesota at the meeting of the board of regents on Tuesday. C. J. Posey of the University of Wisconsin was appointed assistant professor of geology; Grace I. Willis of Milwaukee Downer college, instructor in food and cookery; and Gard Dieblichson, University of Wisconsin, instructor in chemistry.

AT COONSKIN COVE

Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

There were nine families in Coonskin Cove, in the Cumberland mountains, and there were fourteen children of an age to attend school, but there was no school, and neither were the parents teaching the children what little they could. Uncle Peter Saunders voiced the general sentiment toward the cause of education when he said:

"Hain't I seventy years old? Just answer me that."
"Yes, Uncle Peter."
"Hain't I helped make a hundred barrels o' moonshine?"
"You have."
"Hain't I killed five bars?"
"That's the number."
"And when the governor rode through here ten years ago wasn't I the only man he shook hands with?"

"You was."
"And can't I predict when it's going to be a cold winter?"
"You shurely can."

"Yes, I've did all that and a heap more, and yet I never went to skule a day in my life. I can't read nor write nor cipher, but would I be any greater man than I am if I could?"

Uncle Peter was the patriarch and the boss of Coonskin Cove. His word was law. His wisdom was not to be disputed. But there came a day when the railroad reached Coonskin Cove and ended his reign. The people went down to Bristol and other towns and saw and realized how the outside world lived, and they came home to say to Uncle Peter:

"We uns have got to have a skule."
"Dog-gone my cats, but what alls you?" he fumed.

"And got to have a skule teacher. They uns down to Nashville have passed a state law about it."

"Law? Law? Do you uns reckon I'm gwine to let any law come foolin' around Coonskin Cove?"

But those who had always obeyed him defied him now. They went ahead and built a log school house and rudely furnished it.

The teacher engaged was a Miss Betty Sloan, of one of the lowlands of the lowlands. She was young and belonged to another world. It was more that she might study the mountain people in their homes than for any other reason that she took the place. She was almost a goddess to them. The only ones that hung back were Uncle Peter and a young man named Tom Hannock.

"I've knowed men who went to skule for years and years," Tom would say, "and yet when they grewed up they couldn't tell a con-tree from a bar'l of mud. They never trapped a fox or shot a wild cat. Jest went around tellin' how many miles it was to the sun, and which was the highest mountain in the hully world."

Uncle Peter wouldn't go to the school house nor speak to the teacher, but after a week young Hannock walked in and took a seat, as did most of the other adults. He intended to be "akin" to the school, the very end, but after three days he found himself undergoing a change of heart. The pupils had clean faces—a thing never seen before.

Tom had never been a-courting. He had heard about people falling in love, but the feeling had never come to him. There was a "gal" up at Bear Point that he had exchanged words and smiles with. Some day he would go up there and say to the father:

"I want Tilda."
"Are you uns a good shot?" would be asked.

"Best at Beaver Cove."
"Good at findin' bee-trees?"
"Pound to woe last fall."

"Ma! Ma! Tilda! Tilda!" the father would call.

"Well, what you hollerin' about?"
"He uns has come for our Tilda."
"And what does Tilda say?"
"Tilda would look off into the laurel thickets and tie her apron in knots and dig her bare toes into the soil."

"Do yo' reckon to consider, Tilda?" Tom would ask.

"Reckon I do."
"Then, ma, bring the broomstick and let 'em jump it," the father would say, and ten minutes later the groom would bear his bride away.

This would be the way of it when

Tom got ready, but he wasn't hurrying things. In fact, things soon happened to drive Tilda out of his mind. The schoolma'am's lover came up to see her. Tom witnessed the meeting between them, and almost in a moment a strange feeling swept over him. It was a feeling he had never had before.

"This yere feelin' can't come from moonshine whisky, and I don't believe I'm in for chills. Mighty queer—mighty queer."

Tom puzzled for ten minutes before he jumped to his feet and slapped his leg and shouted:

"Darn my hide, it's that I'm in love with that skule teacher; and I'll plum shoot the head off'n that young feller from Bristol."

There is no feeling that renders a mountaineer more desperate than that of jealousy. Tom Hannock planned to kill his rival that night, but the young man had taken the train back. For two days after no one saw Tom Hannock. Miss Sloan was the first one to catch sight of him. She was out gathering mountain blossoms after supper.

"You are goin' with me, and if you holler it will be the wuss for you!"

"Where do you want me to go with you?" she asked.

"I've got a cave back yere."

"A cave? Oh, I never saw one. Tomorrow after school will you take us all there? Sit down, Tom, I want to talk with you a bit. Do you think well of the school?"

"I'm thinkin' of you!"

"And what are you thinkin'?"

"I'm thinkin' we uns are goin' to line up together."

"Get married, you mean?"

"If you don't promise me I'll—I'll—"

"You'll do something desperate. Tom, they all call you a sensible fellow. Look at things as they are. You have no education. You haven't the manners of the men in other villages. You chew tobacco and swear and drink whisky, and if we were married I'd have to ask you to sit out in the woodshed when any one called."

"Hain't you heapin' it on?" he asked.

"You have got to realize things as they are. You and Uncle Peter are wrong about education—very wrong. Could the governor of the state be a governor unless he was educated? Could your judges be judges and your lawyers lawyers? Your sheriffs must at least be able to read and write."

"Then I'm no better than a varmint, eh?"

"Oh, yes, you are. If you can get away from this and go to school in a city and mingle with people you can be thrice the man you are. If you can't get away—if you are satisfied to stay here—then get married and set up a home."

"But dog-gone it, don't I want to marry you?"

"Tom, is the world round or flat?" smilingly replied the girl.

"Dunno!"

"There isn't a schoolboy six years old in the land but what can tell, and yet you think you'd be the right sort of husband for me!"

"Mebbe I wouldn't!" he said.

Tom bothered the teacher no more. In fact he left Coonskin Cove for work elsewhere, but on the last day of school, when Miss Sloan's lover came up to take her home, the mountaineer put his head into the door and beckoned her out.

"What is it?" she asked after shaking hands with him.

"You are goin' to be married?"

"Yes."

"That's Tilda over thar on the log."

"And who's Tilda?"

"Gal I jumped the broomstick with yesterday. And, say, while I don't know how many big oceans there is in the world, she don't know how many duckpots they be in Tennessee, and you kin bet it's bound to be a happy linin' up!"

ASKS VICE PROBE FOR BADGER STATE

MADISON, Wis., April 30.—Investigation of the white slave traffic similar to that now being conducted in Illinois is provided for in a bill introduced in the senate late Tuesday by State Senator Linley. The Associated Charities of Wisconsin are backing the measure. In presenting his bill, Linley asked for an investigation of conditions surrounding working girls, especially those compelled to work nights, and asserted that that the social evil had gained a stronger foothold in the smaller towns of the state than in the larger cities.

WANTS JOB FOR MEN

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Representative Stanley Bawdle today went on record as "agin" the appointment of women to lucrative federal jobs, particularly where the woman in question has a supporting husband. His statement called attention to the appointment by Secretary of the Interior Lane of Mrs. Rogers, as receiver of the land office at Leadville.

"This appointment of a woman, already a supported wife, to an office carrying a salary, which in the hands of a young man would allow him to marry a wife and rear children, is an injury to the integrity of the family on which civilization is based," Bawdle declared.

Blood Poison On The Run

Remarkable Remedy That Drives Every Particle of Poison Completely Out of Your Entire System.

It is simply astonishing the way contagious germs scatter and leave your blood clean and pure.

Poison in the blood used to break out into the most unsightly sores, boils, abscesses and ulcers, but since the introduction of S. S. S. there is no more trouble. And even if it is only a slight attack it would eventually mean loss of hair, loose teeth, sore gums, mucous patches, copper spots and the most intense degree of agony. If S. S. S. were not used. Of course some cases of Contagious Blood Poison do not exhibit the extreme superficial effect but the trouble is they are apt to do so in just a day. The eyesight fades, the hair falls out, the bones become ulcerated, a thousand and one fierce, unsightly symptoms ensue and then there can be no question as to the nature of the disease. It is very unfortunate that so many sufferers lose all nerve, all self control, and the first thing they do is to throw themselves into the clutches of those who take all their money, fill their veins and arteries with Mercury, Iodine, Potash, Arsenic or other mineral poisons and practically wreck their lives. S. S. S. will give your blood a complete bath, purify it, overcome the danger done by mineral drugs, soothe and strengthen your stomach and in every way restore you completely. Your blood will be rich, red and pure and will stand the most rigid blood test. Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store and begin to cure yourself at once. TRY TO MULCT CITY

FOR 35 MILLIONS

CHICAGO, April 30.—Negotiations
in the big deal which contemplated
a merger of all surface and elevated
lines in Chicago and the construction
of subways ultimately to come into
the possession of the city, were at a standstill today, while only officials
discussed the charge that the railway lines had planned to mulct the

city out of $26,000,000 through the
merger deal.

In a suit filed against Chicago surface and elevated railway officials
and promoters, J. B. Hogarth, former
secretary and auditor of the Chicago
City Railway company, charged that
an attempt was being made to unload
on the city for $100,000,000 elevated
railway properties which cost the
merger promoters only $64,071,062.

The city council took cognizance
of this charge by adopting a resolution ordering negotiations halted
pending an investigation.

Hogarth is suing the companies involved in the elevated merger for
what he claims is his half share in

$5,000,000 in shares of the merged
companies set aside as promotional
fees.

Granted Insurance After Lung Trouble

"As many cases of Lung Troubles
start with a cold or a cough, the best
advice that can be given is to get rid
of the cold or cough as quickly as possible. Otherwise more serious
troubles are likely to follow. If the
medicines you are now taking do not
bring relief, try Eckman's Alternative,
the remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles, which has stood the test of
time. Investigate this case:

237 Dean St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
"Dear Sirs: About a year and a
half ago my health rapidly failed until at the end of six months my
weight had fallen to 129 pounds. I
was troubled with night sweats, a
severe cough and was very weak.
About this time I consulted a physician, who told me my lungs were affected. Not satisfied, I went to another doctor, who, after examining me,
said that I was in the first stages of consumption. At this point I started to take Eckman's Alternative. The night sweats stopped almost immediately, my cough became looser and
gradually disappeared. My weight is
now 142 pounds and my physician
has pronounced me perfectly sound
—which, together with the fact that I have been accepted by two different
insurance companies for insurance,
makes me sure of my entire recovery
by Eckman's Alternative."

quest.)

Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be
most efficacious in cases of severe
Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchi-

PLAN A CONCERT AT TREMPPEALEAU

La Crosse High School Musicians and Dramatic
Readers to Invade
Neighbor City

A number of young people of the
city mostly from the high school will
give a concert at Trempealeau on Friday night of this week for the
benefit of the Trempealeau high
school. The concert will consist of
vocal, piano and violin solos and
duets and humorous and dramatic
readings. The young people who make up the concert company have had much experience in their lines
of work and represent the best talent among the younger people in the
city.

Miss Winnifred Forbes and Mr.
Harry Marshall, the vocal soloists,
have sung many times in the city and
were the hit of the high school vaudeville for the last two years with
their songs and duets. Miss Forbes
is a soprano with a remarkably sweet
voice and she shows promise of becoming one of the leading singers of
the state. Mr. Marshall is one of the finest tenors in the city with a
rich voice of remarkable range and
one that takes wherever he sings.

Mr. Glen Halik hardly needs to be
again introduced to the many lovers
of good violin music in the surrounding territory. He has played for nearly every concert of note in the
city and is always in demand. Mr.
Halik is a lover of the violin music
which gives him a better understanding and interpretation of his music.

Mr. John Bates is one of the most promising piano players in the state.
His touch and interpretation are
marvelous and combined with selection of music that always delights
his audiences he should become one
of the finest concert players in the
west.

Miss Elsie Halik has been much in
the limelight of forensics at the high school and the success she has attained is shown by the fact that she
has won the girls' declamatory contest in the high school for the last
few years and has also represented
the school in two district contests.
Most of Miss Halik's work is with
humorous selections.

Mr. Will Wagner also of the high school will do the dramatic readings.
He has successfully played heavy
roles in dramas and has always chosen dramatic selections for the high school contests.

On the whole the concert will be one of the best ever given by a similar company in Trempealeau or this
part of the state.

CHICAGO TO GET A. A. U. TITLE MEET

CHICAGO, April 30.—Chairman James E. Sullivan of the championship committee of the A. A. U. today wired officials of the big Olympic meet to be staged in Grant park June 28 to July 6, that while no final director had been made he was certain that the national championship events of the A. A. U. will be awarded to Chicago.

Following receipt of Sullivan's telegram, the directors of the Olympic games voted to change the name from the "American Olympic association" to the "International Athletic Championships association."

After fortune has smiled on a man he can afford to laugh and grow fat. Women are difficult to understand because they never try to make themselves plain.

KILBANE SHADES JOHNNY DUNDEE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 30.—Though Johnny Dundee, little Italian boxer, was credited today with an amazing shiftiness in avoiding sleep producers, fight fans were almost a unit in declaring that Referee Pyton erred when he called last night's twenty round bout between Dundee and Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, a draw. It is probable that the two men will be rematched. The Cleveland was the aggressor all the way and seemed to have the better of it in every round. However, his punches failed to develop the steam claimed for them. Those that looked like knockouts were passed up by the little New Yorker whose clever footwork won him the admiration of the big crowd.

WILL REINSTATE TY COBB TODAY

CHICAGO, April 30.—Ty Cobb's formal application for reinstatement will be acted upon by the national commission in session here today. Before the meeting neither Chairman Garry Herrmann nor either of the league presidents would make a statement, but the reinstatement of Cobb is accepted as a matter of course. The only question is as to the former hold-out's punishment.

The most expensive thing in the world is getting even and it is hardly ever worth the price.

Don't believe all you hear. Lots of defaulting cashiers have never been Sunday school superintendents. Consistency is a jewel, but no girl wears it on her engagement finger.

Watching The Scoreboard

There may be a greater, harder fought pitchers' battle during the season than Rucker and Mathewson put up yesterday, but Matty and Nap will surely have to stage it.

The Giants did not get a hit until the eighth inning, when Murray singled to right. Shafer walked in the first and was the only Giant to reach first base until Murray landed there.

Mathewson was hit safely twice in the first inning and once in the second, but then settled and outlasted Rucker. In the eighth the bases were full against him, but he wiggled out safely.

When the Giant artillery opened in the thirteenth and six runs were driven in the crowd stood up in astonishment. Rucker knew he was through and asked to be taken out.

Though the Cincinnati Reds were parading in their clothes at home it didn't hurt the White Sox. They needed out the Tigers with Cobb in the lineup. Cobb got one hit in four times up and two putouts.

The Reds can at least say that the White Sox' shoes pinched and the bats didn't fit. The Cubs would get mad at the sight of the Sox uniforms and play anyhow.

GRID SCHEDULE OUT

MADISON, Wis., April 30.—Coach Juneau of the University of Wisconsin today announced the completion of the Badger 1913 football schedule. Following the cancellation of the game with Northwestern October 25, the Michigan Aggies have been taken on for that date and this year's card is complete.
